DO NOT SELL YOUR LAND FOR A SONG.

The fact that farming lands in the Southern States can be bought for one third the price that is paid in other states is bringing a great many investors to the South, from both northern states and also from England. A British Company has recently purchased 32 thousand acres of cotton land in the State of Mississippi, and a Dutch Company has purchased nine thousand acres in the same state. A California Company is financing a big deal in the State of North Carolina. A Chicago Company is financing a deal for thirty thousand acres in Georgia, and a New York concern is about to make a big deal in the state of Louisiana. Valuable lands in the South will from now on find ready purchasers and steady development.

It behooves our people not to sell any more of their lands for a mere song. Much of it has been sold at a figure which gives conclusive evidence that there are some land holders in the South who have not learned the value of their property.

The Bureau of Agriculture of the Southern Commercial Congress, has received authentic information that a financier from a distant state recently purchased 22,000 acres in North Carolina at $3.40 an acre and in a few weeks sold about 2,000 acres at an average of $10, leaving 20,000 acres profit.

Farm land in sixteen Southern States has doubled in value on an average within the past ten years. The increase is from $9.60 per acre in 1900 to $19.71 in 1910. The same States have also doubled their values in farm buildings. The average value of farm lands in North Carolina is $15.29, when in 1910 it was $6.24, thus showing the increase in this State to be 145 percent. The highest average of value is in Missouri, where it is $41.76 per acre.

The reciprocity measure is only one step in the right direction for it lets in live stock from Canada but it does not let in Canada's dressed meat, thereby protecting the great beef trusts. It lets in Canadian grain but it does not let in Canadian flour, thereby protecting the great mill trusts. There are several other features of discrimination contained in the bill, which was framed by president Taft, and never amended in Congress.

It is all right now to refer to Bryan as a "has been."

All in the Same Boat.

Webster's Weekly.
 The Reidsville Review reads Senator Simmons out of the party because he voted for duty on lumber contrary to the national Democratic platform and for his vote against reciprocity, on which the platform was silent. The Weekly dissents from Senator Simmons' judgment in both positions, but it is not disposed to read anybody out of the party at this stage of the game. As a matter of fact, Senator Overman and all the representatives from this state except Hon. Claude Kitchin voted for a duty on lumber. And their departure from the platform is of the same kind that Governor Kitchin has approved in the anti-trust matter. The last Democratic state convention, with all the facts before it, did not condemn anybody, but gave the following endorsement to the whole Kitchin-Simmons-Overman layout, after Chairman Elzer had generalized and Senator Overman with his vote against the national platform demanded for free lumber, had accepted the keynote.

"We commend and approve the administration of Gov. W. W. Kitchin, and the other state officials, and commend and approve our senators and representatives in Congress for their activity in behalf of the people of North Carolina."

LUMBER AS A TEST OF DEMOCRACY.

Atlanta Constitution.
 "Because Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, voted for a 7 per cent duty on lumber on the belief that it was a revenue duty and in accordance with a revenue tariff, it seems an attempt was made by certain senators to read him out of the party a few days ago."

"The lumber test of Democracy was recently applied by Mr. Kern, of Indiana, who ran on the ticket with Mr. Bryan in his latest attempt to reach the presidency, as well as by other senators.
 "The effort to ostracise a senator who voted for a revenue duty—proven to be such by the reports of the treasury department—because the last Democratic national platform called for free lumber, presents some unpleasant aspects. Several members of the Georgia delegation in congress would be ruled out of the party under this interpretation.

"It seems that lumber is a great industry in North Carolina, employing tens of thousands of persons, and that this industry profits incidentally by the revenue duty which brings $7,000,000 annually into the national treasury.
 "In the last campaign a number of candidates for congressional honors in North Carolina frankly avowed they would not vote for free lumber, despite the national platform demand, unless other articles which the lumberman needs in his industry were also put on the free list.
 "Senator Simmons took the position that his promise to the people of his state relieved him of the obligation of the platform.
 "If a duty of 7 per cent on lumber is a revenue duty, as proven by the fact that it produced more revenue than any rate of the Payne law equally low, and if the historic attitude of the Democratic party is in favor of revenue duties instead of free trade, it would seem that Senator Simmons has substantial ground on which to stand."

Virginia the Literary Centre.

Baltimore Sun.
 The literary centre of the United States has shifted from Indiana to Virginia. The Bookman's official list of the six best selling books in the United States is as follows:

"The Long Roll," by Johnston, 311 points; "The Prodigal Judge," by Kester, 108; "The Broad Highway," by Farnol, 196; "Miss Gible Gault," by Boshier, 142; "Queed," by Harrison, 114; "The Miller of Old Church," by Glasgow, 66.
 The author of "The Long Roll" is Miss Mary Johnston, of Richmond, and the hero of the book is Stonewall Jackson. Mr. Kester, who wrote "The Prodigal Judge," lived at Gunston Hall, the famous old home of the Masons, in Virginia, not far from Washington. "Queed" is one of the surprises of the year, a Richmond book written by Henry Sydney Harrison, a young Virginian, who has scored a success in his first book. Miss Ellen Glasgow has won an assured position, and it is no surprise that she retains her hold on the reading public. She is an ardent Virginian and lives in Richmond.

Most of the books published are sold in the North and West, and the pronounced popularity of Southern authors must be due to the merit of their work. As a matter of fact, the four numbered among the "six sellers" are uncommonly good novels. There is evidence enough that the "revival in Southern literature" we have looked for so long has arrived, but the literature is not merely "Southern," as no true literature is sectional, but makes a national appeal.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than ever before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend for the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. For sale by M. L. Mars, druggist.

