

ACT OF A DEAD KING
 Jumped from Sick bed to Sick Life for Others.

An act of heroism, which was considered worthy of record, occurred September 25, 1904, with Charles Arms in the role of hero. The accident which resulted in his display of bravery occurred on the Louisville & Nashville railroad at a bridge spanning the Cumberland river at Clarksville. The draw was open to permit the passage of a steamboat, but the engineer of a passenger train failed to stop his train, and the locomotive and two cars plunged through the open draw into the river, which was flood high, with a swift current, and full of floating drift. The engineer was killed. Two mail clerks, J. G. Martin and Thomas A. Frazer, and the baggage man, Robert L. Morris, were in the cars which went over. Although they were badly injured they managed to climb out of the cars and to obtain places of temporary safety on the roofs. It was night, and dark. The cars floated down stream with the current.

Arms, who lived on the banks of the river a short distance below, was ill in his bed with malarial fever. He heard the noise of the accident, and his little daughter came running to him with the news of it. He immediately arose, and without taking time to clothe himself, ran out and jumped into a skiff. He appealed to some of the bystanders to go with him to the assistance of the persons on the drifting cars, but nobody would accompany him on the dangerous mission. They told him it was madness for him to go out alone, that if the current did not swamp him persons leaping from the cars into his frail boat would. But in spite of his ill condition Arms went out, and alone. He passed the baggage car, with Morris on top. But as the mail car was drifting further down stream toward a dangerous eddy, he put out after that one first, finally came up with it and took off Martin and Frazer. Returning he picked up Morris also and landed all three safely on shore. The president shortly afterward had the honor of sending Arms, although he was not a railroad man, one of these hero medals which are the red badges of courage in the whole railroad world in America.

TIME IS NEEDFUL.
 He that lacks time to mourn lacks time to mend.
 Eternity mourns that. 'Tis an ill cure
 For life's worst ills to have no time to feel them.
 Where sorrow's held intrustive and turned out,
 There wisdom will not enter nor true power
 Nor ought that dignifies humanity.
 —Sir Henry Taylor.

The rejection by the Democratic caucus of the Bryan doctrine of free wool and the adoption of the Underwood policy of a reduction in wool duties to a revenue basis was a scathing rebuke to Mr. Bryan, who had thrown himself into the fight with all his force and used every effort, as he has always done heretofore, to bend the party to his will. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says the result is taken in Washington as "marking the real end of Bryan's influence as a dominant factor in Democratic politics and as meaning that he will be powerless to dictate the next national convention either as to its candidates or its platform." Every one of the hundred and odd Democrats who attended recognized that this was Bryan's fight and that it was Bryan who had stirred up the discord, characterizing the men who differed with him as Democratic Aldriches and endeavoring to read them out of the party. Yet no speaker except Ollie James referred to him either directly or indirectly. Chairman Underwood in the course of a two hours' speech, able and convincing, completely ignored Mr. Bryan and the part in the contest taken by him. He confined himself wholly to an explanation of the bill as submitted by the committee and emphatically denied that free wool is a Democratic principle.

Senator Simmons was asked yesterday by a Washington correspondent in regard to the report current in the State that an agreement had been reached between him and one of the other candidates for the senatorship by which one of them was to retire and not finish the race. So far as he is concerned, he asserts, he has no such understanding and will remain in the race until the last ballot is counted. Any one who knows Senator Simmons knew before his utterance that the report was untrue.

The mass meeting to consider the establishment of a hospital in Concord will be held in the court house next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The several fraternal orders of this have appointed Hospital Committees to represent them in this meeting. Every citizen of the city should be present at this most important meeting to give his aid and advice for the furtherance of this movement.

PARAGRAPHS.
 Col. George Marcellus Bailey, the beautiful primrose of the Houston post's garden of genius, has been sending a large bunch of gardenias to Supreme Deacon Hemphill of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, which the latter says he enjoys very much. Cooked 'em, no doubt, for turnip greens in a gallon of pot likker.

