OUR RAILWAY SYSTEMS

ENGLISHMAN SAYS WE ARE WONDERFULLY ECONOMICAL.

Learn Lessons From Early Financial Trials and Retain Stringent Economy Forged on Them in Struggling Periods.

An English railroad expert who has been making a 10,000 mile tour studying railways in this country makes some interesting comparisons between American railroads and those of his home land.

"There is not the slightest doubt," he says, "that American railroads are worked on a much more economical system than the English. The English railway companies neglect opportunities for saving money that the Americans seize.

"The reason is that owing to the complexity of American economic history quite half the American railroads have been in the receiver's hands, and the rest at one time or another have been hard up, so, though many of them are now better off than our English railways, like people who have experienced poverty they retain to this day the stringent economy forced upon them in the struggling periods.

"But apart from this, another reason for their greater economy is that they deal on the wholesale system, while the English railways deal on the retail. The wholesale permeates American life. For instance, you can ride 20 miles on a street car for five cents, and you pay a dollar if you take a cab to cross the road.

"Well, that method saves innumerable small sums, and so in the end a big sum on the railways. But of course our English railways, with their small locomotives and rolling stock, cannot in the nature of things handle traffic on the American scale.

"The expert admitted that our engineers were better paid than the English, but said there was good reason for this as the American engineers' work is much more wearing.

"There is a vast difference," he concluded, "between driving a train over a line every mile of which is block signalled than over an open unsignalled road which crosses unfenced hundreds of miles of prairie. The American engine driver is a brain worker; the English driver is to a great extent, but nothing like so much as the American, and the wear and tear to the men's nerves is great."

OPINION OF THE EXPERT

Barnard, the Sculptor, Tells Interesting Story of a Negro Who Ate Axel Grease for Cheese.

George Gray Barnard, the sculptor of the Harrisburg Capitol, was talking about those critics who insist that all his Harrisburg statues must be draped.

"An critic of art," he said, "they are about as expert as was Uncle Rufus White on cheese.

"In the general store of Nola Chucky the storekeeper was opening some tins of yellow axle grease when Uncle Rufus entered.

Why a Monthly Income Contract is Desirable.

It guarantees your beneficiary a sure monthly income clear of all claims.

It is a Trust Fund created under the provisions of the Company's charter. It will not be affected by hard times or breaches of trust.

It will not be subject to your debts, taxation or administration fees.

It will be paid regularly and promptly without any trouble or expense.

In no other way, at such a reasonable cost, can you provide an absolute income for your beneficiary.

It is the only way to make a Will that cannot be broken.

It guards your beneficiary against unwise investment, speculation and mistakes of executors.

It continues to provide after death terminates YOUR earning power.

It completes your unfinished work. The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company.

An Attractive Offer: The readers of Concord and Cabarrus will be interested in a splendid proposition being made by The Observer Company, at Charlotte.

At this time the Daily and Sunday Observer—seven days in the week—will be sent until October 15th, 1911, to all new subscribers for $2.00.

This is a considerable reduction from the regular price and is made for the purpose of introducing the paper to new subscribers.

The only rule is that cash must accompany all orders. Send name and address and check for $2.00 to The Observer Company, Charlotte, N. C., and let this splendid paper be sent you until October 15th, 1911.

Your Neighbor's Experience: How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whitling, 300 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches.

I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eye-sight became clear and to-day I can say I am a well woman, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills." M. L. Marsh, Druggist.

The Charivari: The "shivaree" was introduced into America by the French of Louisiana and Canada. Of course "shivaree" is a corrupt, contracted form of charivari, the French word, but its meaning is the same.

The charivari began as a regular wedding serenade, but came to be reserved only for unpopular marriages. The council of Tours, at the beginning of the seventeenth century, forbade this form of serenade, the penalty being excommunication from the church, but this did not put an end to the practice.

About Telephone Messages: We respectfully ask those friends who telephone to The Times and Tribune office to give the message to the one who answers the 'phone, whenever it is possible to do so.

Often some one else is asked for in the office, who is very busy, and is obliged to stop and go to the far end of another room to answer a message which could just as easily have been answered by the one first at the 'phone. This office is a busy place, and minutes count. Observe this, please.

MAIL CARS ARE ALL STEEL.

Now They Must Be Provided by the Railroads Says the New York Postoffice Bill.

The house of representatives after an extensive debate adopted a provision in the postoffice appropriation bill that after July 1, 1912, all mail cars used on interstate railroads shall be of all-steel construction.

Many speeches were made by members on the necessity of better protection for the railway mail clerks.

The new provision, as to steel cars does not affect the acceptance of equipment now under construction or contracted for under plans approved by the postmaster general. This was as far as the postoffice committee desired to go, but it was the sense of the house that a definite time limit as to the use of wooden cars should be fixed by congress.

Representative Madden of Illinois offered an amendment as to 1912 and it was adopted 65 to 34.

The house also adopted a committee amendment providing that no wooden mail cars shall be placed ahead of a steel car in any train.

Retail Merchants Protest: Protest has been made by the retail merchants against the commissary stores in Washington and Annapolis. The retail merchants say that the government sells goods at cost to civilians as well as to its soldiers and sailors, and that thus Uncle Sam comes into competition with the retail stores, which they consider unfair.

It is said that any person may buy goods at the government stores at cost, regardless of whether he is connected with either the army or navy service, for which benefit they are maintained.
