STOP, LOOK, LISTEN BECOME LAW JULY 1

All Motor Vehicles Must Come to a Stop Before Crossing Railroads. Instead of being a mere warning to the public the familiar "Stop, Look and Listen" signs at railroad crossings will become a law after July 1st. The last session of the North Carolina general assembly passed a bill requiring every person driving any motor vehicle on a public highway on approaching grade crossings to stop, look and listen, before passing over the rails. For violations of this law a fine of $10, or imprisonment not more than 10 days, or both, is provided. At the time of its passage the measure met with some opposition by those who claim it is designed to protect the railroads against damage suits arising from grade crossing accidents. It is claimed to be a debatable point as to whether the railroads will be liable for damage in instances where persons who do not stop, look and listen, drive upon grade crossings and sustain injuries. By others the new law is hailed as providing a splendid safeguard to lives and property. A similar law is now effective in Virginia and in other states. Even Siberia Is Overrun With Bootleggers and Stills. Warsaw, June 18.—Even Siberia has its bootleggers and illicit stills. According to a report from Russian sources, out of 1,120,000,000 pounds of corn harvested in the government of Omsk last year 180,000,000 pounds were used for illegal distilling. Within a month more than a thousand persons were arrested for illicit traffic in liquor and 900 stills were confiscated.

DOUGHTON RULES ON DEALERS' TAXES

Regular Dealers Not Required to Pay Second Hand Dealers' Tax. Raleigh News and Observer. Regular dealers in automobiles whose business in used machines is confined to those taken as part payment on new automobiles are not required to pay the license tax imposed on dealers in second-hand automobiles, according to a ruling made yesterday by Commissioner of Revenue R. A. Doughton in response to numerous inquiries. The State law requires a manufacturer's license tax of $500 for each brand of automobile, a salesman's tax of $5 for each make of automobile sold by each salesman and a second-hand dealer's tax of $50. These taxes have heretofore been collected by the State Treasurer and have yielded only about $45,000 a year as against an estimated maximum of $200,000. Commissioner Doughton was entrusted with the collection of the taxes by the last General Assembly and will place special deputies in the field in an effort to collect the full amount. Alfred C. Leonard, Salisbury Citizen. Dies at Pinehurst. Salisbury, June 17.—Alfred C. Leonard, 25 year son of W. H. Leonard, well known jeweler of this city, died early this morning at Pinehurst. The body is being brought home through the country and no funeral arrangements have been announced. Mr. Leonard had spent three years in Arizona for his health and only recently returned to North Carolina. Surviving is the widow, who was formerly Miss Ernestine Reed, of Staunton, Va.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE AS HIS HOME IS DESTROYED

Mr. Joseph Johnson, of No. 3 Township, Lost His Home and Furnishings Last Night. Reports reaching Concord today of the building of the home of Mr. Joseph Johnson, of No. 3 township, last night, told of the narrow escape Mr. Johnson had during the fire. The home of Mr. Johnson was burned last night about 11 o'clock and the home and most of his household effects were consumed in the blaze. According to a report here today Mr. Johnson himself had a narrow escape. The blaze was discovered by one of Mr. Johnson's sons, who had been to Poplar Tent for a ride. Coming home the son entered the house and soon heard a roaring sound above the stairway leading to the second story of the house. Soon the roaring noise became louder and the young man went to a window to see what was causing the noise. It was then that he saw the flame and smoke gushing from a window on the second floor of the house. Practically the entire upper story of the house was burning by this time, and the son only had time to get the members of the family out of the house before they were all driven back by the heat. For this reason only a few pieces of furniture were saved. One insurance man stated this morning that Mr. Johnson had $875 worth of insurance with his company. His loss is estimated at about $3,000.

NORTH CAROLINA, THE PLAYGROUND OF SOUTH

Stanley News-Herald. In the issue of June 2nd, of the Literary Digest appears a well-written article headed, "A World-Wide Choice of Vacation Spots, which describes the wonderful and beautiful vacation spots dotting America from the Statue of Liberty in the harbor of New York, to the land of the setting sun in California, and the most northern point of far away Alaska to the warm waters of the Gulf Stream. But to our mind, the paragraph containing a short description of the Alleghenies, overshadows in beauty of description and aroused a pride of ownership, that the many other pages of the article failed to. We quote, "For to the southward between the Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge is the vast summit-crowned tableland, within which is found mountain scenery unsurpassed in the United States. The land of the Sky—as it is aptly designated. It is a labyrinth of brawling brooks, leaping rivers, peaks yet unclimbed, gorges still unknown, valleys hidden away among the mountains and visited only by a few," writes John T. Barrier in his excellent description in "Seeing the Sunny South." The last five words of Mr. Farris' quotation, "and visited only by a few" leaves just a touch of a sting to a well-earned compliment to our state, yet it is the truth. For the beauties, the indescribable beauties of our own Land of the Sky are known only to comparatively few, and we are sad to admit that many of our people have never feasted their eyes upon that wonderful playground of western North Carolina. North Carolina is the logical playground of the south. Nowhere in this southern spots to spend just vacation: Mountains that push their peaks above the clouds, valley that are marked with silver streams, filled with game fish for the sportsman, curiosities of nature that are marvels of beauty and are surrounded by legends of Indian folklore, and, and—We could go on with endless—descriptions of the Cloudland of North Carolina and fail to paint a word picture that begins to describe its beauties and wonders. It is something that has to be seen to be appreciated. Plan now to spend your vacation in "The Playground of the South."