Ruins of a town said to be at least 10,000 years old have been found in Arizona. It takes Arizona a mighty long time to get Statehood.

If Charleston's claim that it was the site of the Garden of Eden is true, it is a matter of congratulation that paradise was lost.

In addition to having served in squadron A, Mr. Stinson, the new Secretary of war saw some service on the staff of Col. Roosevelt in the battle of Saratoga last fall.

Only Come Out Even After All.
 When Mark Smith was in Congress, from Arizona, he was missing from his usual haunts during a holiday period, and a friend meeting him on his return, asked:
 "Where were you during the holiday, Mark?"
 "Down in Alabama with Henry Clayton taking a hunt," he replied.
 "And, say, a queer thing happened. Think I 'New Henry's State is going 'dry' and he may forget the whiskey. So to make sure I sent on two cases of Old Jordan. It happened, too, that my cousin, coming from Kentucky with the dogs, sent two cases. To cap all, Henry—who never forgets a thing of real importance like that—had already laid in two cases. There we were with six times as much whiskey as you'd naturally think we'd need, and at that we only came out even."

Cows That Never Drink.
 Wide World Magazine.
 The "wild cow" of Arabia, in reality an antelope, the Beatrix oryx, is said never to drink, which is probably correct, for unless these animals can descend the wells they can find no drinking water for ten months in the year. There is no surface water, and rain falls but precariously during the winter. Only once during my journey did I find a pool of rainwater, caught in a hollow rock, and even this I should have passed by, without knowing of its existence, had not my camels sniffed it from a distance and obstinately refused to be turned from going in that direction. These antelope, however, are provided by Nature with a curious food supply, especially designed as a thirst-quencher. This is a parasite which grows on the roots of the desert bushes and forms a long spadix full of water and juice. The antelope dig deep holes in the sand in order to get at these.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
 by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by the use of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

Sagacity.
 One would have it that a collie is the most sagacious of dogs, while the other stood up for the setter.
 "I once owned a setter," declared the latter, "which was very intelligent. I had him on the street one day, and he acted so queerly about a certain man we met that I asked the man his name, and—"
 "Oh, that's an old story!" the collie's advocate broke in sneeringly.
 "The man's name was Partridge, of course, and because of that the dog came to a set. Ho, ho! Come again!"
 "You're mistaken," rejoined the other suavely. "The dog didn't come quite to a set, though almost. As a matter of fact, the man's name was Quayle, and the dog hesitated on account of the spelling!"

 These are gala days for lice. Fight them strong and hard.
 Kerosene will do deadly work. Pour it in every crack and crevice. Don't spare it.
 Watch the grit box. The hens are doing so. Don't let them catch you napping and the box empty.
 Allow the cool air to enter the houses at night by taking out the windows, but do not forget to have inch-mesh wire netting fastened to the opening to keep out the enemies.
 Watch the condition of the young chickens. If they are moping, look for lice, especially the large gray louse found on the head of the chick. A drop of sweet-oil will soon end his career.

HER WEIGHT INCREASED FROM 100 TO 140 POUNDS.
Wonderful Praise Accorded Peruna the Household Remedy
 Mrs. Maria Goertz, Orienta, Oklahoma, writes:
 "My husband, children and myself have used your medicine, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my household work alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of earache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140."
 "I have regained my health again, and I cannot thank you enough for your advice. May God give you a long life and bless your work."

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION.
 To All to Whom These Presents May Come—Greeting:
 Whereas, It appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Hanover Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated in the city of Concord, county of Cabarrus, State of North Carolina (L. W. Brander being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served) has complied with the requirements of Chapter 21, Revisal of 1905, entitled "Corporations," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution:
 Now, Therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 28th day of February, 1911, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.
 In Testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Raleigh, this 28 day of February, A. D., 1911.

