

SPORT OF SENTIMENT TOWARD GOV. COX

The influx of delegates added much to the congestion in the hotel lobbies at San Francisco today.

SENATOR REED MAY BE ADMITTED

The Delegation From Georgia Favoring Attorney General Palmer's Nomination, Will Be Seated.

(By the Associated Press.) San Francisco, June 26.—Completion of the temporary roll of the Democratic National convention was in sight today when the national committee resumed consideration of credentials with the Georgia contest before it.

Senator Reed's case. Previously it looked certain that he would be denied a seat, having been refused the election of delegate at large by the State convention. There were intimations overnight, however, of a disposition among the committee members not to oppose the Senator's plan for getting on the convention floor.

The influx of delegates which began yesterday continued, and added hourly to the physical and conversational congestion in hotel lobbies.

It sent an army of news writers on the ground scurrying in search of its source. The best they could make of it was that the coming of several delegates already in the Cox column had added just what many of the Cox adherents were waiting for.

The elusive McAdoo boom also put in a new and this time, public appearance. Bobbing serenely into sight, despite Mr. McAdoo's personal efforts to chloroform it some days ago, the movement for the nomination of the former secretary of the treasury took the shape of cards appearing in the hands of delegates here and there with the legend:

"Mac'll Do." As there is no McAdoo headquarters or agency authorized to stimulate sentiment for him so far as known the source of new manifestation of political immortality on the part of his boom was not clear.

The action of the national committee yesterday in adopting a resolution urging the convention to grant equal committee suffrage and membership to women of the party gave the delegates another subject to discuss. The women delegates were elated. Wives and female relatives of the men delegates also participated in the impromptu publications. The convention has almost the look and manner of a tourist excursion in some respects, so many delegates have grabbed at a chance to bring the family West on a sight-seeing trip, while they were active.

If the national committee's plan is ratified by the convention the committee will hereafter be double the present size and composed of men and women member from each State, with each having equal voting power. The delegates from non-suffrage States greeted somewhat at the prospect, but recognized there was not escape from making the appointment for women unless the State in such case was willing to forego half its voting strength in the committee.

McAdoo and Governor Cox of Ohio, will make an invincible ticket, on which all Democrats can unite, and which will poll the progressive Republican vote of the West, just as it did in 1912 and 1916.

SEES SOVIETS FALL WITHIN THREE MONTHS

Gade Predicts Collapse if U. S. and Allies Withhold Making Trade Pacts New York Times.

Should the Allies and the United States withhold making trade agreements with Soviet Russia, within three months the Bolshevik regime will be forced to a collapse through paralysis of transportation, was the prediction made yesterday by John Allyn Gade, an architect and former President of the American Scandinavian Society, who has just resigned his post as United States Commissioner to the Baltic Provinces.

"On my return here," said Mr. Gade, "I find an appalling indifference on the part of the people of this country toward the danger that threatens them from Soviet Russia. The few American newspaper men who have been permitted to enter Russia have been unable while there to write of the actual state of affairs under Soviet rule. They were allowed to see only what the Communists wanted them to see, and their dispatches were censored and they were virtually prisoners all the time in Moscow. It has been impossible therefore for the public to be acquainted with the true conditions in Russia. I may say, however, that the State Department has been accurately informed of all that is going on there."

Upon the General Committee of this movement, there are now chosen representatives of thirty denominations co-operating in its program and its effort.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opened at a Decline of from 6 to 17 Points, but Later Rallyed.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, June 26.—The cotton market opened at a decline of from 6 to 17 points under continued selling encouraged by favorable weather map and unfavorable trade advices. There was trading buying of July, however, as well as considerable covering for over the week end and July rallied from 35.85 to 36.10; and from 32.85 to 33.13 for October, or about 3 to 13 points net higher.

Raw Silk Prices Recovering

New York Times. The Yokohama raw silk market has advanced about 200 yen per picul in the last week, and Shinshu No. 1 is now quoted a 1,800 yen. According to cables received here by H. L. Gwalter & Co., white silks of good quality are getting scarce, and yellow silks, in consequence, have come closer to the parity of the whites. Holders are reluctant to sell forward deliveries, expecting higher prices. Stocks on hand at Yokohama are estimated at 24,500 bales, of which barely a third is considered fit for export. At Canton, under the upward revision of exchange, prices have advanced 50 cents a pound, with the end of the rise not yet in sight. The third crop now is estimated at only 7,000 bales of questionable quality. Shanghai is very firm, and quotations on steam flatures are above the parties of Japanese silks. Better European buying has strengthened prices at Milan. Locally an active business is being done at advancing prices.

Will Not Revise Print Prices

New York Times. Jobbing buyers who have been expecting revisions of prices on prints and percales in the near future are going to be disappointed unless something new unforeseen comes up. According to an executive of one of the leading printers, no revisions are expected before the first of October so far as his house is concerned. Summing up the situation yesterday, he said: "We are sold up on prints and percales until the end of September. No production is coming through, so there is no need of changing price now. Consequently, I do not expect to see them revised before October 1."

