blasts your hopes, blinds your eyes and finally damin's your soul. Sin binds you as with a chain, and at last becomes stronger than you are until you are powerless in its grasp.

Adam and Eve had no separation from God until they had disobeyed Him. God says to each one of you as He called to Adam, "Where art thou?" Where do you stand in relation to God? Sin is the cause of physical disease and death. "The sins of the fathers are visited upon the children." Loathsome and malignant forms of disease, bodily pain and mental and physical degeneracy are caused by sin. In some cause cure is possible—but many are incurable—the disease has progressed too far. Thus it is with sin and the soul. It is like a cancer eating into the tissues of the soul, finally destroying it in hell. "Sin when it is finished bringeth forth death." God doesn't send a man to hell! It is sin that does that! If there is a heaven there is a hell, and it is sin that sends you to hell.

Thank God "the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses from all sin." "Tho your sins be as scarlet they shall be white as snow." "Believe in the Lord, Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

About forty persons professed faith in Christ at the close of the service—twelve uniting with the church.

There will be special music tonight by the male quartet.

The Birst Hero Tale

Moses recorded the thrilling scenes in this chapter, Modern the spoil.

1. The Separated Life is Victorious.

Lot had been living in Sodom. He was all tangled up in the world of politics, society and religion that surged around him. He accepted its empty honors, married his daughters to its sons, and suffered in silence the filthy conversation around him. Faith at low ebb, testimony gone, compromised with stimers, he was weak and cowardiy—a fit prey for the vicious assault of satunic power, carried away captive, a defeated Christian of the long ago.

Far up on the hilltops is the man of God, separated from all the entanglements of earth. He is shut up to God, His supreme pleasure, companionship ments of earth. He is shut up to God. His supreme pleasure, companionship with the Eternal. Faith grows strong. Courage fills his soul. He is longing for exploits. His is the strength of ten. He is God's hero. This is but the materialization of the spiritual. God has purposed that all His warriors should be heroes. Alas, many are not willing to pay the price—they are weakened by the lure and giltter of the world. Spiritual victories only crown the daring of the separated. Would you be a victor? "Come ye out from among them and touch not the unclean thing." Victory lies not alone in unbroken defensive, but in glorious unclean thing." Victory lies not alone in unbroken defensive, but in glorious offensive. Armies of the enemy destroyed, captives reclaimed and goods restored. What a record! "More than conquerors through Him that loved us." How this experience rebukes those who step down into the world to elevate it. Go to the theater, the ball-room and the card party—mix with men and you will win them, is the modern siogan. Did Lot save Sodom? The Sunday school teacher who shared worldly pleasures with the young ladles of his class was not wanted as a spiritual guide when conviction of sin distressed them. "Tis ever so. We must be separate to save—only companions of Christ conquer the captors.

II. The Separated Life is independing the victor has always claimed spoil. The king of Sodom would stow upon Abram all the wealth o conquest, but this prince of God higher principle of action. He re back—Begin over again the life of absolute surrender and consecration that leads upward to God. You do not heed God's call because of some sin you are not willing to give up. Turn loose the sins that are separating you from God! It is true that God is g-erywhere. You cannot escape the surrounding presence of God, but the separation in causes is a moral separation. God is all purity, all holiness, "and cannot look upon sin." Sin blasts your hopes, blinds your eyes and finally damne your soul. Sin binds you as with a chain, and at last becomes stronger than you are until you are powerless in its grasp.
