THE SOUTHERN'S EXCELLENT SERVICE.

It has often been said of the Southern Railway that it never inaugurates any improvements in depot or train facilities until it is forced to do so. If this criticism was ever a just one it appears that it is not so now. A short time ago it was published that the people of Asheville and along the Western road were moving to have a new train inaugurated on that road from Salisbury to Asheville. The statement is now published that this train will be put on soon, probably November 1. It will leave Salisbury at 4 a. m., connecting with No. 31 going South and will reach Asheville at 10 a. m. The eastbound train will leave Asheville at 7:10 p. m., arriving in Salisbury at 12:25 a. m. to connect with train No. 29, going south and No. 30 going north. It is planned to have the train carry through Pullman drawing-room and sleeping-cars between Asheville and New York.

President Finley has also instructed that improvements be made in the service of trains numbers 11 and 12, whereby Pullman observation cars are to be provided on them. Passengers on these trains will then be given an opportunity to see the glorious scenery between Asheville and Salisbury, crossing the Blue Ridge mountains.

The Asheville Citizen says: The action of the Southern, coming really before it was expected, should convince the skeptical ones that this great railroad system, through its officials, is leaving no stone unturned to fulfill its expressed promises to give Western North Carolina the best railway service possible, thereby aiding materially in the development of the entire section. With such an example before us, truly a great incentive to renewed effort, the "boosters' meetings" in Asheville today should be productive of far-reaching results. But, as recently stated in these columns, The Citizen believes that the people of Western North Carolina already appreciate the good offices of the Southern.

The passenger service of Concord now is all that could be desired. We have sixteen passenger trains each day, eight in each direction, and all of them stop here. The Southern officials, from President Finley down, are anxious to give the traveling public the very best service possible, and they are doing it.

The Atlanta Georgian says that it has been its policy for some years not to print the names of women who were the victims of assaults. This is a good newspaper rule, and at the recent session of the Georgia legislature a bill was passed prohibiting the publication of names of women who were assaulted. This new law has been violated by various newspapers and the Georgian recently asked a judge of a criminal court what a newspaper can publish under the new law. "You may state the facts as they were presented, but not publish the woman's name," said the judge.

Old Doc Cook had the effrontery to go back to Copenhagen and attempt to lecture, in order "to vindicate his reputation," he said. Two years ago he was acclaimed to the world by the Geographical Society as a hero and the discoverer of the pole, and naturally the Danes were sore over the way in which they had been deceived. His presence aroused the people and he was compelled to ingloriously retire from the stage and through a back door. He was lucky not to have been kicked out.

The scores of newspaper people and thousands of others will regret to know that Mr. John R. Ross, business manager of the Charlotte Observer, is to sever his connection with that paper November 1, when it passes under the new management. Mr. Ross has been with the paper for nineteen Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

 Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.
