IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

HOLDS JOB WITH ONE CONCERN FOR 53 YEARS

Marshall Alexander Forced to Quit Work After Serving One Job for 53 Years.

It has taken illness, brought on by the relentless hand of Time, to put an end to the non-stop work record begun here in the earliest 70's by Marshall Alexander, negro of the old school, who claims the distinction of having worked with honor for a textile plant of this city for more than half a century.

Marshall began his duties with the company, now the Locke Cotton Mills, in 1868, when eight years of age and he gave up active employment last August, when ill health made it impossible for him to attend the regular duties, after an uninterrupted service of 61 years.

This aged negro man probably holds the record for Cabarrus county for continuous service with one concern. The name of the company has changed a number of times, and it has been run under various managements, but Marshall proved good enough for each new management and the changes in the administration of the company brought about no change in the devotion and time he gave to his work.

When four years of age, back in 1858, Marshall was "bound" to the family of Mr. John McDonald, who came to Concord from "the North" to build a cotton mill. He erected the McDonald Mill, the first in Concord, and in 1858 Marshall was given employment as errand and carrier boy in the textile plant. He kept this job of "handy man" until 1870, when at the age of sixteen he was sent to the engine room. In that room Marshall worked day in and day out until August of last year, when he completed 53 years of service at one job.

Marshall has an uncanny ability to remember dates. He can tell you without hesitation the exact dates of the installation of certain machines in the mill. He knows when small changes were made to the mill building, when water pipes were laid and other data that could not be remembered by persons without unusual ability along this line.

Marshall worked without interruption in the mill until 1877, when business became so bad the mill stopped work. When it was sold to the Odells he moved along with the other fixtures, and when the Odells sold out he went along with the engine room equipment to the new owners. He was regularly on the job when the Erwin interests purchased the plant several years ago, and until sickness stopped his regularity he was daily at his tasks.

"There have been many changes at the mill since I started working there," Marshall stated, "but it seems that each change has brought improvements. My experience at the mill has taught me one great lesson—that the boss don't make much difference. I got along with each new crowd because I gave the job the best I had. It just seems that this trying by me was seen by the bosses, and I believe it is seen every time."

Marshall is unable to work now, but he is far from being an object of charity. He has saved his money and invested it well. He owns property adjoining the homes of white people on North Spring street and has money in the bank.

Marshall for 34 years has been a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church—he gave the date without book reference—still not once during that time has he had a quarrel or difficulty with the white people living next to him.

When asked when he would be at home to talk about his life, Alexander replied: "I'm home every night after dark—that is every night 'cept Sunday and Wednesday when I am at Church."

That about sums up the success of this good darky's life.

Girl Problems Solved in Great Fox Picture.

In every city of the country and in the farms and in the villages too, there are motherless girls facing the problems of life. Some of them find the solution and realize their ambitions. Others are just butterflies that flit a while. The types are realistically presented in the William Fox production, "No Mother to Guide Her," coming to the Piedmont Theatre today for an engagement of two days.

Gregory Tobin, Dolores Rousse, J. D. Walsh and other well known artists, form a strong cast, presenting a remarkable story which established its success on the stage and is certain to be even greater on the screen.

At the Theaters.

"The Man From Brodney's," starring Warren Kernigan, is again today the chief attraction at the Star.

Presbytery Exonerates Dr. Fosdick of Heresy

Finds Baptist Holding Pulpit in Presbyterian Church Conforms to Its Doctrines.

New York, Jan. 14.—The Baptist minister, Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, whose allegedly heretic utterances from his pulpit in the First Presbyterian Church have been the subject of investigation by a special committee of the New York Presbytery, was exonerated of the charges today, holding that Rev. Dr. Fosdick's preachings had conformed to the doctrines of the church.

Just before the Presbytery assembled, with scores of church hymns in a gallery, to receive the committee's report and approve it, a sensation was caused by the announcement that the committee's chairman, Dr. Edgar Whitaker Work, had resigned as pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church. Dr. Work read the report, however, and concurred in it. Neither he nor his committee colleagues, who represented the strongest churches in the Presbytery, would discuss his resignation, except to say it had been prompted by ill health.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED BY MAN OF THIS CITY

Ford Roadster Stolen in November From Arthur Abernethy Located in Halifax, Pennsylvania.

Arthur Abernethy, young man of this city, has recovered the Ford roadster which was stolen from him in November by a band of highwaymen who were plying their trade on one of the principal highways of the State—that road between Southern Pines and Biscoe.

Mr. Abernethy was notified by J. Clark Zimmerman, garage owner of Halifax, Penn., that the roadster was in that garage, and he went to Pennsylvania immediately and returned with his car Tuesday. The car was not badly damaged, he reports.

Mr. Abernethy stated that Mr. Zimmerman told him a man dressed as a sailor and posing as a Salvation Army worker, drove the Ford into his garage on November 11, seven days after the car was taken from Mr. Abernethy. The car was left at the garage for repairs and when no one called for it after several weeks Mr. Zimmerman wrote to the Secretary of State of North Carolina, asking for the owner of the number which was on the car. He was advised that Mr. Abernethy was the owner.

Mr. Zimmerman stated that the driver of the car told him his name was Jimmie Alonzo Williams, and that he was doing Salvation Army work. He told Mr. Abernethy that so far as he could learn all money collected by the man went into his own pockets.

In the rear of the Ford, Mr. Abernethy stated, he found two sailor hats, one the property of the man who drove the Ford into the garage, and the other bearing the name "C. Strickler." Through this clue Mr. Abernethy hopes to locate the men who took the car from him.

The hold-up and robbery of Mr. Abernethy occurred on the night of November 4th, near Southern Pines. While returning from Raleigh Mr. Abernethy was accosted by a man in a sailor uniform who asked for a ride. The request was granted and after riding for several miles with his companion Mr. Abernethy was asked to stop and put up the curtains of his car as it was raining. This was done and just as he prepared to drive on two other men dressed as sailors stepped from a piece of woods and blocked the road. The man in the car then covered Mr. Abernethy with a gun. The second man was bound and gagged and tied in a deserted tobacco barn, when he managed to cut the ropes on his feet with a piece of brick, later cutting the ropes on his wrists with piece of stove pipe.

Death of Infant.

Dorothy Lisette, 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Harkey, of Winston-Salem, died there Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock after an illness of two weeks. Death was caused by pneumonia.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, and interment was made in the Charlotte cemetery.

He Thinks McAdoo Can Win Election.

Washington, Jan. 15.—William G. McAdoo was endorsed for the Democratic presidential candidacy here today by Representative William D. Upshaw, Georgia, who declared the former treasury secretary to have "punch and proven power" and the requirements to meet conditions "of this national juncture." Representative Upshaw said the meeting of the national Democratic committee here seemed a favorable time "for declarations of preference." Pointing out that McAdoo favored the 18th and 19th amendments, the Georgia representative added, "he wipes out sectionalism and inspires that national fellowship and red-blooded Americanism, and then, frankly, I am for McAdoo because I believe he can win."

The Abraham Lincoln University may become a reality if the plans of 200 business and professional men of Springfield, Illinois, carry. Effort is to be made to raise $500,000 to begin organization of the school which will be built and conducted according to the democratic ideals of the martyred President. Within a few months a committee will begin a drive to raise a permanent endowment of $5,000,000.
