The Local Team Defeats Baird High chool Team by a Score of 8 to 5.

In a game replete with errors of omission and commission and devoid of class, the locals defeated Baird High School, of Charlotte, yesterday afternoon, 8 to 5 before a good sized erowd at the graded school ground. "Coot" Montgomery did the O'Day set and the two teams lined up thusly:

Concord-Patterson, F., 1st; Bar rier, 2nd; Morris, e; Sappenfield, 3rd; Cook ss.; Wood, If; Wadsworth, ef; Bell, rf; Patterson, p. Baird-Tanner, 2nd; Warlick, ss.;

"The Shadow of the Cross." That unusual and puzzling picture, 'The Shadow of the Cross," which is now on exhibition in this city for a limited stay, has faseinated and confounded its miliions of visitors. The picture is indeed more than a curiosity. Shown in the light it appears to be a partly finished, life size figure of the Christ, with a blue background and a somewhat mottled surface. In the darkness the figure stands out with marked distinction, and there also appears behind it, apparently bearing down on the shoulders of the figure, the black outlines of a cross. The lecturer explains the manner in which this phenomenon was discovered and tells of the places the picture has been
