RICHESON CONFESSES.

Boston Pastor Writes Confession of the Murder of His Affianced Bride.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 6.—The Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson confessed his guilt of the murder of his former sweetheart, Avis Linnell, of Hyannis, in a document made public by his counsel today. The confession declares that the accused is guilty "of the offense of which he is indicted," which is murder in the first degree.

Whether Richeson will pay the extreme penalty, which, under the Massachusetts law, is death by the electric chair, no court official could predict today.

The confession is as follows:

"Boston, Jan. 3, 1912.

"John L. Lee, Esq.,

"William A. Morse, Esq.,

"Philip R. Dunbar, Esq.,

"Gentlemen:—Deeply penitent for my sin, and earnestly desiring, as far as in my power lies, to make atonement, I hereby confess that I am guilty of the offense of which I stand indicted.

"I am moved to this course by no inducement of self-benefit or leniency. Heinous as is my crime (God has not wholly abandoned me, and my conscience and manhood, however depraved and blighted, will not admit of my still further wronging by a public trial her whose pure young life I have destroyed. Under the lashings of remorse I have suffered and am suffering the tortures of the damned. In this I find a measure of comfort. In my mental anguish I recognize that there is still, by the mercy of the Master, some remnant of the divine spark of goodness still lingering with me. I could wish to live only because in my prison's wall I might in some small measure redeem my sinful past, help some other despairing soul, and, at last find favor with my God.

"You are instructed to deliver this to the district attorney or to the judge of the court.

"Sincerely yours,

"CLARENCE V. T. RICHESON."

Boston, Jan. 6.—Speculation was rife today as to what ultimately will be the fate of Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, who confessed to the murder of his former sweetheart, Avis Linnell. From a source close to Governor Foss the statement came today that the attitude of the executive probably would be in favor of a commutation of sentence of death in the electric chair to one of life imprisonment, if the law's fullest penalty is imposed by the court. Members of the governor's council are known already to have been approached concerning their attitude in case the death penalty is imposed and a petition for commutation is made.

No leniency for Richeson on the part of the district attorney is expected and no less plea than that of murder in the first degree will meet his approval.

Judge Montgomery's Condition.

The condition of ex-Judge W. J. Montgomery, who has been very ill or uremic poison in the Charlotte Sanatorium for several days, is not improved today. It was hoped to have an operation performed yesterday morning, but he was too weak for this to be done. He is 78 years of age, well preserved for his years and until recently a man of remarkable vigor both of mind and body. Mrs. Montgomery remains with him all the time, and other members of the family go over every day to see him. His son, Dr. J. C. Montgomery, and his daughter, Mrs. E. C. Register, live in Charlotte, and are with him almost constantly.

Bad Wreck on Seaboard.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 6.—Seaboard Air Line passenger train No. 66 was wrecked at McKenney, 30 miles south of here, at 7:30 o'clock tonight, and the engine and five cars left the rails. The engine, baggage and mail cars rolled down a 12-foot embankment.

Engineer Bishop, of Richmond, and negro fireman and one passenger were probably fatally hurt, and several others seriously. The injured were taken to a Richmond hospital.

Governor Kitchin has authorized an exchange of courts between Judges O. H. Allen and M. H. Justice. Judge Justice will preside over the Stanley county Superior Court January 15, and over the Montgomery county beginning January 22. Both terms are for one week.

The Pastime will present today a Kalema drama, "The Lost Freight Car," and it's a film that you should see.

SNOW AND SLEET.

Concord Shivering in Grasp of Snowstorm.—Street Car Cannot Run.—Business Almost at a Standstill.

Concord shivers today in the grasp of a snowstorm. The first snow began to fall Saturday night about 10 o'clock and during the night about three inches of snow fell. Yesterday the day was slightly warmer than Saturday and during the afternoon there was indication that the weather might be warmer. At midnight, however, the mercury dropped decidedly and this morning was about as low as at any time during the winter. Sleet began to fall about 7 o'clock but in a few minutes it changed to snow, which continued to fall steadily throughout the morning hours, coming down and enveloping the city and vicinity like a great white sheet.

As a result of the sleet and snow traffic here is almost at a standstill. Horses can hardly retain a footing on the frozen snow covered ground and dray and delivery wagons are only being sent out in extreme cases. This is the first test of the storage battery car on a track covered with sleet and snow and up to the present time the snow has triumphed. The car made a few trips this morning and then stopped. The track was soon covered with snow and when it resumes operation it will be necessary to either shovel it off or wait until it melts away.

There are many homes in the city that are without the necessary fuel and food to keep them from feeling the cruel hand of want and intense suffering from the biting cold.

The cold, bleak outward appearance is the strongest reminder that there are people suffering from the weather. There are too many benevolent associations and big, warm-hearted, charitable people in Concord not to respond to the needs of all unfortunates within the city.

The snow and cold wave present an opportunity for every individual to practice the great charity that drives away the sorrow of misfortune and comforts the suffering by contributing something towards providing the destitute with the necessary comforts of life.

