

FINAL ARMISTICE IS SENT TO ISMET PASHA

The Angora Government Was Given by Allied Generals Until 5 O'clock Today to Accept or Reject It.

IS FINAL WORD OF GREAT BRITAIN

"It Now Rests With the Angora Government Whether We Will Have Peace or War," Says Harrington.

Mudania, Oct. 10 (By the Associated Press).—The Allied generals have drawn up the final armistice and sent it to Ismet Pasha, the Turkish nationalist representative.

The convention as submitted to the nationalist assembly, contains the following specifications: 1. That the Greek evacuation of Thrace be carried out within 15 days.

Constantinople, Oct. 10 (By the Associated Press).—The signing of the protocol armistice at Mudania is expected to take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon, according to an announcement by the Havas agency, the semi-official French news organ.

"We have gone to the extremity of concessions," declared Gen. Harrington. "The revised armistice convention is a gratifying manifestation of allied solidarity in war or peace. It is my earnest hope that the Turks appreciate the liberality of our terms. If they reject them we are prepared for all eventualities."

London, Oct. 10.—The question of peace in the Near East now rests with the Turkish Nationalists Assembly at Angora, which has before it the armistice conditions laid down by the allied powers.

Meanwhile the Mudania conference has been adjourned and the allied generals have returned to their headquarters in Constantinople to await the Turkish decision.

THE FIRE TOLL

Wrecklessness Cause of Three-Fourths of the Loss of Life and Property by Fire.

(By the Associated Press.) Chicago, Oct. 10.—Carelessness is the cause of three-fourths of the annual fire toll of 15,000 lives and property worth half a billion dollars, according to George R. Muldaur, general agent of the Underwriters' laboratories in an address broadcast simultaneously from twenty radio stations tonight as part of the observance of the Prevention Day, the anniversary of the Chicago fire of 1871.

"The time to put out a fire is before it starts," he said. "No amount of fire extinguishing apparatus can cope with universal carelessness. By the education of the public, industrial organizations and school children to view fire carelessly, indifference and selfishness, the desired result can be brought about."

"What do you know about the fire hazards existing in your own house? When did you last go over the house with a view of seeing if any danger exists? Where is the nearest fire alarm box? Do you know how to operate it? What do you know about the condition of your children's school? Is it fireproof? Are there plenty of exits? Has it fire escapes? Do they have fire drills? Are the motion picture theatres to which you and your family are in the habit of going properly protected?"

Wilson, president of the North Carolina division of Daughters; and Mrs. Joseph Daniels are among the speakers for the evening session.

CLAIMS DRY AMENDMENT NEVER LEGALLY ADOPTED

Jersey Executive Clerk Says Congressional Record Shows "Fluke" in Proceedings.

Trenton, Oct. 6.—John J. Farrell, executive clerk of Governor Edwards, a former newspaperman and expert on legislative proceedings, has prepared an article for the New Jersey Graphic, published in Trenton, and of which advance copies were given out today in which he maintains the Eighteenth amendment resolution was never adopted by both Houses of Congress, as provided by the Constitution. He presents excerpts from the Congressional Record on which he bases his claim that prohibition does not legally exist.

"The record has never been submitted to the Supreme Court, presumably because it was not questioned," declared Farrell. "It shows, however, officially that the so-called Eighteenth amendment submitted to and ratified by several of the State Legislatures, did not pass in the manner in which it was submitted."

"This happens to be the fact because the resolution, consisting of two sections originally introduced and passed in the Senate when received in the House and referred to the Judiciary Committee of that body, was reported out of us as it had been received, or with slight amendments, but as a brand-new resolution, containing three sections instead of two, containing matter never contemplated in the original resolution and in that manner it and not the resolution which passed the Senate, passed the House and the one which passed the House never passed the Senate."

Farrell reproduces the two resolutions and goes into what he describes as "the skeletonized bald record taken from volumes 55 and 56 of the Congressional Record showing the history of the so-called resolution so far as Congress was concerned, from start to finish."

