

COUNTRY CLUB PLAN MEETS WITH FAVOR

Live Wire Boosters Including Both Men and Women, Back the Proposition as a Community Asset.

MEDICAL MEN ARE STRONG FOR IT

Reports From Kannapolis State Citizens There Are Eagerly Interested and Anxious to Do Their Part.

The plan of organizing a country club on the Kannapolis highway, if executed, will bring more real benefit to the people of the business and industrial life of this community, provided they go there and find recreation in the open, than a train load of medicine, said a well known physician yesterday after reading the announcement that plans for the country club had been revised.

"There is no excuse for a man becoming inefficient around 50," he continued, "and why do hundreds of them continue to do so? Because they decline to take advantage of exercise in open air. They keep burning energy but refuse to build a reserve supply. What is the result along about 55 or 60? Bad kidneys, high blood pressure, poor digestion—the finish."

"If the men and women of this community would throw off the cares of work for a few moments a day or even a few days a week and really play at a country club the vitalizing influence it would have would be felt in every sphere of the community's life."

"The country club is a real institution in practically every town of consequence in the country," said a live wire citizen in offering his support. "Why should Concord not have one? There is no reason. Now that the opportunity is here I am in favor of taking advantage of it and boosting the proposition along. Its an asset to the community and that is just exactly what this community needs—more building and boosting of things and institutions that add to the social and civic life and make up community spirit. I am for it 100 per cent."

"What makes one community a more enjoyable place to live in than another?" asked a thoughtful citizen when requested for his opinion and support of the plan to build a country club on the Kannapolis highway. "It is because one community will have proper places for clean, pleasant and health building amusements and another community will have no such place. Students of social welfare and educators have declared for years that one of the problems in America's life was how to get the most out of recreation and play hours. I believe the outdoor life of a country club is the best answer to the problem for a community as a whole. Why a country club has not been established here long ago is surprising to me when I consider the resources of this section."

"It is either a country club and efficiency from open air exercise for me or in a few years, gout, rheumatism, 'Bright's,' high blood pressure or something equally as terrible," replied a young business man who is just striking his business stride in his early forties. "I know if I continue work and I must—I am going to have to build a reserve physical force to maintain my efficiency. The medical experts say fresh air and regular exercise are the only way it can be done. That, in addition to the club being a big asset to the community, is why I want to be listed as a supporter of it."

NAVAL EXPERTS MAKE FAVORABLE PROGRESS

In the Examination of Details of the American Proposal for Reaction of the Naval Forces.

ANOTHER PLENARY SESSION AWAITED

At the Session the British and Japanese Delegations Are Expected to Submit Counter Proposals.

Washington, Nov. 26. (By the Associated Press.)—So much progress has been made by the naval experts examining the details of the American reduction plan, that some of the arms delegates expect that another plenary session may be held in the near future to allow Japan and Great Britain to submit counter proposals in concerted form.

The American and British naval experts today were said to have virtually completed their examination of the technical points involved in Secretary Hughes' proposal. The Japanese experts, however, were still considering the figures and facts involved. The British were said to feel that highly satisfactory progress had been made, but their spokesmen would not indicate the trend of the expert examinations beyond stating it was certain the submarine question would be one of the chief points concerned in an agreement reached by the conference. There is a strong belief in Great Britain, it was said, that the conference will be an unqualified success unless some action is taken to curb the size of future "undersens navies," similar to the steps proposed as to the surface fleets.

A. A. Adee Nears Four-Score

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—More than a century in continuous service in the diplomatic branch of the government, mostly in high station, is the record accomplished by Alvey A. Adee, the veteran Assistant Secretary of State, who tomorrow will enter upon his eightieth year. Mr. Adee began his diplomatic career as secretary of legation at Madrid, in 1877, he became a clerk in the State Department, a year later was made chief of the diplomatic bureau, and in 1882 was promoted to be Third Assistant Secretary of State. Thirty-five years ago he was appointed Second Assistant Secretary, and almost any time might have been First Assistant Secretary had he cared to fill the post. Probably no other American diplomatist of to-day is so extensively known in his field of activities as Mr. Adee, and few of the diplomatic notes issued from the State Department in many years have failed to receive his careful editing and commendation. In official and diplomatic circles Mr. Adee is famous for his remarkable memory. He has at the tip of his tongue accurate data on most every incident of international law in which the United States has been concerned and his memory for persons is as unusual as his memory for historic facts and legal matters.

