

BIG NISSEN BUILDING IN WINSTON BLOWN UP

One of the Largest Buildings in Winston-Salem Is Totally Destroyed by an Explosion.

LOSS ESTIMATED TO BE $500,000

William E. Chatman, 18-Year-Old Boy, Employed in a Harness Company Makes Confession.

(By the Associated Press.) Winston-Salem, Aug. 26.—The Nissen building occupied by the W. W. Smoak Harness Co., and the Crawford Mill Supply Company was totally destroyed, and the Liberty Cafe, the Nevada Shoe Store, the C. D. Kennedy Co., and the general store of Technam Bros., were badly damaged by fire early today. The loss is estimated at $500,000. The portion of the Nissen building occupied by the harness company was blown up by gasoline, it is alleged by Wm. E. Chatman, an 18-year-old boy, who was captured by officers as he was leaving the building a few seconds after the explosion which shook the entire downtown district of the city. While handcuffs were being placed on Chatman, the young man confessed, according to the arresting officers, that he had blown up the building. According to his statement, as given out by the officers, Chatman did it on account of a grievance which he claimed he had suffered at the hands of W. W. Smoak, owner of the harness business. The boy explained, the officers said, that he saturated the entire upper part of the building with gasoline, and had intended to place a fuse in a 5-gallon can filled with gasoline, and make his escape before the explosion went off; that in lighting the fuse, however, the gasoline on the can became ignited and blew up the building before he could get away. In his confession the young man stated that he had no confederates.

Chairman Cummins, of the committee, who had produced the measure, declined to discuss the situation in the committee, but Senator Pomerene, democrat, of Ohio, declared that several members were insistent on having hearings, and that he was confident that both the mine owners and the workers would be given an opportunity to express their views on the proposal before there was final action.

TO END RAILROAD AND COAL STRIKE

Government Will Take Over the Railroads and the Coal Mines in the Event It Becomes Necessary.

AWAIT FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Another Meeting Between Both Parties to the Dispute Will Likely Be Held During Next Week.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Aug. 26.—The Federal administration was preparing to bring the anthracite coal and railroad strike situations to an early culmination today, with Federal operation of the anthracite mines and some of the railroads under consideration should that become necessary to protect the public welfare. Another White House conference to consider this course was in prospect today.

Further developments in both the coal and rail situations were awaited by the administration before proceeding further in its policy of Federal operation, as discussed at a conference last night between President Harding, Chairman Cummins, of the Interstate Commerce Committee, and Attorney General Daugherty.

Administration overtures in the anthracite situation were believed today to have assumed another meeting between the two parties to the dispute next week, and hopes that a final adjustment would be reached then were based on a certain proposal it was believed would be presented to the conference. The question of bituminous production, now gradually getting back to normal, entered into the conference discussion only from the standpoint of transportation, and it was the view of officials that the ability of the roads to move coal may prove the determining factor as to the necessity for Federal operation of the carriers.

It was obvious from the statements of members that the measure will not have an easy course through the committee, several senators suggesting that any alterations of the Interstate Commerce Act, was of such importance that a hasty action should be avoided. It was said that at the committee meeting advocates of the measure denied that it could be considered as price-fixing legislation, while others declared the delegation of such broad powers was filled with the danger of developing real price fixing.

Modern Girl, the Flapper, Denounced by Bishop Denny.

North Wilkesboro, Aug. 25.—Using as a text, "Whereupon, Oh, King Agrippa, I Have Not Been Disobedient Unto the Heavenly Vision," words spoken by Paul, Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Va., delivered a masterful sermon last night from the pulpit of the Wilkesboro Methodist Church, and this brought to a close his itineracy of the North Wilkesboro district. Bishop Denny was heard by a congregation which filled the large church to capacity. He spoke for more than an hour, and counseled his hearers to have high ideals, for the individual is governed by the ideal and by the vision he entertains. The noted churchman condemned the modern girl, or the "flapper," for wearing clothes which show too well the personal charms. Accompanying Bishop Denny here was Rev. J. W. Williams, presiding elder of the district, who has been with the bishop on his itinerary.

Mr. John Benfield has under construction a five room house on Academy street, which he will occupy in about three weeks.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP BRIDGE FAILS

The dynamites apparently were amateurs, according to the authorities, for the explosive was placed on a piling cap and when it exploded it only splintered the piling.

Sweden to Vote on Liquor.

Stockholm, Aug. 26.—The liveliest interest is being displayed throughout Sweden in the special election to be held tomorrow to decide the question of the prohibition of intoxicating liquor. Both the "wets" and the "drys" have waged an active campaign that has been carried to every nook and corner of the Kingdom. For weeks the newspapers have been devoting columns of space to a discussion of the problem, with the result that public interest in the election has been raised to a high pitch. The movement to reinitiating the liquor traffic in Sweden has been gaining momentum rapidly in recent years, with the consumption being steadily increased through a campaign of education on the effects of alcohol. Action of the United States in outlawing liquor was a great boon to the prohibition movement in Sweden.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opening Fairly Steady at Advance of Two Points on May.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, Aug. 26.—The action of the cotton market during today's early trading was again regarded as reflecting the effects of opposing influences. The opening was fairly steady at an advance of two points on May, but generally 12 to 25 points lower under renewed liquidation and Southern selling, promoted by unfavorable view of the German outlook and the continued uncertainties of labor conditions on the railroads and in the hard coal mines. The market ran into a good demand around 21.80 for December, however, and soon rallied to 22.00 on reports of an increasing business in the cotton goods and bullish crop advices. This advance met renewed realizing and was not fully maintained, the early market being nervous and irregular. Cotton futures opened fairly steady: October 21.70; December 21.80; January 21.85; March 21.90; May 21.90. Closed Steady. Cotton closed steady: October 21.93, December 22.04, January 21.90, March 21.90, May 21.91.