"Has an Eighteenth amendment to the Constitution ever been adopted, or are the American people the victims of the greatest national legislative fluke recorded in history?" asks Alfred E. Thorpe, editor of the paper, in the editorial accompanying Farrell's article. It declared that article makes it clear that the Eighteenth amendment may be brought before the United States Supreme Court on an entirely new issue with every reason for believing that the Supreme Court will hold that the Congressional Record proves Congress did not legally pass the national prohibition amendment."

The Pennsylvania Railroad carried 152,000,000 passengers last year without the death of a single person by accident. Two hundred and thirteen persons were killed by automobile accidents in the borough of Manhattan alone in six months. How many are killed in the whole country each year we do not know, certainly several thousand. About two thousand a year are killed on grade crossings. Many of these deaths are caused by sheer incompetence, inexcusable carelessness or intoxication. Highway officials would do the country a service if they were stricter in taking away the licenses of those who are convicted of reckless driving. That would not stop all accidents, but it would prevent a great many that under present conditions do occur.

ASA CANDLEBROKE HIS ENGAGEMENT WITH WIDOW

Because of Reports Reflecting on Her Character, She Says.

(By the Associated Press.) Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Oneilina Debonchal, of New Orleans, whose engagement to Asa G. Candler, Sr., Atlanta capitalist, was announced some weeks ago, made public here today a statement asserting that Mr. Candler broke the engagement because of reports brought to him reflecting on her character.

Mrs. Debonchal said Mr. Candler refused and still refuses to furnish the names of the persons he said accused her. She issued the final statement following a conference between her and Mr. Candler here.

Mrs. Debonchal, came to Atlanta from Marietta, having reached there Sunday from Charleston. Before leaving Marietta she said she telephoned Mr. Candler and asked him to see her. On reaching Atlanta she said she engaged a suite of rooms at a local hotel and informed Mr. Candler over the telephone of her arrival.

"Mr. Candler and his son, it was declared, came to the hotel and were in conference with Mrs. Debonchal for nearly an hour.

"Mr. Candler was very much broken up," Mrs. Debonchal said, "I felt sorry for him. He told me he still loves me and wants to marry me and not to believe this idiotic slander which had been taken to him and yet he refused to give me the name of the man or men who accused me. I cannot understand his attitude. He told me he was wrecked and unhappy and did not care whether he lived or died. He said he would prefer for me to go home and wait a while and then announce breaking of the engagement and give as my reason anything detrimental to his character that I might see fit. Of course I would not do such a thing for I know nothing against his character though I insist he owes it to me to give the names of those accusing me."

"These reports, according to him, were that during a Confederate reunion in Atlanta three or four years ago, when I had the honor of being chaplaine general and when I was attended every moment, I had solicited two men to visit me at a hotel at night.

"These reports had been brought to him, he said from reliable sources he was bound to believe just before taking a train for the wedding. They would, he said, follow me wherever I might go.

"This hideous slander and Mr. Candler's reception of it and his saying my future is ruined have broken my heart, but it will not break my will. I have faith that God will give me courage to defend myself.

"I have come here against all training and instincts, but a good name is all a good woman has, and I mean to subvert the men who contrived this scheme behind the bars if there is any justice in Georgia."

CIRCUS ELEPHANT ESCAPES

Became Enraged at the Barking of Dogs—Overturned Several Automobiles.

(By the Associated Press.) Wilmington, Oct. 10.—Search for a circus elephant that escaped early today while the animal was being loaded into trains terrorized the residents of Carolina Place, a suburb, was being continued this afternoon by three men from the circus.

Barking of dogs was said to have enraged the elephant and he charged them through yards, across lawns, knocking down fences and overturning several automobiles in his dash. He was headed for Greensfield swamps and was later reported near Sunset park. No one was injured and the elephant is expected to be found before night-fall.

"BOOSTER'S DAY" IN "SALESMANSHIP CLUB"

Best Time to Enter the Drive and Earn Fine Auto is Right Now—Get Your Name in Next List.

"ONE SUBSCRIPTION SURE" IS THE SLOGAN

One Subscription on "Booster's Day" Will Afford a Great Advantage to Get an Early Start in the Race.

