

SUPREME COURT GIVES THOMAS A NEW TRIAL

Decision is Handed Down Today.—Case Was Tried at Concord at the January, 1922, Term of Court.

KILLED A. J. ALLEN LAST OCTOBER

Was Under Sentence to Serve Eighteen Years in the State Penitentiary.—Has Been Out Under Bond.

(By the Associated Press.)

Raleigh, Dec. 13.—The Supreme Court today handed down a decision granting a new trial to O. G. (Red) Thomas, Charlotte automobile salesman, who was convicted in Cabarrus County of second degree murder in connection with the killing of A. J. Allen at Kannapolis near Concord last October. Thomas was under a sentence of 18 years in the state penitentiary.

The court held that Judge J. Bis Ray had failed in his charge to the jury to state "in a plain and correct manner the evidence in the case, and to explain the law relating thereto."

Thomas admitted that he shot and killed Allen with a pistol, but contended he shot in self defense. The shooting occurred near Kannapolis on the night of October 25, 1921.

The trial of O. G. (Red) Thomas in Cabarrus County Superior Court here last January created statewide interest. Thomas was charged with first degree murder for the killing of Allen in Kannapolis on the night of October 25th, 1921, and after a trial lasting almost two weeks, he was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to serve 18 years in the State penitentiary. Judge J. Bis Ray presided at the trial.

The case was one of the most important criminal cases ever tried in this county. During the entire trial the court room was packed, and interest in the case continued until the final night session when the jury returned its verdict after being out less than three hours.

Some of the best lawyers in North Carolina appeared in the case. The defendant was represented by E. T. Caniser, of Charlotte, John J. Parker, of Charlotte, John M. Oglesby, J. Lee Crowell and J. Maness. A. Vanhook and Sherrill, of Concord, Solicitor General Hayden Clement was assisted in the prosecution by L. T. Hartsell and H. S. Williams, both of this city.

Immediately after being sentenced Thomas took an appeal and his bond was fixed at $20,000, which was furnished by several Concord men. His case was not heard by the Supreme Court until several weeks ago, when Mr. Parker argued it before the State's highest court. The court's decision had been expected since last week.

It is not known here today just when the second trial will come up. It is possible that a change of venue will be asked, though attorneys for Thomas have not intimated what action they would pursue should the Supreme Court grant a new trial. Cabarrus Superior Court convenes again in January, and it is possible that the case may come up again at that time.

Since his conviction here last January Thomas has been living in Charlotte selling automobiles. The killing of which Thomas was tried occurred in Kannapolis on the night of October 25th, 1921. While riding with Mrs. Robert Lowe, prominent woman of Kannapolis, Thomas testified at his trial, he was accosted by an unknown man who asked "Are you following me?" When Thomas answered in the negative he testified that the man said, "Then throw up your hands." At this command he was shot, he testified, not knowing who he was shooting at, and not knowing that he had shot the man until after he reached the business section of Kannapolis a few minutes later.

Allen was known to Thomas, and the two men had had business transactions. It was brought out at the trial and Thomas testified that he had nothing against Allen, would not have shot had he known who accosted him, but that in the dark he could not tell whether the person who approached his car was white or black.

JUDGE OPPOSED TO CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Judge Lyon Announces This Decision After Sixteen Years on the Bench.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 13 (By the Associated Press).—After sixteen years on the bench, during which I sentenced the first man to die in North Carolina's electric chair and have passed the death sentence on five others who were executed, I am more than ever opposed to capital punishment.

Judge O. C. Lyon, now in Raleigh presiding over his last term of superior court, today made this statement to The Associated Press while discussing his experiences and the impressions he had gained while serving as a jurist.

"I would be more active in my opposition to capital punishment," he said, "if it were not for the fact that a majority of persons convicted of crimes carrying long terms of imprisonment either escape or are granted clemency within a few years. Very few of them ever serve their complete sentences."

"Still, I believe capital punishment has fulfilled its purpose and is not humane."

Although seventy-two years of age, Judge Lyon is very active. His face and figure give him an appearance typical of a jurist. His hair and mustache are white, but the blue-gray eyes that peer at one from behind steel-rimmed glasses are clear and steady.

"Sixteen years is long enough for a man to spend at one job," he smilingly retorted when asked why he was retiring.

"When I became judge of the superior court, I reached the height of my ambition. As a youngster I used to drive into Elizabethtown and there I invariably found my way to the courthouse, where I listened to the trial of cases. I resolved then that my goal in life was to become a superior court judge."

Judge Lyon's early education was interrupted by the war between the states and the resulting convalescence, but later he attended the Mayville high school in Bladen county and then studied law in the offices of his older brother, the late Robert H. Lyon, at Elizabethtown. He was admitted to the bar in 1872.

