

ARMY DIRIGIBLE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Recently Completed a Trans-continental Flight and Reached San Antonio on Way Back to Washington.

SEVERAL OF THE CREW WERE HURT

The Machine Caught Fire on the Framework of the Hangar as It Was Being Taken Out.

(By the Associated Press.)

San Antonio, Oct. 17.—The army dirigible C-2, which recently completed a transcontinental flight and reached San Antonio on the way back to Washington, was burned early this morning while being taken from its hangar at Brooks Field preparatory to a flight over the city. Several of the crew were hurt, one seriously.

The dirigible was destroyed. It caught fire on the framework of the hangar as it was being taken out. The gas split and the gas ignited. In the car of the dirigible at the time were members of the crew and several passengers. They escaped death, but first reports said several were burned serious and one had an arm broken.

Just how the accident occurred had not been learned at an early hour. The dirigible was being taken out of the hangar. The wind caught it and threw it against one of the big doors at the entrance.

The passengers heard the hissing of the gas and a few moments later the gas from some unknown cause, possibly friction, became ignited, going up in a flash.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL FOR WHITE STAR LINE

Says Real Issue Is Whether the Mere Presence of Liquor in Foreign Ships Violates 18th Amendment.

New York, Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Whether the mere presence of liquor in sea stores on foreign vessels comes within the scope of the 18th amendment and the national prohibition act is the real issue in Attorney General Daugherty's dry ship ruling, said Van Vechten Veeder, counsel for the White Star Line in arguments today before Judge Hand as to the validity of the ruling.

Mr. Veeder declared that foreign vessels have been allowed to carry liquor in their sea stores ever since prohibition became effective, and this right was not questioned until October 6th, when the Daugherty opinion was promulgated.

Mr. Veeder was the first of a number of lawyers for American and foreign ships to present argument before Judge Hand on the hearing of temporary injunction restraining enforcement authorities from putting into effect the ruling forbidding all ships leaving port after October 31 to carry liquor in their sea stores.

Mr. Veeder asserted the rights of foreign vessels in respect to carrying liquor were not questioned until it became desirable "on the grounds of expediency."

The question of liquor on government owned vessels of the United States was raised, he said, when it was pointed out that to remove liquor from them would result in unfair competition with foreign craft.

30,000 REFUGEES LEAVE ADRIANOPLE

Greeks and Armenians Have Passed to the West Since Saturday—Road is an Unbroken Line.

GO THROUGH STEADY DOWNPOUR OF RAIN

Plodding, Doggedly Toward Their Unknown Destination, Driven Forward by a Nameless Fear.

(By the Associated Press.)

Adrianople, Oct. 17.—Thirty thousand Greeks and Armenians have passed from this city to the west since Saturday and the road is an unbroken line of men, women and children, with ox carts, cattle and camels.

Through a steady downpour of rain they are plodding doggedly toward their unknown destinations, driven forward by the nameless fear which has gripped the whole populace of eastern Thrace since the government's bulletins were posted on Saturday announcing the terms of the Mudania armistice which provide for occupation of the province by the Turks within 48 days.

The members of the allied missions stationed here declare the extent of the refugee exodus indicates that the Turks upon their entry will find eastern Thrace almost uninhabited.

The procession has been orderly, but the misery of the refugees is already extreme, and pneumonia will claim many victims if the present bad weather continues.

Two More Examined in Murder Mystery Mrs. Francis Stevens Hall and Willie Stevens Examined by New Brunswick Authorities.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mrs. Francis Stevens Hall and her estranged brother, Willie Stevens, were taken from the court house by Detective Fred Davis today for further examination by authorities investigating the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Bluehart Mills.

Shortly before their arrival, county prosecutor Benjamin C. Souter, and Stricker of Middlesex, who have predicted at least two arrests before night—began questioning Henry Stevens, another brother of Mrs. Hall.

Charlotte Mills, daughter of the slain choir singer, was taken from her class in High School and accompanied to the court house by a State trooper.

The authorities later planned to question Miss Florence North, attorney for Charlotte Mills, to ask her as to the authenticity of letters purporting to have been written by Mr. Hall to Mrs. Mills, which were published this morning by a New York newspaper.

