New System of High Schools for County Mapped Out by Board

If plans mapped out by the county board of education go through Cabarrus county will soon have a new system of high schools throughout the county. Monday the education board presented to the county commissioners a petition endorsed by nearly every white school in the county asking for an election for school development throughout the county. The commissioners favored the petition and ordered the election to be held on Tuesday, November 20th.

The plan the board of education is working out provides for system of high schools placed throughout the county so that each child will have access not only to public school branches but also to a full high school course. The plan as tentatively made will create nine central high schools in the rural territories which will make ten for the county counting the one in Concord. It is planned to conduct the school, elementary and high, for a term of 8 months.

Such a scheme, one member of the board stated, will call for a given amount of transportation in order to carry those pupils who live beyond walking distance to the schools.

Enough local tax will be voted on to put on such a program. It is thought that the program can be financed, if conditions remain as now, for about 25 cents on the $100. Should this program be put on as a result of the vote in November the districts now having special tax will automatically drop the local tax and go on a flat rate with every other district in the county.

This entire plan, it was stated, is being complimented by people who are thoroughly interested in education in the county because it provided efficient elementary and high schools for every child in the county, whether he live in hamlet or village or in the most remote rural section.

Women Inspect U S Liners When Shopping for Comfort in Passenger Accommodations

Captain Explains Wheel to Visitors

New York, Oct. 1.—Interest in the future of the American Merchant Marine is spreading rapidly throughout the United States. Persons who before the war never gave the matter a thought, are now thinking it over from many angles, with the opinion that the flag should once more fly on freight and passenger vessels on all the Seven Seas, as it did during the days of the magnificent clipper ships, when this country was the world's maritime leader.

The fact that the United States Lines, operating a fleet of the highest type of passenger vessels between New York and London, and New York and Bremen—with stops at Channel ports—has become a serious competitor of foreign steamship lines, is perhaps one of the real reasons for the revival of interest in our merchant marine. The great American public has awakened to the fact that the American flag, operating under the American flag, with a service on its vessels of the highest type in every way, is making successful headway in the North Atlantic passenger transportation field.

Experienced travelers, who have felt that their wants could not be satisfied on vessels other than those run by old foreign organizations, have booked passage on United States Lines steamships "just to see what they were like." They have seen, and been conquered—made permanent converts to the American merchant marine. Their opinions have gained circulation, and interest in the vessels developed.

This is particularly true of the vessels classed as "cabin" boats, operated both to London and Bremen. The minimum fare on these cabin liners is but $120 each way, though as far as quality of food and service is concerned, the vessels are equal—except in size—of any of the United States Lines "first class" liners, on which the first cabin fare is nearly twice as large.

Hundreds of skeptical persons weekly visit the cabin ships of the United States Lines prior to their sailing to see "where the catch" is in connection with these vessels. They soon find that not only are the liners all that those who have traveled on them claim for them, but more too. As a result converts to sailing under the American flag are growing rapidly, and the London cabin fleet of the line—composed of the President Adams, President Garfield, President Polk, President Monroe and President Van Buren—have this season been booked to capacity for months ahead. In addition there are large waiting lists for many cancellations of accommodations that may be made on these liners.

The Captain, officers—in fact everyone on these steamships—are very proud of the reputation the American operated liners have gained, and take the greatest of pleasure in showing prospective passengers about their craft. When persons desiring to travel, but undecided if an American liner is really worthy of their patronage, once inspect one of these steamships, and see the accommodations available, the cleanliness of the ship, the type of meals served and the high grade of the ship's personnel, their decision is generally quickly made, and a new booster for the merchant marine gained. By the time they have made a round trip on one of the vessels they are ready to argue with anyone on the ability of Americans to operate a passenger steamship line, for they have had a practical demonstration of American service at sea, and the capabilities of American officers and seamen.

Women tourists are finding the United States Lines cabin ships ideal for their vacation trips abroad, both from the viewpoints of economy and comfort, and the number of women who book passage after inspecting the vessels at their docks is amazingly large.

They will spend hours on board, going through staterooms, dining hall, social salons, kitchens, pantry and laundry. Their interest in the engine room is genuine, and once the Commander of the liner has taken them to the bridge and explained the control apparatus, their minds are made up on how they will travel. For women are shoppers, and want to know "what's what" whether buying hair nets or steamship passage.

