A BLESSED SECRET. It is a blessed secret, this of living by the day. Any one can carry his burden, however heavy, until nightfall. Any one can do his work, however hard, for one day.

A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun protests against the exhibition of improper motion picture shows in that city. This writer says:

Recently there have been exhibited pictures that are unfit to be shown before children and young people, not to mention those of older years—pictures unfit from the standpoint of their suggestiveness and indecency. One showed an attempted assault by a Russian landowner on a peasant's wife; another French ballet scene of a most pronounced type; another a knock-about performer addressing to his furthest limits yet remaining clad; another a trysting scene between a so-called lover and two sweethearts, and yet another, a most suggestive and indecent one, where an employe is represented as slyly exhibiting to his employer's wife in his own private office a piece of nude statuary of a most vulgar character—all before the eyes of tender children and growing youths.

The Sun in an editorial elicited by the above letter says:

A perusal of the list given will probably cause surprise to many parents who, while not attending the shows themselves, have allowed their children to go without first informing themselves as to what they were to see. It also emphasizes the fact that there should be a rigid censorship established over these concerns. The exhibition of improper pictures, with their immoral suggestions and unwholesome lessons, appealing to the impressionable minds of the young and untutored who form the larger portion of the patrons of these shows, should not be allowed to go on without restraint.

After a bitter session Tuesday night at the meeting of the Charlotte graded school board, Prof. Alexander Graham was elected for the twenty-fourth time as superintendent of the schools by a vote of 9 to 8. There was extreme opposition to Mr. Graham. The opposition to Prof. Graham voted for Prof. J. A. Matheson, of the State Normal College. One of the members of the board jumped to his feet when the vote was announced and declared that nine members had pledged themselves to vote for Prof. Matheson.

A more or less interesting announcement is the one made yesterday that ex-President Roosevelt will give his unqualified endorsement to President Taft for re-nomination as President in 1912. Mr. Roosevelt, it is stated, will under no circumstances allow his own name to be presented to the Republican national convention. No doubt this is the best political news Mr. Taft has heard in a long time.

The consensus of the opinions of Maryland politicians is that the fight over the Democratic nomination for Governor will be between Arthur P. Gorman, Jr., and Blair Lee. The former is a son of the late Senator Arthur P. Gorman, for many years one of the most conspicuous figures in public life.

Red Haired Dealing Gingerly With Auburn Haired Women. By THURDE RAYLE BRUCE.

IN DEALING with the red-headed type of woman I must walk gingerly. In regard to her I should like to make free with a little known but exquisite French proverb. Skipping that, however, I will say the red-headed type carries the danger signal. Like the ubiquitous and expensive red taxicab, she is not infrequently—and I feel that that is putting it well—of a queeny disposition. Mostly she has green eyes, of a contradictory, cold nature. She does this red hair of hers in an aureole. There is about her an aroma of the old, glad, mad days of the portullia and battlemented wall, if I may say so without appearing personal. She carries herself for the most part—you will notice that I am bein' very erect, very Pompadorily.

Good red hair and great green eyes are worth making a fuss about. If the red-headed type, who generally has long, but unnoticeable eyelashes, is clever enough to put a slight line of artistic black beneath them, you may as well consider yourself to be the usual number of skittles, for down you will go.

Now, let us come nearer to the red-headed type. Let us approach her and analyze. Let us be chemists and forget we are men. The red-headed type is not very general. She forms the exception to the rule. Her average is about one per cent. She may be found, however, at dances, where she invariably is clothed in art tints. She has a penchant for liberty, and she makes a corner in aloofness. She is, if I may say so, like a forty-candle power electric type under a thick green shade.

Warily, warily, my friend, for the red-headed type has a red-hot temper. Should her dignity be upset by the fraction of an inch she will say those things which are better left unsaid. She does not quietly take umbrage: she gets into the very dickens of a temper. But I must say that she doesn't do this often.

She is mostly a queen. She moves, or rather glides, in her small circle, throwing favors to a kneeling crowd of worshippers, bearded and scraped. She takes all that she can get, and gives nothing. She is one unbroken round of good taste, if you follow me.

She talks in periods about Love, always with a big L, mind you, she is not insincere. At, no. She hasn't got it in her to be insincere. She hasn't sufficient depth for that great gift. She is just a silly, red-headed, green-eyed, queeny, handsome thing on whom you can spend a patrimony and receive no change.

Every man she meets comes, according to her, under her sway, within her aura, if I may say so without knowing what it means. She is, as you will see, if you are not hopelessly gone, if you are not befuddled out of common sense, a laughter-making darling. But of all the types extant she is the one to whom you can really make love.

You can say anything you like, anything you've read, anything that seems in the cold light of day utterly ridiculous, and yet you cannot be foolish. You can, and must, hurl at her head—from your kneeling position—headlines, quotations, but you cannot do more than kiss the Hem of Her robe. To her a kiss is a Sacred Thing, only to be received and given when she has Found Love.