In 1893 he was appointed solicitor-general of his district by Governor Aycock, and a year later was elected for a term. He was elected judge of the seventh judicial circuit in 1906 and re-elected eight years later.

"Attorneys of the present day," said Judge Lyon in reply to a question, "as a whole are not as eloquent and unorthodox as those of olden times."

"There who has been another change," years ago lawyers were forced to take all the cases that came to them in order to make a living. Today, they are specializing in the different phases of law and handling only certain kind of cases," he said.

Judge Lyon is the father of four children, three of whom are boys and one a girl. They all have followed their father's profession. One daughter, Mrs. J. M. Clark, resides at Elizabethtown.

Homer L. Lyon, the oldest son, is a member of congress from the sixth North Carolina district, having been nominated over H. L. Godwin, incumbent, in 1920, elected and re-elected in 1922. Before being elected to this office, he was appointed solicitor-general of the eighth judicial circuit and served for six years.

Terry A. Lyon is practicing law in Washington, D. C. During the war he was assistant judge advocate, with the rank of major, of the thirty-seventh division. J. Alden Lyon is practicing in Elizabethtown.

Lucky Royal Servants. London, Dec. 13.—The festive season costs King George at least $40,000. Each of the four hundred and fifty servants employed in the royal palaces receives a present valued at about fifteen dollars. In addition, there are eight hundred estate employes at Windsor, Balmoral and Sandringham, each of whom receives a gift varying from five dollars to twenty-five dollars in value.

A short time before Christmas His Majesty makes a list of the charities to which he wishes to send donations, and about $15,000 is spent in this way. An enormous amount of food, consisting of beef, currants, raisins, and suet, is distributed to the poor from the royal kitchens at this time of the year.

The royal family spend Christmas very quietly. Many of the servants are allowed to go to their homes for about ten days, the King paying their expenses.

Legionnaires Will Give Police a Rest. Greenville, S. C., Dec. 7.—Members of the American Legion will police the city of Greenville on the night of December 28, while the police department is enjoying its annual banquet. It was announced here.

Mt. Pleasant is the place, Saturday night is the time, at eight o'clock. Go to the auditorium downtown.

THE TURKS REFUSE HOMES FOR ARMENIANS

Will Not Assign Any Special Part of Turkey as a National Home for the Unfortunate Armenian People.

NEW ATTEMPT TO DISMEMBER TURKEY

Says Ismet Pasha, Who is Irreconcilable on Other Points Concerning Treatment of Minorities.

(By the Associated Press.)

Lansanne, Dec. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Turkey refused at today's session of the near east conference to assign any special part of Turkey as a national home for the Armenians. Ismet Pasha declared this would mean a new attempt to dismember Turkey.

Ismet Pasha was irreconcilable on other points concerning the treatment of minorities in Turkey. Besides declaring that Turkey would not set aside an inch of Turkish soil for an Armenian national home, he said she would not accept regulation of rights of minorities by an international commission in Constantinople or elsewhere.

Lord Curzon warned Ismet Pasha that there would be no sympathy anywhere in the world for Turkey if the conference broke down on the question of the treatment of minorities.

After a long and unsatisfactory discussion the entire question of minorities was referred to a sub-commission.

NO ACTION TO BE TAKEN AGAINST YOEMANS

Prohibition Director Kohless Makes This Statement Today.

Raleigh, Dec. 13.—No action will be taken against Capt. Walter Yoemans, of the Coast Guard Station at Portsmouth, N. C., who was accused by a witness in the trial of Arthur Coleman, owner of the "Message of Peace," and Claude Graham, super cargo, charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, of having a lantern while Coleman removed liquor from the vessel for sale to two Boston sportsmen, R. A. Kohless, federal prohibition director, for North Carolina, stated today.

Yoemans was on the vessel at the time the alleged sale was made in the capacity of a coast guard officer, rendering assistance to a ship in distress," said Mr. Kohless, "and was not in charge. The 'Message of Peace' is a British vessel, and while it was a violation for the liquor to be sold at Ocracoke, I do not think Mr. Yoemans knew this, as this is one of the first cases of its kind that has been handled in North Carolina."

The director said he did not know whether the Treasury Department, under which Captain Yoemans works, would take the same view of the charges.

THE COTTON MARKET

Yesterday's Sharp Advance Followed by Moderate Reactions.

New York, Dec. 13.—Yesterday's sharp advance was followed by moderate reactions in the cotton market at the opening today. There was no overnight change in comment on yesterday's government crop report, but Liverpool was relatively easy and the market here opened at a decline of 1 to 8 points under liquidation and Southern selling.

Cotton futures opened steady: December 25.05; January 25.05; March 25.20; May 25.31; July 24.97.