The letters, couched in eulogistic terms of the most extravagant nature, were reported to have been obtained from Charlotte. The authorities want to know how the newspaper was able to obtain them when they were withheld from those seeking to solve the double slaying mystery.

State Fair Opens Gen. Pershing the Central Figure—50 Per Cent. More Exhibits Than Ever.

Raleigh, Oct. 17.—With Gen. John J. Pershing, chief of staff, and General of American armies, the central figure, the sixty-first North Carolina State Fair opened here today with 50 per cent. more exhibits than at any previous event.

Judging of exhibits began at the Fair Grounds at 9 o'clock, but general interest in the morning centered in the parade which was led by General Pershing and reviewed by him. At noon the fair was formally opened in accordance with the immemorial custom by the Governor of North Carolina, who was introduced by Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt, President of the North Carolina Agricultural Society. Governor Morrison was followed by General Pershing in the address of the day.

General Pershing arrived early this morning and was met at the station by a committee of 100 citizens headed by Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, chairman of the general reception committee. The general then was escorted to the executive mansion where he was entertained at breakfast by Governor Cameron Morrison.

The Cotton Market Opened Steady at an Advance of From 1 to 13 Points on Steady Liverpool Cables.

New York, Oct. 17.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 13 points owing to relatively steady Liverpool cables and very bullish overnight reports from the cotton goods and yarn market, but advances met southern selling and a renewal of liquidation. This eased prices after the call, with December soon selling off from 22.00 to 22.37, or about 5 points net lower.

Cotton futures opened steady: December 22.00; January 22.40; March 22.50; May 22.45; July 22.20.

COURT CASES

Monday Day in Cabarrus Superior Court—Large Number of Cases Disposed of.

Judge Walter E. Brock, of Watersboro, and not Judge T. B. Finley, of Whites County, is presiding at the October term of Cabarrus Superior Court, which resumed Monday morning.

The two judges have exchanged districts for the Fall of 1922. Judge Brock delivered his charge to the jury in a forceful, masterful manner, and then court started immediately to work. The number of cases disposed of Monday probably established a record for this county.

In addition to numerous cases which were disposed of for various reasons, the following cases were disposed of:

W. A. Freeman, charged with selling liquor. Fined $100.

Felty Faggart, charged with larceny. Pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the chain gang for 12 months.

George Collins and David Baker, charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Defendants each entered plea of nolo contendere. Prayer for judgment continued for three years upon payment of costs, all to be paid by Baker.

Fred Blair, charged with larceny. Pleaded guilty and sentenced to the roads for 12 months.

Stam Torrence, charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Judgment ordered by the court not guilty.

Stam Torrence, charged with disorderly conduct. Pleaded guilty. Prayer for judgment continued for 2 years upon payment of costs and good behavior.

Rascomb Tucker, charged with nuisance and assault. Verdict of guilty in both cases, ordered by the court. Prayer for judgment continued for 2 years upon payment of costs and good behavior.

Caleb Archibald, charged with assault with a deadly weapon in two cases. Defendant entered plea of guilty in both cases, and was fined $50.

AMERICAN LEGIONNAIRES CAPTURE NEW ORLEANS

The Occupation of the Crescent City by the Legion Complete.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 17.—The occupation of the Crescent City by the American Legion is complete. Coming in force from all directions, the American veterans of the World War, the soldiers who distinguished themselves on the battlefields of France and Flanders in Russia and Siberia, the sailors who braved unseen foes in the transport of great armies across the seas—these have captured every strategic position and command all communications. Accompanying them are a great host of other visitors, including mothers, wives, children and sweethearts.

The Louisiana inchstring hangs on the outside, but no one has had an opportunity to pull it as the door has been kept constantly open to admit the thousands of visitors who in peaceful invasion of the city.

On the program this is the second day of the fourth national convention of the American Legion. The local committees have prepared for the entertainment of 150,000 visitors during the week and the present indications are that this high figure will be reached. On the big days of the program when the parades and other spectacular features of the gathering will be held, it is anticipated that tens of thousands of sightseers will pour in from all points within a radius of a hundred miles or more of New Orleans.

