All of the Sinte officers were present when the esavention convened, and Mrs. William H. S. Burswyn, of Raicith president, presided. The convention was welcomed on hehalf of the Organization for their bynity and support to the institution. Mrs. R. M. King greeted the deligates on behalf of the hostess circle, assuring all that the Stonewall Circle was delighted to have the convention meet in this city. The response was made by Mrs. M. H. Staey, who declared it was fitting, in view of the past activities of the loval circle, that it should entertain the State convention. The President spoke briefly, pointing out the accomplishments of the organization during the past year, and mapping out some of the aims for the organization during the coming year. Her message was followed by an address by Hon. E. R. Preston, of Charlotte, who spoke on "Progress of Humanities." The speaker declared that the work of the King's Daughters and some made his subject the more fitting, and te dealt at some length on the many accomplishments of the organization for humanity.
