OLD TRINITY SCHOOL BUILDING COMEMNED Special Agent Brockman, of Insurance Department of State, Finds Upper Floors Faulty. High Point, Sept. 6.—The Trinity high school building at old Trinity in Randolph county, which was used by Trinity college before the institution was moved to Durham, has been condemned by Special Agent Brockwell of the state insurance department, according to advices reaching High Point today.

The action of the insurance department's agent has caused consternation at Trinity, it is said, in view of the fact that the high school was scheduled to open its fall term on September 17 with many teachers employed.

Mr. Brockwell did not condemn the entire building, but posted notices to the effect that the upper floors could not be used until repairs were made to make the building safe.

It is said that it is the intention of the school authorities at Trinity to use an adjoining building until some other arrangements are made.

Another problem that faces the school authorities at Trinity is the announcement that when this property is ceased to be used as a school building it will go back to the heirs of the man who gave it to Trinity college. Several acres of land also are included.

This building and the property was presented to the board of education of Randolph county several years ago by the trustees of Trinity college.

A teacher asked her class of children what a skeleton was. One little fellow, Benny, seven, said: "I know; it's bones with the people rubbed off."

Lenroe's Eyes Say "Come Hither!"

We've all heard of the light that lies in a woman's eyes, and lies and lies and—repeat, ad lib.

But take a look at the lustrous orbs of Lenroe Urie, for they seem to say, "come hither," and that makes us wonder just how many would be killed in the risk.

At the present time, Lenroe is not using her eyes from the stage of Broadway, but is focusing them on the movie fans of the world at large.

For Lenroe is now on the West Coast filming her big Broadway stage success,

"Tiger Rose," Warner Brother's screen adaptation of the famous play.

As the wildest girl of the Canadian woods, Lenroe ought to have plenty of opportunity to make her eyes do the "Come hither" act.

VICTORIES MARK RING CAREER OF LUIS ANGEL FIRPO

History of the Argentine Who Is to Fight Dempsey on the 14th.

New York, Sept. 6.—In the winter of 1922 Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine who is to fight Jack Dempsey for the world heavyweight title at the Polo Grounds September 14, came to the United States, one of the strongest and most courageous, if cruelest, fighters that ever walked on a resin sprinkled ring floor.

Luis Angel couldn't talk American, except when money was mentioned, and it was several weeks before he gathered some of his friends about him and arranged a match in which he was to prove to some of the doubters that he could punch.

Sailor Maxted, a rough heavyweight of the slugging type, agreed to meet the South American and they squared off in the ring of the Broad Athletic Club in Newark, N. J., on the night of March 20. There was lots of wild and woolly swinging and missing in that engagement, but in the seventh round the South American drove his man into a corner and pummeled him to the floor with heavy rights to the head and body.

The doubters began to believe. In the same arena on April 4 Firpo met Joe McCann, a tough youngster. After being soundly rapped on the chin in an early round and sent to his knees, Firpo came back and forced McCann to quit in the sixth, a badly beaten fighter. Firpo's right hand turned the trick against McCann.

A little more than a month later Firpo entered the ring in Elberts Field, Brooklyn, against Jack Herman, light heavyweight. All the experts went out to see Firpo in action that day. Herman was faster than Firpo and danced around him in the early rounds, keeping away from his terrific punches. In the fifth round Firpo caught Herman in the body with a right and brought up the left on the inside to Herman's chin. Herman was lifted a foot off the floor and sent flat on his back for the count. Half an hour later he was revived.

Then Firpo, feeling that he had won some glory, returned to his native republic to receive the plaudits of his admiring countrymen. While in Buenos Aires he fought Jim Tracy, a tall, gangling heavyweight from Australia, knocking him out in four rounds. Tracy was a willing fighter but had little boxing skill and carried no punch. So he was hardly a match for the Argentine strong man.

Firpo returned to the United States last March for another campaign, this time to pave the way for a title match with Dempsey. Three spectacular victories were the medium of the Argentine's rise to fame and recognition as a dangerous championship contender. The first was over old Bill Brennan, of Chicago, at Madison Square Garden in March. Brennan ripped and cut Firpo mercilessly in 11 rounds of furious fighting, but the South American absorbed the punishment without wilting, and in the twelfth beat Brennan to the floor with club-like rights.

Jack McAuliffe, 2nd, of Detroit, highly touted and flashy in his gymnasium work, was Firpo's next victim. He was knocked flat in the third round of a bout at the Yankee Stadium in May on the same afternoon that Jess Willard started his come-back by knocking out Floyd Johnson, young Iowan.

The victors of that show, Firpo and Willard, met for the final test in the great pine bowl at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, in July before one of the largest crowds in fight history. Firpo cleared the path for his match with Dempsey by knocking out Willard in the eighth round, but to many it was a disappointed conflict. They poked at each other clumsily for a greater share of the first seven rounds. Firpo's body punches doing the most damage, while in the final round a succession of rights to the body and head floored Willard.

MACON FLOGGINGS ARE WORK OF KU KLUXERS

All Evidence Points to the Fact Klan Members Are the Criminals, Says Prosecutor.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 6.—Charles H. Garrett, solicitor general of the Bibb Circuit Superior Court, who is in charge of the preparations of evidence for the trial of seven persons accused of flogging in this county, declared tonight that the members of the Ku Klux Klan are deeply involved in the local cases.

"Evidence in a vast majority of cases," said Mr. Garrett tonight, "indicates that those persons arrested in connection with the floggings are members of the Klan. There also is evidence of organized activity on the part of members of this body. This is apparently well understood by the people of the community."

Mr. Garrett said that in connection with the seven persons under arrest, against each of whom there are two or more cases, "the evidence overwhelmingly indicates members of the Klan."

Klan headquarters, Mr. Garrett stated, is denying that the local acts were authorized by the Klan as an organization. He expressed the belief that the Klan headquarters is "spending money with apparent sincerity in connection with the local investigation and appears not to be especially desirous of exposing its own members who have been trapped as participants in the floggings."

Your children's food

The foods your children eat today, determine their strength and health in later years.

Remember this; they must have well balanced meals. Their food should contain the right amount of mineral salts. These salts act as bone building material. They furnish the different fluids and juices that help keep the tissues young—the body strong and active.

Bakings that are made of good plain white flour and baking powder contain a large amount of mineral salts. Allow your children to eat hardy of these bakings together with fruits and dairy products. This forms an ideal food balance.

When making quick rising breads and pastries such as: biscuits, muffins, cakes, waffles, etc., don't fail to use Calumet—the economy Baking Powder. It contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—it's the purest and surest leavener made. That's why it helps make your flour foods light and easily digested.

Millions of mothers use Calumet daily because they are interested in their children's welfare—their present and future health.