The Legionnaires will put the Mardi Gras, for which New Orleans is famous, to shame during their five-day stay in the city. They will stage a parade, the like of which the South has never seen, and the city will respond by outdoing itself in the way of decorations and entertainment. Some of the attractions will include a naval review, in which battleships of all the allied nations will participate, banquets, dances, pageants, radio shows, aero meets, river and plantation sightseeing trips, track events, wrestling, boxing, marksmanship. Following the convention trips will be arranged to Havana, Cristobal, the Canal Zone and Port Limon, Costa Rica.

Two questions of outstanding importance to come before the business sessions of the convention are the so-called "adjusted compensation" and the care of disabled veterans. It is a foregone conclusion that President Harding will be taken to task for his veto of the measure which Congress passed, and that the Senate will be criticized for sustaining that veto. Of equal, if not greater, importance than adjusted compensation is the care of the disabled. There have been many indications that Legionnaires throughout the country are not entirely satisfied with the treatment of the sick and of the wounded. They appreciate that conditions in hospitals and institutions now under the direction of the Veterans' Bureau are better than they were a year or two ago when they were under the dual direction of the War Risk Insurance Bureau and the United States Public Health Service, but they believe that there is still room for improvement and they will so express themselves.

Politics is already occupying much of the attention of the delegates to the convention. The choice of the next national commander is a subject of discussion wherever a group of veterans congregates. Who the successful candidate will be no one can foretell at this time. Indeed, it seems to be the consensus of opinion that a dark horse will win this highest honor in the gift of the members of the organization. Practically every State has its candidate, some more than one, and a battle royal promises to be waged on the floor of the convention.

METHODISTS MEET IN MONROE TOMORROW

Thirty-Third Annual Conference Will Be Presided Over By Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Virginia.

CONFERENCE HAS PASTORAL CHARGES

Reported That Dr. George R. Stuart Will Be Appointed to the Pastorate of Asheville Church.

(By the Associated Press.)

Monroe, N. C., Oct. 17.—Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, will preside over the annual meeting, beginning here tomorrow of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The annual conference, which will bring together the leading Methodist pastors and laymen of the western part of the state, representing eleven districts and 274 pastoral charges, will be advised, it was reported, that its total membership now is almost 125,000, and that contributions to all causes since the last conference amounted to $1,724,350.

Reports that the Rev. George R. Stuart, for the last five years pastor of the First Methodist Church in Birmingham, would be transferred to the Central Church in Asheville, are expected to be confirmed or dispelled only when the conference comes to the question "where are the preachers to be stationed this year?"

The answer to this question, which is not expected to be taken up until late next Monday, also will settle the appointments for the coming twelve months. One presiding elder and 21 pastors have completed the four-year terms at various places, and many other changes are expected.

ATLANTIC VOYAGES IN TINY CRAFT

Expected to Cross Atlantic in a Twenty-Five Ton Yacht.

New York, Oct. 17.—Wide attention has been attracted by the announcement of the Duke of Leinster of his intention to cross the Atlantic in a little twenty-five-ton yacht, accompanied only by a Scottish gillie, a man who knows nothing of the sea or of seamanship.

At first glance it would seem that the young British nobleman has undertaken rather a risky job, but, after all, the yacht in which he proposes to make the trip across the big pond is more than twice the size of Captain Joshua Slocum's craft, the Spray, in which he, single-handed, sailed round the world. And the Spray was only an old oyster boat, about a century old, which Slocum rebuilt with his own hands. It is another interesting note that this bold mariner could not swim.

Even smaller craft than the Spray have successfully crossed the Atlantic from America to England. The record belongs to the two Norwegians who "rowed" across in the Fox, a tiny boat eighteen feet long, five wide, and drawing but four inches of water.

These two daring navigators left New York with provisions for sixty days, and proceeded safely for about a month, when a heavy sea capized the boat. Yet they righted her, got aboard and baled her out. But they had lost all their provisions, their sea anchor and cooking utensils, and had to starve. Sixty-two days after leaving New York, they arrived safely in Havre.