Republican Minister Raps Wilson

New York, Nov. 24.—"Speaking as a Republican, and as a strong admirer of our present national leadership, and believing that there were faults of method and of policy in the previous administration, nevertheless I pray that Woodrow Wilson may live to see the abatement of the bitter reaction against him, and a return to a saner appreciation of his virtues and ideals," said Rev. Dr. R. W. Stockman, preaching at the Madison Avenue M. E. Church today.

The End of a Perfect Day

CELEBRATES HIS HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Capt. George Cathey Taught School for Almost Eighty Years.

Raleigh, Nov. 26.—Capt. George Cathey, who taught school in Georgia and North Carolina schools for almost 80 years, is celebrating his 100th birthday at the North Carolina Home for Confederate Soldiers here today. He is enjoying remarkably good health, having the use of all his faculties. Capt. Cathey was born near Danville, Va., on November 26, 1821, and began teaching when he was 18 years of age. With exception of the time he served as Captain in a Georgia regiment during the War Between the States, he continued to teach until two years ago. His last school was in Alcoa, Tenn. In the neighborhood of North Carolina, various chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy today showered Capt. Cathey with gifts, including handsome furniture for his room at the home. Capt. Cathey has three daughters living in Georgia, and one son in Charlotte.

PREMIUM OFFERED FOR NORTH CAROLINA BONDS

Ten Million Dollar Bid by a New York Concern Turned Down by Governor.

Raleigh, Nov. 25.—Application for the purchase by a New York concern of about ten million dollars of North Carolina bonds, at a premium, was turned down after a conference today with the governor and council of State. A representative was here and talked with State Treasurer B. R. Lacy. The state is not ready to dispose of any more bonds at the present time, it was announced, but officials were pleased to know of the demand existing for the bonds. The premium offered on the bonds was a substantial one.

FOOTBALL CLAIMED TEN VICTIMS IN PAST SEASON

The Death List Was Three Less Than Last Year—Majority Members of High School Teams.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Football claimed 10 victims during the 1921 season, which closed with Thanksgiving Day games, according to reports to the Associated Press. The death list was three less than in 1920, and three above the toll of two years ago. Ten lives were lost as a result of games in 1918; 12 in 1917; 18 in 1916; and 15 in 1915. As in former years, the majority of the youths killed were members of high school teams. Figures apparently uphold the contention of football experts that proper training and physical condition greatly minimized the dangers of the game, for only one man killed was a member of a college eleven. One was a member of a semi-professional team, one was a member of a naval school, and the remainder who did not receive football training and physical inspection given in colleges.

TWO MILLION DOLLAR FIRE IN AUGUSTA, GA.

Nearly Half a Block in Business Section Stands a Mass of Ruins, Including the Albion Hotel.

AUGUSTA-CHRONICLE WAS A TOTAL LOSS

Fire Started at 1:45 O'clock This Morning in Johnson Building, Corner Jackson and Broad Streets.

Augusta, Nov. 26.—Nearly one-half of the 700 blocks of Broad Street in the heart of Augusta's business section stands a mass of ruins this morning as a result of a fire that started at 1:45 o'clock in the Johnson building, corner of Jackson and Broad, and rapidly ate its way through the Harrison building and the Albion Hotel and one section of the J. B. White & Company department store.

The loss to buildings and stock is estimated at approximately $2,000,000 as the buildings loss alone will run around a million and a half. The entire eastern side of the 200 block of Jackson street, which is a part of the Johnson building, is totally destroyed. The following buildings were in the path of the fire: Johnson building, total loss; Harrison building, total loss; Nestor Hotel partly burned. The Augusta Chronicle, a local morning newspaper, the quarters of which were in part of the Harrison, also is a total loss.

J. B. White & Company store, which was also in the same building as the Albion Hotel, is partly burned and is water damaged throughout. The pieces of business destroyed on Broad Street were: Liggett's Drug Store; F. E. Ferris & Company, clothing store; John J. Miller & Company; Gardells Drug Store; A Lion Hotel, and men's clothing department of J. B. White & Company.

Special Agent E. H. Hinson Will Have to Make Full Report to Prohibition Office

Washington, Nov. 26.—Action by prohibition headquarters in the case of the recent raid on a private home in Savannah, said to have been without warrants, awaits report of special agent E. H. Hinson, prohibition agents said today.

Commissioner Haynes wired Mr. Hinson yesterday to transmit a full account of the circumstances of the raid which led to a protest to President Harding by Mayor Stuart of Savannah.

The heads of three Women's Christian Temperance Unions of Savannah telegraphed Senator Harrison, of Georgia, today a defense of Mr. Hinson's action.

The message said its signers as "Christian home builders" of their city, "desire to state emphatically that we heartily approve the earnest and efficient efforts of E. H. Hinson to bring to light liquors stored here for use, and to secure punishment of the offenders."
