

Labor in the United States Is Better Paid Than Labor Anywhere Else

By SAMUEL GOMPERS, of New York Times.

NOT in any country in Europe is there a trade union movement as free from internal discord, as free from bitterness and disappointment, as united and confident of the future as the trade union movement of the United States.

Labor in the United States is better paid than labor anywhere else in the world. It lives in better homes. It wears better clothes. It has more leisure. It enjoys better food. It has a wider margin of choice in determining how and where it shall live.

Of what avail are the programs of Europe if their concrete results are inferior to the results of the efforts of American labor? It is notable that the labor movements of Europe run strongly to programs and formulas. They make formulas for everything.

But the American workers prefer an increase in wages, with all the resulting opportunities, to a pleasing formula framed on the wall.

We have great distances where there is no industry whatever. In point of population our country is still almost half rural and agricultural. In addition, we have in our land all of the nationalities and races of the earth.

Americans Are Always Saying "All Right!" It Is Their Pet Phrase

By GUSTAV FRENSEN, in "Letters From America."

The Americans are always saying cheerfully, carelessly and lightly: "All right!" It is their pet phrase. It is a phrase appropriate to wanderers, pioneers, sportsmen, hunters. Americans are hunters, and always they have been lucky at hunting.

Cares? Reflections? Right or wrong? Hunters do not ask questions about such things. Americans are now going through an era like that which Rome went through when it reached the Adriatic coast.

But remember, all that is right and valuable contains something tragic and sad. Individuals and peoples alike, everything that is worth anything bears the noble mark of guilt, remorse and need on its brow.

"It Was Your Prime Minister George Who Saved Turkey From Herself"

By DR. A. J. TOYNBEE, in Contemporary Review.

Had we succeeded in establishing a moral hold over the last independent Moslem state, our ascendancy would hardly have been disputed elsewhere; and the whole Islamic world, from Bengal to Constantinople, and from the African lakes to the Caucasus, might have been drawn into the wake of the British Empire.

Looking back on this position today, the Turks, Egyptians, Afghans, and Indians whom an English visitor meets at Angora have a way of smiling and professing ironical gratitude to Mr. Lloyd George.

"It was your late prime minister," they explain, "who saved Turkey from herself. Had he given her one touch of kindness, one friendly stroke or a gentle word, she would have licked his hand and we might all have lost our independence forever.

"It Is by Hope That Nations Live and It Is of Despair That They Die"

By DR. ZIMMERMAN, in New York Times.

Austria can be and is being made self-supporting by the intensification of her agriculture and the development of her water power to take the place of coal. Great projects for water-power development are already under way.

Austria's stabilized exchange, the only stabilized currency in Europe east of Holland, and the fact that she is being run on a business basis, is bringing in investors. The savings banks deposits show that for the first time in years the people are beginning to save.

What you see in this country today is not so much recovery as the hope of recovery. And it is by hope that nations live, and of despair that they die.

N. C. STATE'S PROSPECTS NOT ENCOURAGING NOW

No Kicker Has Been Seen Yet Who Will Be Able to Take Care of This Department of Work.—Must Develop One.

Raleigh, Sept. 17.—A little more than a week has passed since Head Coach Harry Hartsell of North Carolina State assembled the remnants of the 1922 Wolfpack and the members of last year's Yearling team who have returned to college and entered upon the arduous task of building another football machine.

It is apparent to even the most casual observer that the Techmen will miss the trusty left toe of Tommy Park. Park, of course, was an exceptional kicker, one of the best in this section of the country, and any punter with average ability necessarily suffers by comparison.

The Tech chief is working on Dick Elms, freshman end, and Al Johnston, "Red" Sprague and Walt Shuford, all members of the Yearling back field, and Joe Ripple, varsity end. It is probable that one of these youngsters may acquire the knack of lifting the oval high and far before the season is very far advanced.

Only six letter men from 1922 have returned to college, these including Captain Boston, center; Beatty, guard; Lassiter, fullback, and Holland, Wallis and Ripple, ends. It is reported that Bill Cox, tackle, plans to return, but he has not as yet reached the campus.

The other letter men in harness again are all good men. "Big Dick" Boston has been one of the outstanding centers in the South Atlantic division for the last two years. He is a natural leader and the mere fact that he is captain of the team should work wonders with the morale of the squad.

With the benefit of a year's experience behind him he should have a great season. Hartsell has indicated that he will switch "Dutch" Holland from end to the backfield, his natural position, and change should add considerable strength behind the line.

Members of last year's varsity squad who have registered again include, Jimerson, Eller, Coffey and Rasley, linemen; and Shell Johnson, Sherrin and Williams, backs. Al Byrum, star dash man on last year's team is out for football after overcoming parental objection lasting for two years.

With the exception of quarterback and center, state's undefeated freshman team of 1922 is intact.

The material looks good both in the line and in the backfield. Followers of the red and white will watch its development with a great deal of interest and pleasure. Logan and Seawell, tackles; White, McAdoo and Hendricks, guards; and Elms, Mayo and Herring, ends, furnish the Tech coaching staff with some mighty nice looking line candidates.