The records for crossing the Atlantic in the smallest boat and in the quickest time belong to that wonderful mariner, Captain Andrews, known as "The Lonely Skipper."

Hearing that a man named Johnson had crossed in a twenty-foot boat, Andrews got one made on similar lines, but only sixteen feet in length. On his first trip he was accompanied by his brother, and they did the voyage in forty-five days, landing in Cornwall.

Later, the Captain decided to try a single-handed voyage in an even smaller boat. This, which was named "Sawtooth," was a collapsible affair, only fourteen feet long, and five beam. He reached the Azores in thirty days, and thence safely made the coast of Spain. The last boat in which Captain Andrews crossed was the Doree. She was but twelve feet long, and, when folded up, her crew was able to carry her under his arm.

Another most daring voyage was that of Captain Adolph Feitch, in an open boat built entirely by himself. He started from Milwaukee in April, 1894, and reached New York by way of the Great Lakes, the Erie canal and the Hudson. After a rest here he left for Queenstown. Five hundred miles out a heavy sea split his rudder, rendering the little craft quite helpless. With enormous risk and exertion he succeeded in roughly repairing the damage, and on the thirty-fourth day after leaving New York made Queenstown.

Still another of these adventurous mariners was a Captain Gardner, who started from Sheehobee, Nova Scotia, bound for Falmouth, England. The craft was fifteen feet long and five wide. It was spoken by several ships and begged to give up the attempt. He declined all offers of assistance and persevered in his object. Later the wreckage of his little boat was seen nine hundred miles west of Gibraltar, but nothing was ever heard again of the unfortunate skipper.

BOOSTER'S DAY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Big Extra Vote Offer is Encouragement to New Members and a Determined Effort is Being Made.

BANNER PERIOD OFFER ENDS SATURDAY NIGHT

240,000 Extra Votes on $30.00 Clubs Ends at That Time With a Big Drop in Votes Next Week.

(By the Associated Press.)

Well, Booster's Day was a success in every sense of the word. It was a big day at the "Club" headquarters and thousands of votes were received to be credited the enthusiastic members. Several new names were received and added to the list as a result of Saturday's activities.

As a result, the list Wednesday will present an entirely different appearance from the last time it was published. It will be noticed that several new ones have prominent positions in the line-up, and that those who have already begun an active drive have added substantially to their scores.

Pleasant Work. Getting subscriptions to The Tribune and Times is a pleasant diversion. People like these two newspapers for their excellent news service and many features. Those who have already begun an active campaign for subscriptions report that their friends are glad to subscribe to The Tribune and Times when offered the convenient opportunity to do so.

Everybody Wants Them. Nearly everybody one speaks to takes The Tribune or Times and has been doing so for years. Those who have not had the good fortune to become a regular subscriber are very live prospects.

Inasmuch as old subscriptions count almost the same number of votes for the club members as new ones, one readily recognizes the vast opportunities to secure a big vote total. Your next door neighbors are taking the papers right now. The folks across the street from you are taking the paper most likely. On every hand there are prospects for thousands and thousands of new subscribers.

Autos Draw Attention. The interest being displayed in the prize automobiles is natural enough, too, for living in this mild latitude seems to call for a motor car. The miles of well paved roads are constantly inviting one to the great outdoors and those who have a motor car of their own can enjoy in greater measure the delight of outdoor life.

In the "salesmanship club" it is possible to acquire any one of the three cars without cost and it is apparent that the club members who have been nominated thus far mean to lose no time in availing themselves of this unusual opportunity.

Enter the Race Now. All that is necessary in order to earn one of the fine automobiles is a desire to own a good car and be willing to work for it during spare hours for a period of ten weeks. The campaign has just started and will go forward with great strides as soon as all nominations are in. Let this serve as a special invitation to you to join in the profit sharing competition and earn a fine automobile. You can do it, and what's more, you can do it easier than you ever dreamed of in case you decide now.

At The Theatres. Dick Hatton is again the star at the Pastime today in the western feature, "The Golden Flame."

June Novak again today is playing the leading part in "