Charlotte Thinks It Has a Chance to Get Big Hospital.

Charlotte, Aug. 24.—In the tendering of an option on the Presbyterian hospital for establishing the proposed hospital of the University of North Carolina here, Charlotte feels that it has a fine chance of securing the hospital.

The option was given by the committee having charge of investigating the matter. The proposition was taken up with the various Presbyterian churches of the city and county in conformity with the desire of the hospital trustees that this be done before an option on the property be given. A majority of them, it is said, were favorable. The Presbyterian hospital plant is valued at more than $500,000. The committee will have to assume a note of $125,000 laid against the property was given by her brother, the late George Watts, of Durham. The plan is to have a committee from Charlotte go before the legislature at its next session. The Presbyterian hospital site is the most beautiful in the state for hospital purposes, it occupying a whole square with one of the beautiful groves to be found in the south.

PEACE EFFORTS ARE DEFINITELY STOPPED

Railroad Executives and the Shop Craft Leaders Today Aligned Their Forces for Fight to Finish.

BOTH SIDES ARE PREDICTING VICTORY

"We Are Going Home to Start Real Fight, if It Lasts Indefinitely," Declared Mr. W. F. Ryan.

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Aug. 26.—With the peace efforts launched by the big five brotherhoods definitely abandoned, railroad executives and shop craft leaders today realigned their forces for a finish fight in which both sides predicted an early victory. "We are going home to start the real fight, whether it lasts three weeks or three months," declared W. F. Ryan, president of the car men's national brotherhood, as he prepared to leave for Kansas City to direct the activities of his branch of the shop crafts. "Our organizations have plenty of funds to conduct a long fight. And our men are willing to make the sacrifices needed for a decisive victory," he concluded.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ARE BLOWN SKY HIGH

Rail Strikers Maintain That They Never Authorized Big Five to Suggest Individual Settlement of Strike. New York, Aug. 25.—The rail strike today developed into a fight to the finish when peace negotiations were blown sky-high.

Heads of the Big Five railroad brotherhoods, acting as mediators between executives and striking shopmen in the final effort to effect separate settlement with the individual roads after the Association of Railway Executives as a whole had rejected the running trades' first peace overtures, reported to the representatives of 77 railroads at the Yale Club this morning that the shop crafts had turned down a proposition made to them yesterday by the carriers. Negotiations then were sharply broken off, executives, striking leaders and brotherhood chiefs packed up their bags and began leaving town to prepare for a test of endurance.

Before he departed for his headquarters in Chicago, Bert M. Jewell, official spokesman for the strikers, asserted he believed the executives who had lingered for the parley on individual settlements soon would be enabled to "bring home to their hard-shelled colleagues the railroad situation in its grim reality." "We shall be content to let the condition of equipment prove that the railroads cannot operate with unskilled strikebreakers," declared Mr. Jewell, adding later that "we can and will fight for our terms and for a nationwide settlement."

Labor leaders then dispatched telegrams to all parts of the country, calling upon strikers to renew the struggle with redoubled vigor.

The latest peace proposal, centering as was the case with all the others on the question of seniority, briefly was that roads, interested in individual settlements would pledge themselves to find employment for all strikers not convicted of acts of violence; would not curtail pension rights "or other privileges"; and would agree to submit to a commission of 10 brotherhood leaders and executives all disputes which could not be settled by direct conference. The strikers, who have maintained that they had not authorized the Big Five to suggest individual settlements, rejected this proposal with the explanation that it did not guarantee seniority to the men who might return on one-third of the country's roads, and at the same time would destroy the effectiveness of the strike being carried on on the other two-thirds.

Then, from the mediating brotherhoods came the statement that they reluctantly notified all concerned that they considered further peace efforts futile and had nothing more to suggest.

School for Women Magistrates.

London, Aug. 26.—A summer school for women magistrates, believed to be the first of its kind ever held, will be opened today at St. Hilda's College, Oxford, and continued through the coming week. Every subject with which a woman magistrate may be expected to have to deal will be discussed. The school will be under the direction of Miss Mandam, a former director of the school of social studies at Liverpool University, but the magistrates' section will be under the special direction of Miss Margery Fry, one of the first women to be appointed a justice of the peace. A feature of the program in which much interest is manifested will be a session devoted to "Recent Developments in America," which will be opened by Thomas Mott Osborne, the noted American penologist. Other subjects which will receive attention will include "Licensing Reform," "Juvenile Delinquency," "Women's Policy," and "The Institutional Treatment of Criminals." Escaping from Russia recently cost a refugee the sum of 900,000,000,000 rubles. Before the war this would have represented billions of American dollars, but the ruble has now practically no value at all.