GOVERNORS TO CONFER

White Sulphur Springs, Va., Dec. 13.—Everything is in readiness for the fourteenth annual conference of Governors, the sessions of which will begin here tomorrow and continue through the remainder of the week. The deliberations will be participated in by an unusually large number of State executives, together with many of those who were elected to governorships in November, but who have not yet been inducted into office.

The conference this year promises to be the most important as well as the largest of its kind that has been held. Many problems of government, dealt with in the papers, addresses and discussions which will be included in the three-day program.

WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKET IN ASHEVILLE

Market Is Being Organized by Officials of the Farmers' Federation in Asheville.

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 13.—Arrangements for the establishment of a wholesale produce market in Asheville to be operated on a large scale for the purpose of supplying local and outside dealers at the same time providing an outlet for surplus products of Buncombe and adjacent counties, are being completed by officials of the Farmers' Federation here.

Bolin Hall, of Waynesville, will be in charge of the marketing; W. E. Clark, of Asheville, the books and records, and Joe Davis, of Waynesville, the poultry and egg department. The produce market will open in Lexington street, building about January 1, it was stated.

Automobile truck lines into all the adjacent territory will be operated from Asheville by the federation, officials said, and arrangements are being made to send all surplus produce to foreign buyers.

Four warehouses of the company in Buncombe and Henderson counties will serve as headquarters for their respective sections, according to the plans.

THE FUTURE SITE OF MEREDITH COLLEGE

Discussion Set For Special Order in Baptist State Convention Today.

Winston-Salem, Dec. 13.—Much interest pervades the Baptist State Convention this morning in view of the fact that the discussion of the future site of Meredith College is set as a special order for non-day. Advocates of the location of greater Meredith College are ready for the debate, while others will oppose that location and strive to have the trustees locate the school at Wake Forest.

Last night the hospital committee reported approaching completion of the Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem, the first Baptist hospital in North Carolina. Rev. G. T. Lumkin has been selected as superintendent. The institution will be ready for occupancy March 1st. The total cost including the equipment, will be approximately $100,000.

Cotton futures opened steady: December 25.05; January 25.05; March 25.20; May 25.31; July 24.97.

CLEMENCEAU SAILS FOR HIS HOME TODAY

War Time Premier of France Leaves on the Steamship Paris, Declaiming He Will Come Again.

WILSON BIDS HIM FAREWELL

The Aged Statesman Appeared in Fine Health and Good Humor as He Took His Place on the Deck.

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 13 (By the Associated Press).—His speaking mission ended, Georges Clemenceau, war-time premier of France, sailed for home on the Steamship Paris today, declaring he would return again "but only as a ghost."

The aged statesman who closed his strenuous tour with a short speech before the American committee for de-stabilized France last night, appeared in fine health and rare good humor as he took his place on the upper deck to watch New York vanish behind him.

The Tiger's farewell message to America was given in the form of two telegrams, one to Woodrow Wilson and one to Otto Kahn, banker, in answer to farewell messages, which, it was said, were typical of thousands received at the last minute.

The messages exchanged between former President Wilson and Clemenceau follow:

"Allow me to bid you affectionate farewell and to congratulate you on the admiration you have won from our people. All good fortune attend you." "WOODROW WILSON."

MOTOR VEHICLES PAYING MUCH TO STATE TREASURY

Auto Licenses and Gasoline Tax Bring About $2,000,000 Into State in Fiscal Year.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 13 (By the Associated Press).—With approximately 182,000 motor vehicles now registered, North Carolina's revenue from this source amounts to $2,826,075.26. For the fiscal year period July 1 to December 1, an increase of $257,709.18 over the entire amount for 1921, according to an announcement by the secretary of state tonight.

The gasoline tax from July 1 to December 1 added to the revenue from motor vehicle license fees the total collections to about $3,000,000, which indicates, according to Joseph Sawyer, motor supervisor of the department, who prepared the statement to be submitted to the general assembly, that the income from these sources will show a record increase for the fiscal year.

For the fiscal year ending November 30, 1921, the total collections made by the state for registrations and transfers of motor vehicles reached $1,181,148. Large increases have been recorded each succeeding year. The number of cars jumped from 1688 in 1911 to 147,969 in 1921.

Automobiles Build Fortunes For Lucky Marylanders

Baltimore, Dec. 13.—Twenty years ago the Pennsylvania Railroad gave away an old bridge over the Susquehanna River at Havre de Grace to private interests; the building of a new bridge had made it, apparently, valueless. Automobiles ever since have been crossing the structure in increasing numbers, and the men who got the bridge for nothing in 1910 recently sold it to the state of Maryland for $385,000. And in the 12 years it was in their possession, they pocketed $370,000 in dividends, all in toll charges collected from motor cars.