The Tribune and Times have nothing but praise for the valiant workers who have enlisted under the Salesmanship Club banner. Some have already begun an active campaign and are meeting with success. Their enthusiasm grows with each day that passes.

Crowded days are coming—crowded nights, too. One follows the other. Just as Mr. Shakespeare long ago declared: "When the club members put in a good day the club members put in a 'throw'er in high,' and sometimes the lights in the office are burning far into the night. But it is the sort of work that is worth while. It means that things are going right, that the Salesmanship Club is forcing right ahead—that all eyes are centered on the coveted goal and that the enthusiastic members are 'on the job.'"

"Booster's Day"

Saturday, October 14th, (next Saturday) will be "Booster's Day" in the Salesmanship Club. "Booster's Day" is the day set apart for special endeavor—a "get-together" day. The idea is to have everyone who has enlisted his or her name as an active member secure and send in at least one subscription upon that day. Scores of folks are seriously contemplating entering the "Circulation Drive" and competing for the big prizes. They want to send in the nomination coupon and get busy immediately so as to have their "Booster's Day" subscription. Let's everybody pitch right in and make Saturday a "Booster's Day" in every sense of the word—a day long to be remembered by the clerks who handle the subscriptions. The benefits of securing at least one subscription on Saturday will be a starting subscription for the majority of the members.

Has Just Begun

The Salesmanship Club officially opened yesterday. There are many towns which have no representatives in the drive up to the present.

Many vote coupons have been received. He credited to Club members when the list appeared. These vote coupons will appear in the next list. A great number, in fact, most of those who have been nominated thus far have made no effort to get subscriptions. "Booster's Day" affords them this opportunity to "break the ice," so to speak, to secure one of those subscriptions which will help decide the ownership of the big automobiles.

What It Will Mean

Just think what securing one subscription Saturday will mean to the workers in the Salesmanship Club. In looking over the next list of Club members one will be able to easily discern those who have secured subscriptions from those who have only secured vote coupons. By those who are really sincere in their efforts to win one of the big automobiles by sending in one subscription on "Booster's Day" will enable the Club manager to publish the votes due upon this subscription which will in turn show just "Who is Who."

If you will follow this advice you will find that it will do you a world of good. In the first place it will give you an even start—a ground floor start, so to speak, and you will have an even break with your competitors, and will also show what you can do when you make up your mind. In the next place, this subscriber whom you secure on "Booster's Day" will become a worker for you. It naturally follows that the more workers and boosters you have, the more votes you will secure. Your "Booster's Day" subscriber will become enthusiastic in your behalf, and before the race ends will more than likely secure another subscription for you. Who knows but that one subscriber on Saturday will mean at least a dozen or more before the end of the drive?

"One Subscription Sure"—Now is the Time

From the number of inquiries that have been received during the past few days regarding this feature of the club, and that one, it is very evident that there are many who are contemplating entering the race and competing for the rich prizes. One person called up this morning before the Club manager had time to open his desk, and requested a receipt book and full particulars regarding how to win one of the big automobiles. "I hope I am in time to get my name in the list," she said. "I am going to hustle in some vote coupons so they may appear also," she added.

Bear This in Mind. In order to be awarded one of the big cars, all one needs to do is to get a majority of votes. Meaning that the more workers there are in the race, and actively competing for the prizes, the easier it will be to win. The work will be more evenly divided among the workers, and it necessarily follows that one can win an automobile with a less number of votes. Clip out the nomination coupon which

CHECK FLASHER WORKED IN CONCORD SATURDAY

Secured $40 From Local Minister and Made Getaway.—Claimed to Be Mill Superintendent.

A check flasher, posing as a minister, secured $40 from a local Baptist minister Saturday night, and would have made his getaway $45 but for suspicion of the management of the St. Cloud Hotel. The man left immediately after securing his money, and nothing has been heard of him since.

