BUSINESS CHANGE

Electric Maid Bake Shop Sold by Alfred Peterson to Charlotte Man.

A business change of interest to Concord people was consummated on January 7th, when the Electric Maid Bake Shop, on West Corbin Street, was purchased by Mr. E. A. Moring, of Charlotte, from Mr. Alfred Peterson, who installed it here about June 1st, and has been operating it since that time. Mr. Peterson has accepted a position with the Chicago office of the Electric Maid people, and will take up his duties at once.

The business for the next several months will be under the management of Mr. H. B. Moring, son of the owner, after which Mr. E. A. Moring will come to Concord and take active management. For the present, the bakery will be at the same location. It is the purpose of the new owner to make some changes in the near future, whereby the products of the concern will be handled by local grocers in Concord and vicinity. The rapid growth of the business of the Electric Maid Bake Shop has made it almost imperative to add further equipment to the plant, and this will also be done, it is expected.

Lespedeza Seed Growers' Association of Mississippi. This order will be sent in on Saturday, January 19th, and as the seed is very scarce farmers desiring same are advised to get their order in by the 10th. This is one of the most valuable of the summer legumes and should be sown on small grain in March, Mr. Goodman stated, and will assist in the making of more hay and eliminate in part the sowing of peas after harvest at a time when work is very rushing. The orders for seed (the government explosive), are coming in rather slow, Mr. Goodman stated, for the last order for the county. All farmers wanting the explosive must place their order within the next week as the supply is getting scarce and this will be the last order made this year by Mr. Goodman. Arrangements are being made to get the caps locally for the new order and those farmers who have already ordered and received explosives can call at the office of Mr. Goodman Saturday and get their caps and fuses.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

COLD SNAP WORTH MUCH TO THE COTTON FARMERS

Experts Estimate That Millions of Weevils Were Killed in the Cotton States Saturday and Sunday.

Plumbers, coal dealers and garage owners were not the only class of laborers who benefited from the cold weather which swept over this section of the country Saturday night and Sunday, causing water pipes to freeze and burst, coal supplies to decrease with unpleasant rapidity and auto radiators to freeze. Claiming even greater benefit than these are the farmers who feel that millions of boll weevils were killed and millions more deprived of birth by the wintry weather that carried the mercury to a point not reached since 1918.

Local authorities wise in the ways of the weevil declare they are unable to place a definite estimate on the money saved by the weevils destroyed, but they estimate that millions of dollars were saved throughout the cotton belt and that the benefits resulting from the freeze far outnumber the damages.

Weather like that of Saturday and Sunday, when the mercury for hours flirted with the zero mark, was undoubtedly very damaging to the weevils hibernating in and near cotton fields. One cotton expert of this county pointed out, and he expressed the opinion that the freezing weather was worth tons of position that would have been applied to the crop after it began growing.

"In order to live through the winter months," another expert pointed out, "the hibernating weevil must eliminate a certain percentage of his body moisture. Under favorable dry conditions the weevil is able to do this, but rain penetrates to his hiding place—under the bark of stumps, in straw and stalks of last year's plants and other places—and if the damp spell is followed by freezing temperature the weevil freezes and bursts like so many of the waterpiper in the cities have done."

R. D. Goodman, county farm agent for Cabarrus county, declared that while the cold snap undoubtedly killed many weevils, this fact does not mean that the weevil is necessarily wiped out. Under ordinary weather conditions, Mr. Goodman pointed out, only a few of the weevils which take cover in winter survive, but the few that do survive can multiply so rapidly that it is not impossible that the 1924 crop will be damaged by them.

The severely cold weather of 1917-18, Mr. Goodman stated, had something to do with the delay of the weevils in reaching the Piedmont section, but there is great difference between such weather as the South experienced that winter and the weather so far this winter. If the weevils that do survive the rigors of the winter are favored with cloudy, rainy weather during the month of July, the weevil army will be as large as ever and may accomplish as much damage to the 1924 crop as it did to the 1922 and 1923 crops. Mr. Goodman added, but every cold snap that is accompanied by temperatures nearing the zero point add to the discomfort of the weevil and make his presence next spring less certain. Mr. Goodman said, adding in conclusion that without question millions of dollars had been saved to the southern farmer by the city blizzards which swept from the north Saturday and Sunday.