Allentown Woman Finds Great Relief from Stomach Trouble by Taking Paw Paw

Miss Mary E. Snyder, Allentown, Pa., who praises Paw Paw

"I was suffering from stomach trouble, indigestion, pains in the pit of my stomach and right side," begins Miss Mary E. Snyder, 620 N. 5th Street, Allentown, Pa., in telling of the relief she found after taking Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic.

"I was also restless, couldn't sleep, had no appetite and felt all tired out when it was time to get up in the morning. I have been more or less this way for about five years.

"I am very glad I found out about Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic, because after taking some of it I find my troubles going away. I now have a fine appetite, can eat and sleep well, food doesn't hurt me as it used to and I am feeling fine generally. I have recommended Paw Paw to many of my friends and I think they will appreciate it very much, for it is such a fine tonic."

Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic improves the appetite, helps digest what you eat, rests your nerves, remedies stomach troubles and produces restful sleep. It is recommended highly by thousands for indigestion, despondency, biliousness, heartburn, insomnia, nervousness, weak blood, stomach gases, heavy headaches, distress after eating, bloated feeling, sour stomach, rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Big Crowds Hear Dr. Rowe. Dr. Gilbert T. Rowe, Book Editor and Editor of the Quarterly Review, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with offices in Nashville, Tenn., is doing some great preaching at the Forest Hill Methodist Church in this city.

Dr. Rowe, upon the urgent invitation of the pastor, Rev. J. Frank Armstrong, came to Concord for a ten days' revival meeting.

Sunday night a crowd that jammed the big auditorium and filled the two large Sunday school rooms and necessitated the use of extra chairs in every available space heard him deliver a wonderful sermon, the subject of which was "Joy." The profound impression made upon the congregation may be imagined when it is stated that perhaps three hundred people rushed forward at the close of the service to pledge themselves to a better Christian life.

Monday night Dr. Rowe preached to an audience large and appreciative from three passages of Scripture on the subject of Confession: Matt. 10:32; Matt. 7:21, and I John 1:8,19, were the basis for another outstanding sermon. Visiting preachers were in attendance, among whom being noted: Rev. T. W. Smith and Rev. G. W. Rollins, of this city, and Rev. W. A. Swearingen, of Kannapolis.

Services are being held every morning at 9 o'clock and every night at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Armstrong desires us to say that the people throughout the city have a most cordial invitation to attend these services.

Bishop Denny Preaches Dedication Ser- mon at Salem Church. Several hundred persons were present at Salem Church, Stanly county, Sunday when the Church was formally dedicated. The services were held Sunday afternoon and the sermon was delivered by Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Va. In addition to the sermon by Bishop Denny there was a sermon in the morning and a picnic dinner served in the grove at the Church.

Governor Wants Probe of Spruce Pine Affair

Charlotte Observer.

Governor Cameron Morrison arrived in Charlotte last night from Raleigh, to be here today in attendance on North Carolina Day at the Made-in-Carolinas Exposition, and visited the exposition last night in company with friends.

Discussing the situation at Spruce Pine, where negroes employed by a construction company had been run out of town by a mob bent on avenging the alleged assault of a white woman by a convict last Wednesday, and where state troops have been encamped for several days to maintain law and order, Governor Morrison said that an identification of the negro alleged to have committed the assault would be made today or tomorrow at Raleigh, and if the identification proved completed, he would immediately order a special term of court for Spruce Pine to try the negro, and also to investigate into the activities of the men composing the mob that ran the negro workers away. A special effort, the Governor said, will be made by the authorities to determine the identity of the members of this mob, and secure in-

Salisbury to Have New Combination Theater

Salisbury, Oct. 1.—Salisbury is to have a new theater for pictures and also with a stage large enough to accommodate any troupe making this section. It will be called the "Capitol" and will be built with all modern improvements and conveniences and besides an auditorium that will seat 1,100 will have a number of offices and store rooms on each side and above the street entrance. Plans have already been accepted and work on the new structure is expected to start as early as the contract can be let. The builders are R. Lee Mahaley and James Davis, and Mr. Davis will manage the theater. The "Capitol" will be built on the site of the garage on West 11th Street adjoining the post office, this property now belonging to Mr. Mahaley.
