AMERICAN TO HEAD EXPERTS TO STUDY GERMAN FINANCES

The Reparations Commission States That It Will Ask Chas. G. Dawes to Take Presidency of Committee.

FRIENDS THINK HE IS FITTED

His Choice Was Made Unanmously by Commission and Invitation Will Be Formally Extended to Him Later.

Paris. Dec. 21 (By the Associated Press).—The reparations commission this morning decided to offer Chūs. 6. Dawes, of the United States, the presidency of the Committee which is to examine German finances. An American thus will head the principal expert committee to be named for investigation of Germany's resources and financial situation.

The reparations commission found it necessary to postpone issuing its invitations to other delegates on committees aside from the Americans, but in view of the need of gaining time to permit representatives of the United States to arrive without delay, the names of General Dawes and Oden D. Younger, of New York, were approved and instructions given that formal invitations be sent to them.

It was the unanimous decision of the

It was the unanimous decision of the compdission that the presidency of the leading expert committee ought to be offered to General Dawes. Certain formalities connected with the selection of delegates from other countries remained to be compiled with and invitations to other delegates will be sent as soon as this is done.

Dawes Equipped for Task.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, decided on by the reparations commission to head the committee to examine German finances, is regarded by his friends as singularly well equipped for the proposed duties, both through his financial experiences and his zeal as a public servant. He is the founder and head of one of Chicago's large banking institutions. He was the first director of the budget under President Harding.

In support of his contention that the Weismann theory, largely accepted by biologists, is "not obligatory, but at most a facultative continuity." Dr. Kammerer described in detail his work with a variety of sea squirt in which, he declared, he had caused new germ plasm to be formed from somatio tissue.

Dr. Kammerer also showed pictures of experiments with the proteus newt, and the midwife toad. He asserted he had succeeded in developing the rudimentary visual organ of the blind newt into a full-sized functioning eye by red illumination, to which the animals were exposed for five years after birth.

About the midwife toad, the scientist declared he had succeeded in growing on that male animal, which mates in water. Several generations of enforced mating in water, he asserted, had brought about the result.