And when she has found it, what then? Why, she leaves her pose behind her in the ancestral halls, and immediately develops into a good wife and a sound mother.

Uses for More Daylight Hours. By WALTER B. LEUTZ. What will people do with two more daylight hours of leisure? asks a writer. Well, it would enable them to visit bathing beaches, for which they clamor, oftener than once a week in daylight; to enjoy a cool evening's ride by daylight to some of the outlying parks or suburbs on one of the various street-car lines.

It would also be possible to secure and cultivate a small garden, where they could devote more daylight to growing and enjoying better and cheaper fruits and vegetables.

Also it would enable them to save about two-thirds of the present expense of artificial light, as well as the resultant strain on the eyes caused by excessive use of such light.

They could enjoy any number of outdoor amusements and sports daily, instead of on Saturday half holidays and Sundays, as at present. All of this would work for better health and would reduce doctors' and druggists' bills.

Would eight or ten hours' work under "more daylight" conditions be so much more exhausting than under present conditions? It would leave 14 to 16 hours of rest, as now.

Probably on further consideration he would place the soft pedal on his "no" and join the ranks of the enthusiasts, regardless of whether we are copying our English cousins, who, no doubt, get more health and pleasure out of life than the vast majority of us more up-to-date Americans.

Cowboy Talks of Western Girls. By WILLIAM RECHTINWALD. It has been asserted that in the west the cowboys are looked upon as common workmen and that the western girls do not notice them. That's what they say when they are in the big cities, but if the people could see them among the cowboys they could see for themselves whether the western girls regard them as common workmen.

I was a cowboy for 12 years and have had experience in the western states and I also have been with the 101 ranch as one of the expert bucking horse riders and I know the western girls from A to Z. The western girls have to work just as hard as the cowboys. They do not have it as easy as the eastern girls. And as to an American girl marrying an Indian, I think she is sensible. I would rather see her marry him than to see her marry a duke or lord with a title. There are a lot of girls who spend their vacation in the west and on their return to the cities they respect a cowboy as a gentleman and that gets the western girl jealous, because the cowboys pay more attention to them.

A Narrow Escape. "I must have a wrap this morning," said a slender young lawyer whom you wouldn't suspect of being being smart. "Who with?" we asked with no regard for grammar. "Dime-store Squires. I guess I spoke hastily to him. Anyhow, he got the idea that I wanted to lick him. 'Well, what did he do?' 'He took it on the run. Honest, he did three blocks in about twelve seconds before I could say a word.' 'That's going some for a big man like Squire.' 'Ain't it? And it didn't do him a bit of good. I was a half block ahead of him every step of the way.'—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Wrote For Money. A father remonstrated with his son, an Oxford undergraduate, for wasting his time in writing for local papers and cited Dr. Johnson as saying that a man who wrote except for money was a fool.

The son wrote back immediately: "I shall follow Dr. Johnson's advice and write for money. Please send me £20."—London Answers.

Your Neighbor's Experience. How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, 360 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eye-sight became clear and to-day I can say I am a well woman, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills." M. L. Marsh Druggist.

A Large Compliment. He was a fatterer, but a clumsy one. Noting that the girl of his heart possessed beautiful teeth that shone like ivory, he ventured to pass a compliment. "Dearest," he whispered, leaning over the music rack, "your teeth are like piano keys." Freeping him with an icy glance, she turned on her heel.—Chicago News.

Foley's Kidney Remedy. Is particularly recommended for chronic cases of kidney and bladder trouble. It tends to regulate and control the kidney and bladder action and is healing, strengthening and bracing. M. L. Marsh Druggist.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." M. L. Marsh Druggist.

THIS IS CERTAIN. The Proof That Convinced Readers Cannot Deny. What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently. Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test. Mrs. W. M. Fisher, 95 N. Georgia avenue, Concord, N. C., says: "Since I publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills three years ago, nothing has happened to check my faith in this excellent remedy. I gladly confirm my former testimonial." (Statement given February 27, 1911.)

The endorsement referred to by Mrs. Fisher was given on January 11, 1908 and was in substance as follows: "I was annoyed by sharp, shooting pains across the small of my back and I hardly knew what caused the trouble. I was also bothered by soreness through my kidneys and finally I decided to try a kidney medicine. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Gibson's Drug Store and half the contents cured me."

For example, if the manufacturing cost of any pair of Regal Shoes, with 5% profit and selling expense added, comes to $3.85, you get that shoe at $3.85—not at the old, traditional, $4.00 price. The Regal Company has abandoned the old-fashioned idea that good shoes always must be sold at "even money" prices. Prices range from $335 to $585 and are stamped on the shoes at the factory.