All trains between Salisbury and Asheville now have ticket collectors. The change was made on August 1.

Hay, Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 104 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with hay fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. For sale by M. L. Mars, druggist.

The fountain at Round Knob will soon be restored after being out of commission for years. A wealthy director of the Southern Railway has given orders for the fountain to be replaced and that the bill be sent to him.

Do not allow your kidney and bladder trouble to develop beyond the reach of medicine. Take Foley Kidney Pills. They give quick results and stop irregularities with surprising promptness. For sale by M. L. Mars, druggist.

THE RETURN OF PROSPERITY.

Southern Textile Bulletin.
 We hear reports from all sides that the mill men are exceedingly blue over the situation but we can see no cause except for optimism and honest belief that we have reached the turning of the tide and that better times will soon prevail.

The chief cause for gloom is that consumers of goods will not buy even at lower figures but nobody who has known human nature will expect them to buy now.
 Almost every day for the last two weeks has witnessed a decline in cotton and in the face of unusual prospects the market has been demoralized.

Many mills had said that they would buy cotton when it reached 12 cents but they did not do so and now when they can buy strict middling for December and January delivery at 11 1/4 cents they say they will buy when it gets to 10 cents.

Likewise buyers who said they would buy at lower figures are now holding back and predicting 8 cent cotton.
 This is always the situation on a steadily declining market and how often have we seen these same people rush to buy when a reaction has carried the market up again.

Ever since March we have been predicting a record breaking crop and a decline in prices.
 We paid no attention to the "dope" writers who were talking twenty cent cotton and then we realize that it is those same writers who are now predicting 8 cent cotton.

The market may swing much lower but we believe that even a 15,000,000 bale crop will be marketed at an average price of 11 cents and no one should forget the ability of the farmer to hold his cotton if it goes much lower.
 Eleven cent cotton will give a fair profit to the farmer and we also believe that it will bring full time to the mills.

We have now almost the exact conditions that prevailed in the summer of 1905 and we remember well the period of prosperity that followed in 1906 and 1907.

At that time cotton market had declined from the high prices of the Sully year and our export business with China had reached a low point on the great Reconstructive tonic and blood renovator

Consumption

Checked and in Early Stages, Cured by

MILAM

We do not set forth MILAM as a cure for consumption, but it has proven so beneficial to such patients that we believe, and are supported in our belief by a practicing physician, that MILAM will arrest incipient tuberculosis or consumption in its early stages. We know that it greatly benefits even those in the advanced stages.

Read the following

Scrofulitic Consumption

City of Danville, State of Virginia—To-wit: I, Edmund B. Meade, Notary Public in and for the City of Danville, State of Virginia, do hereby certify that Abram Word, of Danville, Va., to me well known, did appear before me, and being duly sworn, depose and says as follows:
 "For ten years prior to August, 1909, I was under the care of a regular physician. Last spring this doctor told me he could do me no good, and I tried another for four months without receiving any benefit from him.
 In August, 1909, I began taking Milam, and am now able to do my work without difficulty, my appetite is good, and I can eat and digest any food.
 My trouble was said to be Scrofulitic Consumption, and I was treated away to a shadow. I was so weak that I could hardly walk when I commenced on MILAM. I regard MILAM as a truly valuable remedy in all cases of blood trouble, whether eruptive, or proceeding from a lack of full, free circulation.
 I have recommended MILAM to about twenty of my friends, and so far as I have seen or heard from them, they all speak in the highest terms of it, and are recommending it to their friends.
 It was particularly beneficial to me in aiding digestion and building up an appetite."
 (Signed) ABRAM WORD.
 In witness to the above, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of my office, this 22nd day of March, A. D. 1910. EDMUND B. MEADE, Notary Public. My commission expires Jan. 14, 1914.

Overdid the Thing.

Greenboro Record.
 Praying for rain is all right, but like the old darkey, it depends on how you pray. He said if he prayed for a turkey the Lord would never send it, but if he prayed for the Lord to send him "arter" one he always answered. The people in Florence, S. C., know how to pray. Last week the dryness was so bad that everything was going to ruin; the good folks, therefore, met in a body and prayed; how long is not known, but an hour after the meeting the rain came. It was a gullywasher, a trash mover and even more than that. It swept away hen coops and tore and tore away cotton rows. Having got the rain started there was nothing to do but just let it rain, and that is what the faithful people did. The deluge continued thirty-six hours.

Notice to Correspondents.

The Salisbury Post has the following request to correspondents, which will apply to those who write for this paper also:

In sending matter to the Post for publication correspondents are requested to write only on one side of the paper. Capital letters should be used too at the beginning of every sentence and in changing the subject never begin in the middle of the line, immediately following a previous news item, as is done by many, but start on a new line and set the pen in a short distance from the left margin of the paper. This will greatly aid both the editor and printer.

The pardon of Wylie P. Black, the notorious and wealthy Asheville man, which has stirred such a sensation and criticism in the Asheville section for some weeks, is revoked by Governor Kitchin and Black was taken into custody Friday morning in Asheville, preparatory for recommitment to service on the roads. He had served 7 months of a 22-months sentence when he was pardoned.

Thinks Hoke Something of a Hog.

Taft may have been mistaken, but he thought at the time that Illinois knew enough to elect its own senators.
