'ALAN DWAN PRINDELL' AGAIN

Refer your telegram April 23, balance three thousand eight hundred sixty-five dollars. Mistake made through another account. Very sorry. Do not worry over idle gossip. We are with you.

Mr. Lydick is secretary of the Muskogee chamber of commerce. It is stated that the Muskogee chamber of commerce carried no accounts for or with Dwan.

At Mr. Dick's request I am sending you the bank balance of the Association of American Artists April 12th, 1923, the balance of $68,980, sixty eight thousand, nine hundred and eighty dollars, you also have twelve thousand dollars in liberty bonds that we are holding for yourself.

We wired E. J. Dick, your secretary and treasurer, on May 1st regarding this matter. We had a reply from Dick Pitchford saying, "Eldon E. Dick in hospital, seriously ill. Have referred your wire to Mr. Blakely, vice president."

Our reason for writing you thus at length is that we feel this telegram did not sufficiently inform you of the seriousness of the situation. Please take this matter in your own hands and advise us at once.

Very truly yours, IDA GEER WELLER.

How careless they were with Mr. Dwan's accounts over in Muskogee is shown in this telegram which is referred to in Mrs. Campbell's letter:

100 LUTHERAN WOMEN FOR DEACONESS WORK

This Number to Be Enlisted in the Synod of North Carolina For Service.

Charlotte, Nov. 8.—Today in the Lutheran Synod was devoted to business and reports of committees. Two deaths occurred during the past year, these being Rev. J. A. Lynn, who had served 46 years in the ministry, and Rev. R. L. Brown, who had served 55. Twenty-four Lutheran brotherhoods have been organized. These support a student in the seminary.

At 11:30 Rev. J. F. Crozier, of Charlotte, spoke on the deaconess work, there being 30,000 of these in the world Lutheran Church. There are ten deaconess homes in America, three belonging to the United Lutheran Church. One hundred young ladies are to be enlisted from the synod for this work. Their motto is "Servants for Jesus' Sake."

Dr. W. H. Greener, of Columbia, S. C., pastor, and editor of the Lutheran Survey, spoke on ministerial supply, stating that the Southern Lutheran Church could now use 100 additional men. He also said that the southern seminary would be overflowing in a few years with students for the ministry. Four college classes have more students studying for the ministry than ever before. In view of this the trustees of the seminary have inaugurated a movement to raise $300,000 for endowment and buildings.

Dr. Frederick H. Gotwald, of York, Pa., spoke on education. He told the convention what the Lutheran Church was doing in this respect. Greetings were brought to the synod from Virginia and South Carolina Lutherans. Rev. C. E. Norman, a son of this synod and returned missionary, spoke on Lutheran work in Japan. Rev. E. W. Leslie, pastor of the orphan home at Salem, Va., reported 53 children in his home, 20 recently released. J. D. Heilig, of Salisbury, was elected to the position of treasurer of the synod, and Dr. E. H. Kohn, of Mount Holly, was re-elected as statistical secretary.

The institutions of the church are: Lewman Home, White Rock, S. C.; Orphan Home, Salem, Va.; Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C.; Lenoir-Rhyne College at Hickory and two schools at Ma. Pleasant. Dr. Seibert, of Roanoke, Va., stated that a fund of $250,000 was being raised for the orphan home for buildings and endowment. These are to be erected on the former site of Elizabeth College, Salem, Va.

The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. B. D. Wessinger, of Cherryville, using as his text, "Sir, We Would See Jesus." Rev. Mr. Wessinger discussed some of the qualities of Christ, as a God-man, a lover of men and a redeemer of truth. He asked ministers to preach with a "Thus said the Lord." In view of the many demands of the ministry of Christ, he thought it possible that it was the task of the Lutheran Church to preserve the purity of the world. He enjoined the young men present to give a great vision of a great Christ.

Those ordained were J. Lewis Thornburg, Ben M. Clarke and J. E. Stockman. This was accomplished by the laying on of hands by Dr. J. L. Morgan, Rev. P. J. Baine and Rev. B. D. Wessinger. At 11 o'clock tomorrow Dr. G. H. Cox, of Salisbury, will address the convention on the "Calling and School Teacher into North Carolina." These men were Neussman and Arndt, who came in 1773. Dr. Cox is a historian of wide repute in the North Carolina synod, and his address will be for publication in the press of the state.

Charlotte, Nov. 8.—Dr. A. G. Voigt, dean of the Southern Lutheran Seminary at Columbia, spoke to a crowded convention last night on the Lutheran World Convention, which assembled at Fisenback. He stated that in this convention the national feelings of the delegates were entirely submerged and all were united in the Lutheran faith. As a result of this convention, a small and large committee was formed, which will have the destiny of the Lutheran Church of the world within its hands.

WASHINGTON STATION DAMAGED BY SMOKE

Senate Office Building Also Damaged by Smoke From Two Fires.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Nov. 9.—Two alarm fires today enveloped the Washington union station and a portion of the capitol grounds in a dense smoke and destroyed property valued at many thousands of dollars.

A coffee company's plant caught fire early in the morning and while several companies were struggling with the flames, there an alarm was turned in from a storage house only a few blocks away. The second fire was only a short distance from the railway station and a brisk wind carried thick smoke clouds through the station concourse and along the corridors of the Senate office building nearby. Virtually all of the city's fire apparatus struggled with the two fires throughout the morning without bringing either completely under control.

THE COTTON MARKET

Realizing or Liquidation Caused Opening Decline of 80 to 125 Points in Prices of Cotton.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, Nov. 9.—There was a rush of realizing or liquidation in the cotton market today which caused an opening decline of 80 to 125 points in prices. A belief that bullish features had been discounted on the excited and extensive advance of the past few days and that the market was entitled to substantial reactions, appeared largely responsible for the decline. Aside from that there was selling on the easier ruling of Liverpool and unfavorable European news, but at the decline to 32.65 for January and 32.90 for March a great many contracts were absorbed. Trade interests were among the more prominent buyers, as if taking advantage of the decline to fixed prices while there was also a good deal of covering leading to rallies of 40 to 50 points from the lowest.

Cotton futures opened weak. Dec. 33.50 to 32.20; Jan. 32.90 to 32.68; March 33.12 to 32.90; May 33.00; July 32.50 to 32.38.

This represents a decline of 125 points from the season's highest. January sold down to 32.68 and March to 32.90 on opening call.

After the extreme break of 80 to 125 points, prices rallied 40 to 45 points on heavy Wall Street buying.

PARTICIPATION OF U. S. REGARDED DOUBTFUL

(By the Associated Press.) Paris, Nov. 9.—The fact that the French ambassador to the United States, M. Chances of the commission being organized consequently are remote.
