A BIG PROGRAM OF ATHLETIC EVENTS

WILL MAKE THIS DAY A MEMORABLE ONE.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP AT STAKE

It is Probable That a Number of People Will Establish Records Today. —Two National Boxing Titles at Issue. —In Both Major Leagues Games are Scheduled That Will Have Big Influence on Championship. —In Cincinnati There Have Been 29 Entrants Who Will Contest for First Prize in Big Auto Race.

New York, Sept. 4.—An unprecedented program of athletic events throughout the United States makes Labor Day, 1916, a memorable date in the history of American sports. National championships are at stake today in an unusual number of outdoor games. Judging from the program and the predicted favorable weather, it is probable that the number of persons who will be prominent performers today will establish records.

Two national boxing titles are at issue today—lightweight championship at Colorado Springs, Col. where Freddie Welsh will defend his title against Charlie White, and the featherweight championship at Cedar Point, Ohio, where Johnnie Kilbane will meet George Chaney. The national golf championship game will open on the Merion Golf Club links at Haverford, Pa., and the semi-final round of the national lawn tennis singles tournament will be decided at Forest Hills, N. Y. Detroit, Mich., is the scene of the national championship motor boat regatta. The American Athletic Union national swimming championship will be decided in 100 yards at Honolulu, Hawaii, and 10 miles at St. Louis.

Teams in both major leagues, both morning and afternoon, will make today an important one in the race for two pennants. In addition to these national events the State and sectional championships in a great variety of sports will be decided in almost every part of the country. Cincinnati's first auto sweepstakes race, which will be run over a two-mile saucer track at Sheronville, Ohio, today has drawn 29 entries, all of whom have been qualified by making better than 80 miles per hour and some exceeded 110 miles. The race will be 300 miles, and most all the leading drivers in America.

SOUTHERN BRANCHES MAY ESCAPE NEW LAW

Adamson Bill Will Not Apply If They are "Separately Owned and Operated." Washington, Sept. 2.—The passage by the senate today of the Kitchin-Adamson eight-hour law with the Page amendment exempting railroads "of less than 100 miles in length separately owned and operated," raises the question as to what roads in North Carolina will come under this exemption. On July 1 the Southern railway issued an order which stated that a number of short subsidiaries, formerly owned and operated by the Southern, had been dissociated from the Southern and from that time on would be operated separately from the Southern system. If it can be shown that these lines are "separately owned and operated" distinct from the Southern, there will be a number of short lines, like the High Point and Ashboro, the branch from University Station to Chapel Hill, the Wilkesboro branch and others, which will not come under the new law.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Labor Day brought no cessation of activity to Congress which, having spent nearly all of last week on measures warding off the railroad strike, called for today, hoped for belated adjournment Wednesday or Thursday. The negro was evidently struck and killed by either train No. 37 or 11, both of which ran before the body was discovered. E. S. Thomas Accused of Attempt at Criminal Assault in Pullman at Raleigh. Raleigh, Sept. 2.—E. A. Thomas, a well-dressed young white man is held here for hearing on the charge of attempt at criminal assault upon Miss Eula Nunn this morning in a berth on the westbound Southern train.

The young woman had come from New Bern and took a sleeper. Thomas is alleged to have entered the car and to have made the criminal attempt while it stood on the track. Her cries brought aid to her and the fellow was arrested. He declares today that he was drunk and has no recollection of what took place, though he recalls seeing the young woman on the train and talking to her before they reached Raleigh.

Miss Nunn had been to New Bern visiting relatives, officers said. She appeared to be quite young, not more than 18. She was allowed to continue her journey, but may return to Raleigh if the case is heard against the young fellow.