Let some organized effort be made at once in their behalf.

BRYAN WILL LAUNCH WOODROW WILSON BOOM.

Will Let Bygones Be Bygones. It is Said.—Curious Eager to Know His Plans.

Mr. H. E. Bryan writes as follows today from Washington to the Charlotte Observer: "Josephus Daniels, national committeeman from North Carolina, came in with Colonel Bryan from Raleigh today. Mr. Daniels is at the Shoreham. He said tonight that he is for Baltimore for the convention and Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

"Mr. Bryan and his friends, Mr. Daniels said, will not be influenced by any letters that Wilson may have written against Bryan in former campaigns. Bryan knows that Wilson wrote such letters. He is not worrying about that, Mr. Daniels says.

"Democrats are coming in from every section to attend the national committee meeting and the Jackson Day banquet tomorrow. The wild stories about what Colonel Bryan will do when he gets busy in the committee and when he gets going at the banquet have brought hundreds of people here who would not have come under ordinary circumstances. The curious are eager to know at the earliest possible moment just what Bryan is going to do. The Democrats are awed by his rampant presence.

"Woodrow Wilson, Judson Harmon, Champ Clark, Oscar Underwood, Joseph Folk and others who have been more or less prominent recently have paleled into insignificance besides Colonel Bryan within the last forty-eight hours. Everybody is talking about the Nebraskan."

Bitterly Cold All Over Country.

Cold weather records for the year, and in many instances for many years were broken today, and will be broken by the succeeding 24 hours in the territory within a 1,000-mile radius of the Great Lakes, according to the prediction issued by the Chicago weather bureau.

In the immediate vicinity of the lakes, where the open water tempered the blast, temperatures were materially higher than in places farther away. A low record for many years for Chicago was established shortly before noon, however, at 9.6 below zero. Tomorrow's figure is predicted to be 15 degrees below zero.

West, as far as the Rocky Mountains, and south into Canada, low temperatures for today, it was predicted, would be forgotten in the bitter blasts of the next 24 hours. -51 shrd shr shr shr shr shrld shr

HOW TO GET RICH.

Millionaire Says Any Young Man Can Do It If He Wants to.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the St. Paul millionaire, rules today on how to get rich. He said, in part:

"Work at something really worthy of work and work hard.

"Save money and invest what you save.

"Don't be afraid of long hours.

"Any young man can get rich, can succeed in business; if he saves, if he has a definite and honest purpose and is soon fitted with the purpose that work ceases to be a hardship and becomes a privilege.

"Look at things with optimism in your heart, go into some small business and work to make it into a big one."

Miss Elizabeth Hedrick, a thoroughly competent young woman of Salisbury, has consented to act as temporary librarian and the success of the undertaking is assured. Already a large supply of choice books have been placed in the building and the place will be thrown open to the public next week.

RINGS FOR MARRIED MEN.

Priest Favors Law Forcing Males to Wear Badge of Fidelity.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 7.—Married men ought to be compelled by law to wear as a sign of their estate a gold band on the fourth finger of the right hand, according to Rev. Father Leon Linden, a prominent priest of Aurora. He says "it would be a 'look-before-you-leap' admonition to girls more eloquent than a wealth of worldly warning."

The clergyman's suggestion grows out of a bill presented by a New York legislator to put a ban on flirting. He says:

"The ring has always been a symbol of fidelity and has been the adornment of the wife, the nun, the bishop and the king, to signify their fidelity to the position they hold in life."

WILLIAM J. BRYAN SPEAKS IN RALEIGH.

Introduced by Former Governor Aycock and Greeted by An Enthusiastic Audience.

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—Colonel Bryan arrived in the city this afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock from Charleston, where the colonel spoke last night. He was met at the depot by a committee of men and driven direct to the Yarrowborough, where many of his admirers gathered to shake his hand.

Mr. Bryan was introduced by ex-Governor Aycock, probably the most polished speaker in North Carolina, and the things he said about the visitor were calculated to cause enthusiasm. Incoming trains today brought many people here for the speaking, and several of those who came frankly declared that they came as much to hear Mr. Aycock as Colonel Bryan. The platform was occupied by practically all the prominent men of Raleigh.

Speaking on "The Trend of events throughout the world," Mr. Bryan brought to a close his address with an appeal for the initiative and referendum. He said he believed if North Carolinians understood the principles they would be overwhelmingly for them. Mr. Bryan announced that he would say a few words in reply to Senator Lodge, who spoke here in November. He repeated that he was not a candidate for office, because he does not believe he is the strongest man, but will fight the element of the party that would represent Wall street. He spoke gratefully of North Carolina, the first State to endorse him before his Chicago speech.

The visitor was given a rousing reception, but his appeal for the initiative and referendum did not appeal much. Governor Aycock got an ovation when he introduced the speaker. At least 4,000 people were present.

Miss Maude Brown will entertain a number of friends this afternoon in honor of Miss Eva May Brown.