When the new bridge made the old one of doubtful use, the railroad company offered it first to the state and then to the county, but without success. If no one accepted it, the company was confronted with the necessity of removing it, which would have been very expensive. So finally the company changed it from a railroad bridge to a highway bridge, and considered itself lucky in finding a group of Maryland men who consented to accept the structure, which originally had cost $2,000,000, as a gift.

The recipients put up $700 to organize a company. Last year the net returns from the bridge were $65,000. The state will continue to collect tolls until 1928, by which date it estimates the proceeds will retire the bonds issued against the purchase price of $385,000.

Cotton Mills Increasing Capital Stock

Raleigh, Dec. 13.—Amendments to the charter increasing the capital stock of the Erwin Cotton Mills Company of Durham from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and of the Kessler Manufacturing Co. of Salisbury from $500,000 to $1,500,000 were granted by Secretary of State Grimes today.

John Sprunt Hill was named as vice president in the petition of the Erwin Cotton Mills Company and C. A. Cannon, president of the Kessler Manufacturing Company.

Preparatory to its improvement, a survey of the Yantze River is shortly to be undertaken. A hydraulic engineer to the Philippine Government, and formerly of the United States Reclamation Service, has been engaged by the Yantze River Commission as survey engineer.

The first woman in the United States to apply for admission to the bar was Myra Bradwell, of Chicago, in 1870.

FRENCH PROFESSOR MAKES POWERFUL MARINE DISCOVERY

Announces the Invention of an Electric Depth Finder.

Paris, Dec. 13.—Ships may proceed safely through fogs or shallow channels, lost vessels landed with treasure may be discovered and floating mines located by the electric depth finder, the invention of which has just been announced, according to Professor Langevin, the inventor. Professor Langevin holds the chair of general and experimental physics in the College of France.

"During the war I began work in this direction for the purpose of helping the allied navies to locate mines," he explained to the Associated Press today.

"However, my work was not completed until after the war. My apparatus has been successfully tried on an extensive scale by the French navy. It is evident, however, that its widest application must be on ships of commerce."

The apparatus is constructed on a wireless wave principle and objects are found within a given radius by means of what Professor Langevin calls "wave echoes." The apparatus is small and may be attached to a vessel's wireless equipment.

"Elastic electric oscillation currents are given off," the inventor explained, "and these radiating in any direction and for any distance more than 15 feet, register any unusual obstacles in the water. When the current strikes an obstacle it is interrupted and sends back to the apparatus the signals which I describe as echoes. If it is desired, one may measure the depth of the sea for several miles."

TRYING TO SOLVE THE RICHMOND MYSTERY

No State Library Has Been Examined for Killing There Monday of Mrs. Thelma Richardson.

WAS GIRL SHOT AFTER QUARREL?

Pollard and West to Be Given Hearing Tomorrow.—Latter Says He Did Not Know Object of Woman's Visit.

(By the Associated Press.)

Richmond, Va., Dec. 13.—With no definite motive established for the killing of Mrs. Thelma Richardson, formerly of Atlanta, who was shot to death last Monday at the home of Thomas Pollard, real estate and insurance man, local police today were working on two theories which may solve what they now consider a mystery.

At the same time they admitted they had failed to establish a motive, the authorities also said they had not ascertained the exact manner in which the young woman was shot.

The body of Mrs. Richardson, accompanied by her brother, Van Pierce Ham, will be shipped from here today to her former home. Mrs. Richardson was formerly Miss Thelma Ham, a daughter of Mrs. Belle Ham, who now resides in the Georgia city.

The theories under consideration by the police are that Pollard shot the girl after a quarrel, probably believing she was about to kill him, or that the stenographer was shot accidentally during a struggle for possession of the pistol which the police say was her property.

Pollard, who is at liberty on bond of $10,000, and J. Mosby West, who accompanied Mrs. Richardson to the Pollard home Monday night, where the shooting took place, and who is now being held under a bond of $500 as an accessory, will be given preliminary hearing tomorrow. Coroner Whitfield also has announced he would conduct an inquest tomorrow.

West claims he did not know the object of the woman's visit to Pollard's home. He said he remained in his automobile while Mrs. Richardson went to the front door and that he did not see which person had the pistol when she shot rang out, nor was he aware these were any quarrel preceding the shooting.

ARMY AND NAVY BILL

Reported Today by the House Appropriations Committee.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 13.—A request that President Harding seek to broaden the scope of the naval limitation agreement so as to include a limitation of construction of smaller types of war vessels and on military and naval aircraft, is included in the annual naval bill as reported today by the House appropriations committee.

Under the bill as brought into the House, the President would be asked to open negotiations with Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan for an agreement which would limit future building of all surface and submarine types of war craft having a tonnage of 10,000 or less, and on all classes of army and navy aircraft.
