President Coolige's address, his first formal public utterance, was devoted to praise of the qualities which have made the Red Cross a success. Chief among these, he said, was its practical idealism. "The American Red Cross is a modern application of ancient principles," the President said. "The idea of charity is very old. It is included in the teachings of the earliest philosophers. It is one of the fundamental doctrines of our Bible It is a spiritual construction of human relationships. It is life in obedience to things unseen.

"Throughout history men had been taught to put their trust in other things and have failed. They have sought for power through material resources alone. They have thought it might be gained by the accumulation of great riches. They have attempted to rely upon the maked force of armies and navies, conquering by the might of the sword. But these forces are not the ultimate rulers of mankind. They are necessary of resecurity as police and the criminal courts, and bolts and bars are necessary. The adjuncts of peace. But they are negative forces. They do not create; they resent. They are not the ultimate force in the world. They are negative forces. They do not create; they resent. They are not the ultimate force in the world. They are negative forces. They do not create; they resent. They are not the ultimate force in the world. They are negative forces. They do not make the final determination of the pean of t the state of the second of the peans and shellers of Virginia and share at least agreed upon their limitations. But it is even more significant that civilization is coming to rely more and more upon moral force. It is eccuse the Red Cross has been a practical illustration of that principle that it has been a success. It makes it's appeal directly to the conscience of mankind. It does not have in it any element of compulsion. It is a voluntary offering of the people themselves. Whenever and wherever an emergency has resulted in human suffering to the extent of its ability it administers whatever may be necessary for temporary relief."

Miss MARGARET BESSENT
DEAD THER HAME HERE
To Dead Occurred Shortly After 11 O'clock at Coday—Funeral Services to Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon.

Miss Margaret E. Bessent, one of Concord's most beloved women and a gioneer in education work in Cabarrus county, died here this morning shortly after 11 O'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith, with whom she had lived for a number of years. Since Satruday Miss Bessent: condition had been critical, and death was not unexpected. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal Church. The services will be conducted by Archishop W. H. Hardin, of Salisbury, and interment will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Biss Bessent was born on August. Size besse

As she grew up her uncle found a home for her at the home of the late John A.

Moss.

Miss Bessent attended school at and graduated from Edworth School at Greensboro. She then taught for a number of years in Cabarrus county, later conducting a private school in this city and after that being principal of the Concord Agademy. Her work in the Academy and other schools had been so successful that she was asked to join the faculty of Salem Academy, and she was connected with that institution for which wenty years. After her work with Salem she returned to her home here, where she had since lived quietly.

Miss Beessent was recognized as one of the greatest educators of Cabarrus county. Taking up her work during the period when an education was hard to obtain, she followed her vocation with an untring spirit and a great love for her students, and was so successful that she became known throughout the State.

PRAISING PRIZE FIGHT Minister Characterized the Peoeple Who Have Criticised His Statement as Hypocrites.

(By the Associated Press.)

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The Rev. Frederick E. Hopkins in his seemon yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church in Michigan City, Ind., characterized as hypocrites those who criticised his sermons Sunday a week ago praising the Dempsey-Firpo fight. He said he had received hundreds of letters assailing him for extolling the fight and the elements of character which the fight exemplified.

"I have been listening all week to quite a storm of hypocrisy," he said,
"as for the prize fight, it is only using common sense to realize that newspapers would not sell millions of papers describing the fight if only the low-minded are interested in the fight."

"One reason the pulpit does not reach more men is because it does not talk of things that interest men. The first thing men turn to in their newspapers is the sports page."

Attempt to Be Made to Oust Government Is Report in France.

Paris, Sept. 23.—A despatch to othe Havas Agency from Sofit says the present insurrection in Burgaria is spreading and gathering strength. One hundred thousand pensants, a majority of whom are armed, and fairly well organized, are marching on Sofia in an attempt to overthrow the government. The dispatch adds that the cabinet sat throughout Saturday night. It was presided over by King Boris. Two regiments shive been despatched against the oncoming pensants who are reported to have halted in the face of rifle fire.

Bulgarian towns along the Jugo-Slav frontier are showing special activity. Although it is asserted in Sofia that the movement is purely agrarian, the communists have taken a hand in the controversy and are directing a general strike which is to become effective Monday.
