Arrival of Trains at Concord. OHR M. OGLESBY, City Editor

Concord, N. C., December 10, 1911.

There had already been ginned up to December 1 more bales of cotton than the entire crop has been in any previous year of the country's history, except in 1904, 1906 and 1908 and coming within 637,000 bales of the total ginned in 1904, the record year. The census bureau's report. issued Friday, shows that up to the first of this month there had been ginned 12,814,832 bales. It is now conceded that the crop will reach 15,-000,000 bales. The Greensboro Record says:

public was led to believe months ago that the cotton crop was not going to be large. When the government appeared, showing there reports appeared, showing there would likely be a huge crop, there was instant denial, but the facts accumulated that it was extremely large, with the consequence are very low. In great measure the planters are to blame; they are responsible for the over-production. All through South Carolina fields and fields of cotton remain unpicked. A gentleman who has just en over the State says he saw with own eyes. In one section he saw eight acres, estimated conservatively as producing a bale to the acre, that has not been touched. The owner says he has offered one-half the crop for the mere picking, but cannot get the labor. Labor is scarce, but the price of cotton is bringing is so low that workers do not care to take the job. Had it been possible to gather the entire crop, the yield would have The best plan for the farmer is to first raise what he needs, then put in his time on cotton. Instead, thousands of them put their all on cotton.

From labor unions throughout the country are coming demands that the $190,000 which labor subscribed for the defense of the McNamaras be returned or diverted to some other use. This cannot be done. Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense, admitted that the major part term in the State prison at Wetbersof this great sum already has been ford Warren was a model prisone expended. For many years Warren had the privilege of passing unchallenged through the prison gates and frequently he spends all day outside of the prison in the pursuance of his garden work, but never did he make an attempt to escape or to violate in any way the confidence which the warden of the institution had placed in him. The comparative freedom which he enjoyed, had a beneficial effect upon Warren's physical and mental condition. Although he is now more than seventy-two years of age, he is stil lactive and energetic and looks nearesely more than fifty. His hair is turning gray, but he stoops but little and his still clastic. ASKS PARDON AFTER 52 YEARS IN PRISON

Man Who Killed His Wife in 1856 Wants His Preedom.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 9.—Among prison at Wethersfield, whose appli-cations for parole or pardon will be considered by the State Board of Pardons when that board meets here next Tuesday, is John Warren, the oldest inmate of the prison, who has spent 52 years of his life in that penal institution. In the fall of 1859 John Warren was convicted of the Warren was convicted of the murder of his wife and sentenced to prison for life. He entered the State rison at Wethersfield November 14, the outside world ever since. al times he appealed to the Board of Pardons for his release, but in every case his application was denie This year he has again petitioned for a pardon and his friends confidently expect that this time the Board of ns will be less obdurate.

The history of Warren's crime rather unusual. In the early summer of 1859 John P. Warren, the only twenty-one years old, and his 18-year-old wife lived on a small farm in Willington, a little town in Tolland county, in the northeastern part of Connecticut. On a warm morning in July of that year Warren and his wife took a walk in the woods. It was hot and when they came to brook not far from their farm, Warren proposed that they take off their shoes and stockings and bathe their feet in the cool waters of the brook. His wife consented and, having taken off her shoes and stockings waden into the brook. Warren sprang at her, threw her down and held her head under water until his wife was dead. Just what fury or passion animated Warren and prompted him to commit the coldblooded and apparently unprovoked crime, has never been ascertained. Warren himself, although he confessed the crime, has never given any explanation of his action or the motive of the deed. He secreted the body of his wife in the woods, where it was soon found. Warren was arrested and put through the Third De-gree. He confessed his crime, but refused to make any explanatory

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Backthe Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's cail for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment ahould be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashiomed "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Bemedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removed dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.
