Annual Meeting Held Yesterday—Historian's Paper Read—Accept Invitation to Gettysburg Reunion.

The Cabarrus County Camp, No. 212 U. C. V., met in the courthouse at 11 a. m. August 13, 1912. Capt. H. B. Parks being absent, Lieutenant Geo. E. Ritchie presided.

The routine business being dispatched, by unanimous vote the old officers were all re-elected.

After some rather interesting and animated discussion the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we accept most heartily the invitation of the Grand Army of the Republic to participate in reunion on the battlefield of Gettysburg in 1913, the 50th anniversary of the great battle, and we urge as many of camp to attend as may find it possible.

The business being finished, the historian, J. D. Barrier, read his annual report and on motion of Rev. T. W. Smith, a special vote of thanks was adopted for same.

PRODUCING RAIN WITH THE USE OF DYNAMITE.

In All 4,500 Pounds of Dynamite Were Exploded, and the Rains Came.

Battle Creek, Aug. 14.—Willis Moore, Chief of the United States Weather Bureau, and the Industrial Association of Battle Creek, are engaged in a controversy over the question of making rain with dynamite.

Battle Creek is the first city in the North to produce rain by means of explosives, following the same plan employed by Mr. C. W. Post, of Battle Creek, upon his ranch at Post City, Texas.

Mr. Post furnished the dynamite for the Battle Creek experiment, and the Battle Creek Industrial Association put on a rain-battle just west of the city, on July 23.

In all, 4,500 pounds of dynamite were exploded, in 1,500 shots, and a downpour of rain followed, without wind, or any thunder and lightning.

The experiment was announced several weeks in advance. Mr. Moore declared the experiment impractical and futile, and predicted fair weather for Battle Creek on July 23.

There was a firing station every one-eighth mile. The dynamite was laid on the ground in 3-pound charges and exploded every few minutes at each of the fifteen stations.

The battle started at 10:30 in the morning and continued until 3:30 in the afternoon. The detonation could be heard for a distance of 20 miles.

About 1:30 a slight precipitation was noticed, but this was more like a mist than rain.

The rain makers admit they cannot produce rain unless the hygrometer shows over 60 degrees of humidity in the air.

The night before the experiment it showed 74 per cent in Battle Creek.