SIMS-DANIELS ROW IS REVIVED TODAY

Admiral Decker, Who Was Removed from Command During the War, Makes Charges Against Secretary.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, June 26.—The Sims-Daniels row over the Navy's conduct of the war was revived today with the publication of a letter from Rear Admiral Benton C. Decker, commandant of the 7th naval district, Fla., in which he charges that Secretary Daniels in his testimony before the Senate investigating committee "intentionally and deliberately" misrepresented certain acts of Rear Admiral Sims, Fullam and Fiske.

The letter, dated June 17 and addressed to Chairman Hale, of the committee, was published in the Army and Navy Register, a service magazine. Admiral Decker said he also had sent a copy of it to Secretary Daniels, Secretary Hale is in New York.

Admiral Decker formerly was a naval attaché at Madrid, but was removed during the war. Secretary Daniels stated that his removal followed representations from Ambassador Willard to the State Department that he was unwelcome on diplomatic functions in his activities there.

The Admiral declared in his letter that "from my personal knowledge of Mr. Daniels' character I am led to believe that whatever is cited in his statements to the discredit of the officers is so perverted as to give the actual facts a false meaning."

"It is probable and more than likely," Admiral Decker's letter said, "that if these officers had bowed down and served the gods that Mr. Daniels worshipped they would today have been fattening on the navy as commanders of fleets in pleasant jobs. To me as to other high officers of the navy, it has come that if we would bow down and do the wishes of Mr. Daniels we would receive the rewards therefor. Intimations that come by circuitous routes and underhand speaking ways, so that no one can take hold of them."

"My explanation of incidents set forth by Mr. Daniels is based on my personal experiences with him. This explanation is that Mr. Daniels found these officers would not follow him to the limit of demoralizing the navy; that even though they desired the promotion and rewards for their career which all honorable men reasonably desire, they were unwilling to sacrifice their character, their manhood and their country. And as a result Mr. Daniels' determination to break them by the use of all the power of his high office, by the use of ridicule, sarcasm, that as a newspaper man he has learned to use so skillfully; by the use of the strength of publicity secured through his newspaper connections, all the weapons which Prussianism used to destroy its enemies and autocracy has used through the ages to maintain its power."

"In my opinion, all credit is due to these men that they have fought to the end and upheld the standard of uprightness, loyalty to country, self-sacrifice, hard work and gentlemanly conduct, attributes that the ideal naval officer has always revered."

"I have no desire in this letter to bring out my personal experiences with Mr. Daniels but he knows of them and he knows, if he knows the difference between right and wrong, that he has been dishonest, that he has abused his power; that he has done all this for unworthy motives."

Chicago Has Coal Enough For Only Three Days. (By the Associated Press.) He appealed to the public to cut the consumption of water as low as possible to save coal for the city.

At the annual meeting of the board of Trustees of the Methodist Children's Home at Winston-Salem Tuesday, Superintendent Walter Thompson, who has made a splendid record, was re-elected for another term. The other officers were also re-elected.

The Progressive Republicans of the West will give him about as many votes as they did Taft in that campaign.

NO CHANGES MADE IN LIST OF NAVY RECOMMENDATIONS.

Except for the Addition of Some New Names.—Board Reopened by Secretary Daniels.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, June 26.—Except for the addition of new names, practically no change has been made by the Knight board in the original list of recommendations for award of the war service decorations, members of the board said today. The board was re-opened by Secretary Daniels more than six months ago to reconsider the recommendations after the media awards controversy between Rear Admiral Sims and the Naval Secretary which resulted in a Senate investigation.

The board's second report was submitted to Mr. Daniels just before he left for San Francisco to attend the Democratic convention and he has not yet thoroughly examined it. When he re-opened the board the Secretary said he would transmit their second report to the President without an amendment.

ALLIES ARE MASTERS OF MATTERS IN NEAR EAST

State Library. As well as Elsewhere, Says Marshal Foch, and Can Employ All Their Forces to Carry Out Policies.

ARE IN COMPLETE HARMONY, HE SAYS

The "Greek Army Is One of Our Assets, and We Are Using It in the Corporate Interests," He Continued.

(By the Associated Press.) Paris, June 26.—The allied nations are masters of the situation in the Near East as elsewhere, and in complete harmony, and can employ all the forces at their disposal to carry out their policies which are soberly proportioned to their interests," said Marshal Foch in an interview today.

"The allied position in the Near East," the Marshal declared, "is that of a liability company limited in which no shareholder can say it was his capital that made the company's operation successful. The Greek army is one of our assets and we are using it in the corporate interests."

Dismissing the German disarmament, he asserted that this matter was not the destruction of 1,500 cannon, but the overcoming of the "hostile and militarist spirit of the German people."

"If such a spirit," continued he, "should again be translated into action the arm it would use would be the most terrible and swiftest on earth—the airplane. The way to guard against renewed aggression is to increase the distance that separates us from the enemy. When we leave the Rhine Germany is in snatching distance of Ostend from which she would lay London waste between dusk and dawn. Until that spirit dies down it is our duty to see that our precautions are never abandoned."