LOTS OF SYMPATHY WASTED IN BANK CASES, BOND SAYS

Thomas B. Pierce, Former Cashier, Convicted of Embezzlement. Durham, June 15.—"Lots of sympathy is wasted in cases of this kind," Judge W. M. Bond, presiding over the June criminal term of superior court, told a crowded court room audience this morning when he sentenced Thomas B. Pierce, of Warsaw, former cashier of the Home Saving Bank in this city, to serve five years in the State prison. The sentence covered Pierce's conviction in three of the five counts, in which he was charged with embezzling funds belonging to the bank and its customers. The sum alleged to have been embezzled by the convicted cashier ranges between $64,000 and $103,000. Upon withdrawal of the appeal this afternoon by the attorney for Pierce, Judge Bond reduced the sentence to four years in the State penitentiary. Pierce was taken to Raleigh tonight and is now in the penitentiary. Although emphatic in his declaration that it is not his desire to be harsh, Judge Bond made it plain that the courts should be stern in the handling of bank embezzlement cases. "In this case," he said, "the bank, or at least Mr. Hill, its president, has lost $30,000. The customers and public have suffered a loss of more than $100,000. This man had no right to use the public's money for private gain and private speculation. There is a lot of bank busting going on these days, and it has got to come to a stop. The bank business must remain unshaken. If something isn't done to bring a stop to this kind of stealing, it will get so people will refuse to trust their funds to banks." "This is the fourth case in which a bank cashier or a bank president has been before my court within two years. In each instance the defendants were charged with robbing the public of thousands of dollars. There is no excuse for such act. The bankers who resort to this practice do so deliberately, willfully and wrongfully. Maybe this young man intended paying the money back had he won out. This, however, doesn't alter the case. He had no right to the money," Judge Bond, continued. The judge concluded his remarks by declaring that if the time has come when men can misappropriate thousands of dollars at a time without paying the penalty, it is time to be more lenient with men who steal a ham or a bushel of wheat. "These petty thieves," he said, "are at present always headed for the roads." Armenia has been conquered successively by 42 different nations.

Bait For Carp.

Sportsman's Digest. There are several good baits to use for the taking of the old carp, but the best ones that I have ever tried, are the following: In season, Dough-balls in the early part of the summer from May on up until the month of August. These are made by mixing a stiff batch of dough (flour and water with some cotton latten mixed through the butter and a few drops of sugar added) then boil the whole mess until it is of a stiff consistency and spread out in a flat pan, cut into squares some two inches square and roll into balls for the hook. Then around August, sweet-corn times come in and that is one of the best baits that a man ever placed on a hook—green sweet corn. Procure some two or three fine, mature ears of the corn and shave it from the cob with a sharp knife, deep-down, Place some three or four large grains on the hook and east into a carp pool with heavy sinker. Fish all carp baits on the bottom, as they are bottom feeders. Another good bait for carp is the crayfish and the fresh water mussel. The crayfish is fine, fish-ed on bottom, with spines of fish bait on mud bottom for carp. Break the fresh water mussel open and use the meat cut into small squares, the red mussels are best I think, I have caught some old he-whopper carp with this bait. Professional Jealousy. A Home Furnished in Good Taste Starts Child's Education Right

By an Interior Decorator. The growing generation in homes which exhibit the effect of interior decorating is being subjected to an influence that is hard to estimate but which is undoubtedly beneficial. This is true whether the art's principles are applied by professional or by informed amateur decorators. It is not difficult to believe that the boy or girl whose family life centers about a living room furnished according to informal fusion of pictures, and silhouettes will be most fitting. Wing chairs or Windsor chairs with rush seats, will be appropriately used. There will be no ceiling lights. Instead there will be bracket lamps and portable ones. If the furnisher has decided to have Colonial block-figured wall paper instead of using plain surfaces, there will be overdraperies at the windows which repeat the chief color tone of the paper. This color will be chosen in the first place with regard to the lighting of the room. Dark, heavy colors will be avoided in any case, for lightness and cheerfulness make home attractive to the child as well as to the grown-up. There will be no interference to nature's superlative bringer of cheer—the sunlight. Ruffled fllet net curtains, either with no design or with small all-over patterns, will be hung next the window glass. They will permit sunlight to enter without obstruction, except such as will diffuse the radiance and eliminate glare.

An employee, noted for his energy and lack of tolerance for loafing in any form, visited his stock room and found a boy leaning idly against a packing case, whistling cheerily and nothing at all on his mind. The chief stopped and stared. Such a thing was unheard of in his establishment. "How much are you getting a week?" he demanded, with a characteristic abruptness. "Twelve dollars." "Here's your twelve. Now, get out. You're through." As the boy philosophically pocketed the money and departed, the boss turned to the chief clerk and demanded: "Since when has that fellow been with us?" "Never that I know of," was the response. "He just brought over a note for us from Binx & Jinx."

If Back Hurts Begin on Salts

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least once a year.
