

No Serious Disorders In North Carolina Today

Situation at Rocky Mount Is Practically Unchanged and Both Sides Now Apparently Are Marking Time.

SOLDIERS REACH THEIR DESTINATION But So Far Have Not Been Ordered to Actual Strike Centers.—Workers at the A. C. L. Shops Quit Jobs.

(By the Associated Press.) Rocky Mount, July 18.—While picketing continues and other minor violations of the Federal injunction issued by Federal Judge Connor at an early hour Sunday morning no untoward news were reported up to noon today in the strike of railroad workers here.

Both sides are marking time in the matter and the railroad officials are demanding that unless protection is given for workers they may employ no more and they state that this condition may be expected to result at any time in an annulment or suspension of train schedules. However, up at noon today all had been maintained and were running on scheduled time.

Raleigh, July 18.—Companies of State guardsmen which left Camp Glenn late yesterday under order of Governor Morrison, had arrived early today at Wilson, Durham, Rockingham and Raleigh, where they are being held in readiness to move at a moment's notice in the event of further violence at points where railroad shopmen are on strike.

THE REFORMED CHURCH MISSIONARY CONFERENCE Definite Class Work Begun Monday Morning—Attendance Is Large.

Newton, N. C., July 17.—The Reformed Missionary Conference at Catawba College, began definite class work Monday morning. The attendance was swelled Sunday afternoon and Monday morning, people coming through the country. The rural churches have a good representation, especially from Davidson, Rowan and Cabarrus Counties.

The speaker for Sunday night was Dr. William G. Seiple of Sendai, Japan. He has spent 17 years in Japan, has studied the life of the people, knows their language and literature.

There are 25,000 pores in the hand of a man. The afternoons are given to sleep, rest and recreation. The dining room is overcrowded, some of the people waiting for the second round. The food is in abundance and well prepared.

Dr. Seiple is thoroughly convinced that there is still a great need for the American Christian Missionary in that land as a pioneer and educator. There are less than one-half of one per cent. of the people who are baptized Christians.
