POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Governor Wilson of New Jersey has been invited to address the Georgia legislature.

The Prohibition Committee will meet December 6 to choose the time and place for holding the party's presidential convention.

Senator James B. McCreary, the Democratic nominee for the Kentucky governorship, filled that office something like a generation ago.

Thomas L. Higgen, who was the Independence League candidate for President three years ago, denies the reported that he intended to run for governor of Massachusetts this year.

Representative George W. Norris of the fifth Nebraska district has made definite announcement of his intention to be a candidate for the United States senate against Senator Norris Brown, whose term will expire in 1913.

On September 11 the voters of Maine will decide upon the question of repealing the constitutional amendment providing for state-wide prohibition. The amendment has been in force for twenty-seven years.

After a long and bitter fight Timothy L. Woodruff, former Lieutenant Governor of New York and former chairman of the Republican State Committee, has been forced to relinquish control of the Republican organization in Kings county (Brooklyn), where he lives.

In case Governor Deneen seeks a third term, which now appears a probability, the primaries in Illinois next spring will see all the outgoing State officers candidates for re-nomination, with the solitary exception of the State Treasurer, who is barred by constitutional provision from succeeding himself.

The Republican leaders in Pennsylvania hope to reduce the Democratic delegation from that State by the election of a Republican from the Fourteenth district, where a vacancy exists by the death of Representative George V. Kipp, Democrat. A special election to fill the vacancy will be held next November.

Charles E. Jones, of Chicago, chairman of the Prohibition National Committee, has been making an extensive tour of the far west consulting with the leaders of the party in regard to the advisability of holding the next national convention of the Prohibition party in that section of the country.

Wilbur F. Wakeman of New York, treasurer-general and secretary of the American Protective Tariff League, the organization of the advocates of a high protective tariff, has announced himself as a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Elihu Root, whose term of office will expire March 3, 1915.

The Democratic party in the coming national campaign expects to devote special attention to Wisconsin, which has been regarded as safely Republican for many years past. The Democrats now are inclined to look upon it as a doubtful state. As a basis for the fight between Taft and La Follette supporters will be so intense and so productive of bitterness that Wisconsin can well be claimed as doubtful.

Adventures on a Street Car

"Mildred, I've met him!" Marjory rushed into her sister's house.

"Who is 'him'?" asked Mrs. Morse.

"My fate! The grandest on earth. I don't know when I've seen any one half so splendid."

"But it's only two weeks ago, dear, that you were raving about Jim Ponsoby."

"Don't mention his name in the same breath—James Ponsoby is a silk sock, high collar, society dandy, while this one is a real man."

"He's quite poor, I judge, that is so far as money goes, but Browning, or Roosevelt, or John Burns or some one else, I forget who said, 'A man is a man for 'a' that,' and our minister is always preaching that money doesn't count. Such shoulders, Mildred, and those big, honest eyes!"

"Lovely, indeed! But where did you meet this paragon?" Marjory's sister was becoming interested.

"That's the funny part of it," said Marjory, pulling off her gloves. "It must have been fate that threw us together."

"You see," she continued, "Dorothy's Sunday school class had collected 389 pennies for my poor children in the settlement. A week ago I stepped into the street car. I held the money box in my hand to take to my class. I don't know how, but the elastic band around the box snapped; the cover fell off, and 389 cents rolled over every inch of that street car. It's nothing to laugh at. Imagine my embarrassment. As a unit the passengers jumped to their feet to assist in the penny search. I alone remained seated, too dazed to move."

"After what seemed an eternity, a tall handsome man stepped forward. He is my hero; the man who has changed the complexion of my whole young life."

"Raising his hat, he said, 'Pardon, miss, but I think we've found every cent. May I help you?'"

"He had a most noble face. I nodded."

"Stop laughing, Mildred! If you had been there you wouldn't have thought it funny."

"Now, listen to this coincidence and see if fate isn't getting busy. I promised to bring my settlement youngsters some oranges, so yesterday I bought two dozen large ones. Unconsciously of impending disaster I stepped into the car."

"My oranges were in a strong bag. How it happened is beyond human comprehension, but somehow, the bag broke and twenty-four oranges rolled themselves over every inch of that car."

"Think of my horror again, when, looking across the aisle, I gazed into the eyes of the very man who had collected the pennies for me the week before. My hero!"

"He recognized me instantly, and we both laughed, while everybody else in the car scampered for the rolling oranges. Finally we managed to rewrap the rebellious fruit."

"If you will let me carry this for you," said the man, "perhaps no more accidents will occur before we get there." I told him his offer was very kind. It's three blocks from the car to the settlement house. In those three blocks I learned that he is employed by the telephone company. His is not a promising position, I judge, but as I said before, he is a real man and nothing else matters."

"Marjory, you are a goose, but you are a nice goose. Will you never grow up?"

"I wonder under what conditions I'll meet my hero next time?" pondered Marjory. "For meet him I must. And she did."

"It was a week later. 'It's too funny,' said Marjory, 'there's no use telling you. You won't believe it.'"

"Well, hurry dear. Tell me before you explode."

"Last night at nine o'clock our maid, Polly, knocked at my door, and said, 'Miss Marjory, may I be so bold as to tell you that I'm engaged to be married? 'Good for you, Polly!' said I. 'So it's settled? I'm very glad.'"