What is a Bath?
 London Chronicle.
 What is a bath? The question most arises now that bathing is to become compulsory. Is it the simple bath of hot or cold water and soap? Or the Turkish bath of hot air or the Russian one of steam? Or the mud bath of Saint-Amand-les-Eaux, or the compressed-air bath of Beichenhall, or the bath of wine favored by famous beauties, or the sun bath of modern hygienists, or the Laplander's plunge into the hot bladder of a just-killed whale, or the bath of asses' milk, to provide which for his consort an Earl of Portman bought cheap the Portman estate north of Oxford street as a farm to keep a herd of asses? Now which bath?

Shoes at Cost Plus 5 Per Cent.
 Not Only a Low Profit Over Cost, But a Low Profit Over a Low Cost.

Have You Ever Wondered Why Most Good Shoes Come From Massachusetts?

A traveller in Switzerland saw a child of twelve doing a wonderful piece of embroidery and marvelled at the proficiency of such youthful fingers. "It isn't surprising," said his guide. "That girl's parents, grandparents and great grandparents, back as far as she can reckon, were all lace or embroidery makers. They do nothing else in this valley. The best of the world's best needlework comes from here."

The Regal Shoe Company Has Long Been the Leader

In that section of Massachusetts where Regal Shoes are made, shoe-making has been the principal industry for more than two hundred years. The best shoes made in the world come from this section, and it has been the Regal policy from its beginning to make Regal Shoes lead all the rest in quality-for-price.

To lead in both quality and low price is harder than to lead in either alone. It is easy to get quality—if you don't care what it costs—but to give that quality at a low price means the highest degree of science in manufacturing in large volume, and straight-line, economical, direct, selling methods.

To begin with, the Regal factory equipment is perfect. The Regal manufacturing system is a marvel of economy. The Regal cost-accounting, for example, shows the cost of over two hundred operations and more than one hundred parts on every shoe turned out, down to a hundredth of a cent.

Why Regal Manufacturing and Selling Costs are Low.

But most perfect of all is the Regal, direct-line selling system—the Regal's own, although copied to some extent by other manufacturers. Regal Shoes go direct from the factories to you by the straightest, most economical route, cutting out jobbers, middlemen and large retailing profits. There is no lost motion, no lost time, no "overstocks," no unnecessary expense, anywhere.

And Regal Shoes are now sold at cost of manufacture, plus five per cent. commission, and this low cost of selling.

Regal Shoes are the only shoes priced in this way. It is the only scientific, economical, "square deal" way of selling shoes. You gain not only by the low margin of manufacturing profit but by the fact that this low margin is reckoned on a low cost.

Buying shoes as you buy other necessities of life

When you buy sugar, flour, eggs, beef, lumber—or any one of a dozen necessities, you pay a price reckoned on the wholesale market cost. If the wholesale or manufacturing cost goes down, the retail price goes down. If it goes up, the retail price goes up in proportion. When the retailer's profits are fair, this is fair to you. But this is not the way that shoes have been sold. Shoes have always sold at fixed, "even money", prices—always multiples of the half dollar.

But Regal Shoes hereafter will be sold in the scientific, economical way—with the profits kept low and the manufacturing cost as the basis.

The price of every Regal Shoe is now reckoned at 5 per cent. over actual cost, plus the cost of getting the shoe from the factories to you. This price is CERTIFIED BY PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS AND STAMPED ON THE SHOE AT THE FACTORY. It is stamped just as it figures out—in "odd" prices or in "even" prices—and the old-fashioned arbitrary custom is done away with.

This Stamp is your guarantee of the lowest possible price

The stamp is your guarantee that the price is THE LOWEST FOR WHICH A SHOE OF THAT CHARACTER CAN BE BOUGHT, that nothing has been added to conform to shoe-trade custom, that MORE of the price goes into quality and LESS for profit and expense than in any other make you can buy.

Regal Prices Are Now $3.35 to $5.85