The man who gave J. L. Curtis as his name, went to the home of the minister about dark Saturday night. The minister was not at home and his wife entertained the stranger until his return. The minister declares that after being introduced to the stranger as 'J. L. Curtis, superintendent of the Lorry Mills at Gastonia,' he asked about the various ministers and churches in Gastonia, and in each instance the stranger showed wide knowledge of the subject under discussion. Finally Curtis declared that he had been to Statesville with an friend in an auto; the friend has gone on to Greensboro and he found after leaving his friend that he had but 30 cents in his pocket. He did, however, have a check for $65, drawn on the Charlotte National Bank and signed by 'E. J. Mellon.' He asked the local minister if he would exchange a personal check for the Charlotte check, as he was not known here, but could get the minister's check cashed.

The minister agreed to the exchange. The stranger went to the St. Cloud Hotel and presented the check. The minister in the meantime had notified the hotel that he had issued the check and asked that it be cashed. When Curtis presented the check the manager of the hotel carried him to the National Bank and had the signature verified. He then told Curtis, whom he suspected, that he could not let him have but $20 then, but would give him the other Sunday morning. Curtis objected, declaring he needed the money then, though he was registered at the hotel. Finally the management gave him $40. Curtis fairly grabbed the money and left.

Nothing has been seen of him since. When the minister went to get his check cashed he found that it was no good, that E. J. Mellon had been dead for a number of years and that no one connected with Mellon's had written the check.

DEATH OF COPPER MAGNATE

Isaac Guggenheim Died Suddenly Today at Southampton.

Southampton, Oct. 10 (By the Associated Press).—Isaac Guggenheim, American capitalist and copper magnate, died here suddenly today.

Mr. Guggenheim came here from London yesterday to meet Henry W. Marsh, who arrived on the Aquanania. Both stayed at the principal hotel.

Just before retiring Mr. Guggenheim complained of pains in his chest which he attributed to indigestion. This morning he was too indisposed to take breakfast and a physician was sent for, but Mr. Guggenheim died before the doctor arrived. He had not been in the best of health for some time.

A coroner's inquest will be held this afternoon to consider whether an autopsy is necessary. Mrs. Guggenheim and her daughter are on their way to Southampton and will arrive here this afternoon.

Probably the largest single organization of workers in Great Britain is the Workingmen's Club and Institute Union, which has just celebrated its diamond jubilee. It has a membership of 2,300 clubs, containing 1,150,000 members.

There are 65 millions acres of land that can be reclaimed. They are swamps, periodically swamps or overflowed lands and tidal marsh. Rapid strides are being made to reclaiming and, according to the United States Road Bureau, more than 54 million acres were reclaimed up to 1920.

appears at the bottom of this page and fill it in with your name and address. Full particulars and receipt book will be sent you by return mail, or better still pay the Club manager a personal visit. The office is in the Tribune building. Now, altogether, friends and workers, one subscription sure on "Booster's Day." Let's all get together and make it a "Booster's Day" in every sense of the word. BRITISH CALL IT A "K PROPOSAL"

London Morning Papers Devote Much Space to Ruling of Daugherty Prohibiting Liquor on Vessels.

AMERICAN VESSELS WILL BE THE LOSERS

The British Liners, It is Said, Will Undoubtedly Transfer Their Sailings to the Canadian Ports.

London, Oct. 10 (By the Associated Press).—London morning newspapers which hitherto have given little prominence to the ruling of Attorney General Daugherty in Washington prohibiting liquor on vessels within American waters, devoted considerable space to it today, printing interviews with shipping men, reports of the general feeling in the trade, details as to the liquor sales on liners and speculation on changing ports of destination in the event the ruling is upheld and enforced.

It is stated that a meeting of the members of the North Atlantic conference will be held in London this week at which the restriction will be discussed. It may also come up today at the usual weekly meeting of the conference in Liverpool but it is not supposed that final action will be decided on at that meeting.

The interviews published by the newspapers confirm the general attitude ascribed to British ship companies—That is: "We shall say nothing and do nothing." In some quarters there is comment on the "crank proposal," as it is called and the belief is declared that it is likely to be soon dropped when Americans realize they will be the chief losers as the British liners undoubtedly will transfer sailings to Canadian ports.