"Miss Marjory," she went on, "my friend has heard me speak so much of you, would you mind coming into the kitchen a minute to make his acquaintance? 'Why, I'd love to meet your future husband, Polly,' I said."

"So I skipped down to the lower regions, and Mildred Morton Morse, who do you think is Polly's fiancé? Will wonders never cease? My hero of the pennies and the knight of the broken orange bag. My telephone man! He looked at me. I looked at him. We looked at each other, then we both laughed, while Polly, in surprise, said: 'You two must have met before!'"

"The Leak or the Daffodil?"

There are those today who maintain that the Welsh national emblem is not the leak, but the daffodil. Both leak and daffodil are known in the ancient British tongue as "Benin," and it is held by those who favor the daffodil that, owing to the similarity of name, the two became confused, and that Shakespeare's influence, coupled with the Englishman's delight in making fun of Tally and his leak, served to perpetuate the error.

So that as it may, the majority of Welshmen have agreed to wear the leak as an honorable badge, and neither Saxons, Danes nor the Indian, Algonquian of the historical data will avail to dislodge an ancient and a national custom.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for its list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Farmers' Union Picnic at Georgeville.

A large crowd from Concord and surrounding county will attend the Farmers' Union picnic at Georgeville Saturday. The veterans' choir has accepted an invitation to be present and its music will be one of the features of the program. Dr. Alexander, of Charlotte, president of the Farmers' Union, will deliver the principal address of the day. The members of the union in that section have spared no effort to make the picnic a success and those who attend will no doubt be well repaid for doing so.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than ever before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend for the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. For sale by M. L. Mars, druggist.

Widowhouse Reunion.

The annual reunion of the Widowhouse family will be held at the old homestead in No. 9 township, where John P. Cox now resides, on Wednesday, the 16th of August, 1911. All descendants of the Widowhouse family are requested to be present. Come and bring well filled baskets. P. F. WIDENHOUSE.

Hay, Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 304 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with hay fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. For sale by M. L. Mars, druggist.

Capt. James Watson, in charge of the United States army recruiting office at Indianapolis, Ind., has asked for a warrant for the arrest of Private George Peters, of the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Coast Artillery, said to be stationed at Fort Totten, N. Y., on the ground that he is an Austrian spy commissioned to get plans of American coast defenses. The alleged exposure of Peters came through his sweetheart.

Note the Money-Saving Price Stamped on the Sole

—Cost Plus 5%

No guess work about these new Regal prices. The price is stamped right on the shoe—at the factory. And it isn't stamped on until chartered public accountants have figured the cost of manufacture and of marketing and added the Five Per Cent. Commission.

These accountants pay no attention to the old-fashioned superstition of "even money" prices. All they care about is an accurate, close-fitting price.

The chief thing that Regal designers care about is to put just as much Value—just as much Style and Comfort and Wear—as they can squeeze into each shoe.

The thing you care about in shoes—namely, big value in a close-fitting price—you're sure to find in Regals.

Charlity and Children says:

The law with reference to the dispensing or selling of liquor by clubs is not quite as drastic as some of the temperance advocates would have it, but it strikes us as a pretty good law, and if properly enforced will do the business. Under its provisions a man is permitted to keep liquor in his locker, though we confess a better place to have the "ardent" is a man's own home.

The important question now is, is the law being "properly" enforced?

A man in St. Louis signed a contract with his wife by which he agreed not to kiss or annoy her in any other way. He must have been an excessively agreeable sort of a husband if it was necessary to extract this contract. Evidently, this particular wife did not agree with Shakespeare that kisses are women's wages. Perhaps, though, she disliked them because she got no other.

A New York woman has undertaken a crusade against the long latpin. The pin is a real danger, and while women may resent the regulation of any part of their attire by law, their own good sense should convince them of the propriety of making this article less of a menace to the public.

A gold medal and $1,000 are to be awarded annually to the person doing the most for the advance of surgery. Now it is in order for some lover of his kind to offer a gold medal and $2,000 for the person doing the most for the progress of the patients of advanced surgery.

The Ohio society girl who gave a dinner with an ape as chief guest declares that it is better to feast natural apes than to court and marry human ones merely because the latter happen to have titles. The defense is as reasonable as it is sharp.

Charlotte's Water Supply.

Charlotte Observer.

It would appear, judging by the statements issued daily by the water-works department, that the city is not yet "out of the woods" so far as the so-called water famine is concerned.

The deficit Saturday morning, according to the statement which appeared in yesterday morning's Observer was 97,500. This was for the 24-hour period from 7 a. m. Friday morning to 7 a. m. Saturday morning.

The deficit yesterday morning, according to the official statement which follows, was 193,000 gallons, or three times as great as the day previous.

Speaker Champ Clark had as his guest at luncheon in the house restaurant Friday Representatives Webb, Page, Goodwin, Doughton, Steadman, Pou and Guder; Senators Simmons and Overman and Uncle Joe Cannon, former speaker of the house. It was strictly a Tar Heel crowd with the exception of the speaker himself, Uncle Joe being a former North Carolinian.

A druggist in Washington made up his mind that when he bought goods and paid for them he had a right to sell them at any price he might desire. Trying to a patent medicine concern sought an injunction to restrain him, but the court says the druggist, having paid for the goods, has a right to sell at any figure that suits him.