In North Carolina the mercury was lowest at points where no cotton is raised, but for the entire State the temperature was unusually low. In this and other cotton growing counties of the Piedmont section the mercury Saturday night and Sunday morning was only a few degrees above zero at the highest, and what is true of this State is true of other states which produce large cotton crops. Even in Texas, where millions of bolls are raised each year, unusually cold weather prevailed last week, and from the Lone Star State to northern Florida, then up the Atlantic seaboard and across the southeastern states the wintry winds carried their intense cold, to practically every cotton state in the South.

ROTARY MEETING

Public Affairs Committee Offers Fine Program at Weekly Meeting of Local Club.

The weekly meeting of the Concord Rotary Club was held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday with President Sam Randolph presiding.

The program was in charge of Frank Niblock, chairman of the public affairs committee, who stated that the program had been arranged for the purpose of presenting entertaining matters pertaining to public matters and of human interest.

L. M. Richmond was the first speaker and pointed out the advantages of business houses closing early, declaring the clerks deserved shorter hours and that the mercantile life would be more efficient if stores closed earlier. Edward Sauvain read an instructive article on credit, which he declared is a business man's greatest asset, and which should be guarded secondly to his home.

John M. Oglisby was the third speaker, and he pointed out the advantages of joining various organizations which a man's classification represents.

Following the regular program Judge W. F. Harding, a guest, was introduced and made a short talk which was well received.

Other guests present at the meeting were James F. Hurley and Barrett Taylor, of the Salisbury club.

Salisbury-Kannapolis Game a Rough Affair

Salisbury, Jan. 9.—In one of the roughest games ever played here Kannapolis highs lost a hard fought game by the score of 24 to 23 to Salisbury.

The game was rough and tumble affair from the start, and owing to the referee not being thoroughly familiar with the rules, continued to get rougher as the game progressed.

In fact a mild form of football was played throughout. For Salisbury "Big Boy" Floyd was the high scorer, with 10 points to his credit.

Johnson the well known center, led the attack for Kannapolis, piling up a total of 12 points. Peeler, brother, at guard, put up a fine all-round game.

Army Recruiting Service Representative Here.

Concord has been selected as one of the towns in the North Carolina recruiting district at which to place a representative of the Army Recruiting Service. George B. Stevens is in charge of the local station. He is a man of long experience in the recruiting service and will be pleased to have prospects apply to him.

Today the local office received word that organizations in the Hawaiian Islands, Panama and our western and southwestern states are in need of well qualified men. The trip to the foreign possessions and the west coast is made on army transports, but all over travel is performed by rail.

General A. J. Bowley, commander at Fort Bragg, N. C., who was instrumental in retaining that post as a field artillery range, is desirous of obtaining the enlistment of young North Carolinians for duty in the field artillery at Bragg. The general is a great booster of North Carolina and is fond of her people.

To many it is not known that Fort Bragg has the largest field artillery range in the entire world. Many guns of the army can be fired only on this range. Many of the artillery weapons chosen by the government will first be "tried out" at Fort Bragg.

The recruiting office is located over the city hall.

Farm Agents Meet Here.

Farm agents from Iredell, Rowan, Stanly and Mecklenburg counties and District Agent Millaps, of Statesville, met here yesterday with County Agent R. D. Goodman, for a district divisional meeting. The meeting was held in the directors room of the Cabarrus Savings Bank.

The purpose of the meeting was to work out similar plans for the agents of the five counties represented at the meeting. Plans taken up include work with live stock, poultry, hogs, cotton, legumes and forestry. These meetings are considered very beneficial as they allow the agents to get together and discuss their work as it relates to their particular county. Each agent offers suggestions and hints and the plans are endorsed by the district agent.

Plans are being made for four or five counties to hold one of these meetings each month.