Backfield material is equally as good, with such men as Walt and Charlie Shuford, "Red" Sprague, "Rip" Sumnerell, Al Johnston and Antell.

Taken as a whole, early season prospects at N. C. State may be summarized somewhat as follows: From the standpoint of the number of veterans who have returned, six or possibly seven, the outlook is not especially encouraging, but when it is remembered that the 1922 team was not particularly successful, this fact may or may not mean anything.

Factor alone may prove the margin of difference between a loser and a real southern conference contender. Defensively the team should be as strong or stronger, than the 1922 pack which furnished formidable opposition to the best teams encountered.

UNIVERSITY SQUAD LIMBERING UP; PROSPECTS FAIRLY GOOD

A Number of Old Men Back and Several Men Coming Up From Freshmen Team Expected to Show Up Well.

Chapel Hill, Sept. 17.—Fifty men have answered Coach Bob Fetzer's call for football practice at the university, and arrivals next week are expected to swell the number to 65.

The freshman team of last year has produced a good-sized delegation of candidates for varsity berths and a number of last season's scrubs should prove strong contenders for the first eleven.

The Fetzer brothers think they have the material to produce a good team, but they are making no prophecies to the effect that it will make the remarkable record of the 1922 eleven which went undefeated in the south.

The first game is on September 29 when Wake Forest comes to Chapel Hill. Then follows the game with Yale at New Haven on October 6; Trinity at Durham on University Day, October 12; N. C. State at Raleigh on October 18; Maryland at College Park, Md., on October 27; South Carolina at Columbia on November 3 and Virginia at Chapel Hill on November 29.

Among the candidates for varsity berths already on the Hill are: Blanton, tackle, and Bonner, half back, who substituted in several varsity games last year; Brandl, who played end with the scrubs; Brasswell, freshman tackle of last year; Curlee, guard on the freshman team; Devin, captain and quarterback of the freshman team last year.

Epstein, end, one of the best linemen; Farrell, substitute in several varsity games; Hodges, freshman end; Jackson, freshman guard of last season; Fordham, C. C., letter man and tackle of the first class; Gold, C. W. Jr., star fullback, for the freshmen until injured last season; Griffin, halfback, excellent ground gainer for the freshmen last year; Hamer, guard, former citadel man whom the one year rule made ineligible last season.

Harmon, guard of last year's scrubs; Hawfield, tackle, who got in several varsity games; Hodges, freshman end; Jackson, who played in several varsity games; Jones, of last year's scrubs; Linberger, end, letter man of last year's varsity; McDonald, quarterback, a varsity man; Melver, good at either tackle or center; Newborn, of last year's scrubs; Milstead, who played with the freshmen; Roy Morris, end and captain of the team, who is playing his fourth year; Robinson, guard; Robinson, who won his letter last year and is good at either half or fullback; Robinson, center of last year's freshmen; Rowe, who played with the scrubs.

Shepard, Tom, end, who got his letter last year; Sparrow, quarterback and varsity man of last year's squad; Street, guard, a good man on last year's freshman squad; Teague, of last season's scrubs; Trause, freshman halfback; Underwood, also freshman halfback; who showed considerable promise; Donahoe, who relieved Robinson at center on last year's freshman team; Crews, Simpson, Burke, Matthews, Fouts, Fowler, Foy, Giersch, Lewis and Linney.

It is too early for predictions as to the successful candidates for varsity berths. If history repeats itself the season will undoubtedly develop a number of surprises. The Fetzers are expecting a number of last year's substitutes and scrubs to offer keen competition for the first string eleven.

LIVESTOCK ENTRIES TO BE ENTERED OCTOBER 1ST

This Rule Will Apply to Persons Who Want to Enter Stock at State Fair. Raleigh, Sept. 17.—Believing in the old adage that a stitch in time saves nine, Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt, president of the State Fair, which will be held October 15-19 inclusive, announces that all entries for the livestock and poultry divisions must be made by October 1 while entries for other divisions must be in by October 6.

Preparations for starting the Fair off in apple pie order shape on the opening date are now under way, and one of the important things that must be attended to is getting the exhibits lined up before hand. This is necessary in order to have the judges start in early in the week.

All entries should be made to General Manager E. V. Walborn, whose postoffice address is State College Station, Raleigh, and they should be made early to insure having them properly entered before the Fair gets under way. Running a State Fair is no little job, going to be bigger this year than ever and present indications are that it is before.

"WORSE THAN PAIN"

Louisiana Lady Says She Has "New" Found Anything Better Than Cardui for a Run-Down Condition.

Morgan City, La.—"It would be hard for me to tell how much benefit I have derived from the use of Cardui," said Mrs. I. G. Bowman, of 1319 Front Street, this city.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go. I was thin, I had no appetite. Could not rest or sleep well. I was so weak, and so very nervous, I was no pleasure to myself.

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so weak and easy to get tired and out of heart. "This nervous condition was worse than pain.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I decided to use it. "After using a few bottles, I regained my strength. I wasn't so nervous, and began to eat and sleep, and grew stronger and was soon well. "I have never found anything better for a run-down condition. "If you suffer as this Louisiana lady did, you, too, should find Cardui helpful for your troubles. Get a bottle of Cardui, today. NC-144.
