

Wilson to Be Buried as Plain Citizen, Role He Played When He Died

With Only Two Brief Services War President Will Be Laid to Rest in Vault High on Hills of Capital.

MILITARY RITES TO BE SIMPLE Body Will Be Born by Sailors, Soldiers and Marines, But There Will Be No Other Ceremonies of State

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Feb. 5.—A throng of folks on the street before the Wilson home waiting to see the great ones who came and went, and the guardian police who turned unnecessary traffic from the steep narrow street, alone marked outwardly today preparations for honors to the dead war President.

With only the two brief religious services to mark the entombment in the vault beneath the Lincoln Chapel on the hills high above the stricken home, there was little that official Washington could do to show its respect and admiration for the life of the dead man. Had Mrs. Wilson wished otherwise, unstinted honors would have been poured out to mark the nation's mourning.

Very few of the many who would come to express their feelings at the services, if they could find place, can be admitted either to the private exercises at the home or the later public ceremony at the chapel. At the home only the family and a little group of closest friends can find standing room.

The family circle will be completed only a few hours before the casket is lowered in the marble vault deep beneath the cathedral. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. McArdle will reach Washington some time Wednesday morning. The private service at the home will take place at 3 p. m. followed by the chapel service at 3:30 and the entombment.

War Department officials today sought to make the most of the little share that was left for them in honoring the commander-in-chief under whom the war armies fought. Eight non-commissioned officers of the army, with eight sailors and eight marines of similar rank and record will form the little guard of honor about the hearse on the brief journey from the S Street house to the chapel. They alone will touch the casket of the man under whom all of them served gallantly in the war.

Still today there was a demand on many sides that a last moment change be made, and more elaborate ceremonies mark the funeral. There were many like Senator Swanson, of Virginia, who believed that this dead son of Virginia, the mother of Presidents, should go back to sleep in Virginia soil. It was this feeling that prompted suggestion that entombment should be in Memorial Cemetery at Arlington. Some felt that the permanent resting place of Woodrow Wilson should be in the great cathedral, and that the body should be placed within the memorial structure until him to whom honor is done shall have been dead a decade.

Mrs. Wilson had her way, however, and the marble vault under the great church that looks down on the house where he died, will hold her husband's honored casket until the form and manner of his final resting place can be determined.

Stock Exchange to Close. New York, Feb. 5.—The New York stock exchange will be closed at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow as a token of respect for the late Woodrow Wilson. The New York cotton exchange will close at noon and other commodity houses will also cease the usual activities.

Guard of Honor. Washington, Feb. 5 (By the Associated Press).—Woodrow Wilson's final guard of honor which will convey his body from the scene of his last activities and death to the place of entombment will be representatives of the three fighting arms of the nation. Eight sailors chosen from the crew of the President's yacht, the Mayflower will symbolize the great armadas of American fighting ships that went to war under the dead President; eight soldiers

MEMORIAL SERVICE WILL BE HELD HERE

Public Meeting Will Be Held at Court House So That City Can Pay Its Last Respects to Woodrow Wilson

Concord will pay formal tribute to Woodrow Wilson tomorrow when a memorial service will be held in the court house. The service has been called by Mayor J. B. Womble, who asks that business in the city be stilled from 3:30 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon while funeral services are being held in Washington for the war President.

The service here will begin at 3:30 o'clock and will continue for half an hour. The funeral of the former President will begin at that hour in Washington and it is fitting that Concord pay homage to the dead leader at the same hour.

Mayor Womble asked Major W. A. Foil to arrange the program for the memorial service here and Major Foil already has mapped out an appropriate program. Short talks will be made by several ministers and laymen of the city, and special music will be rendered by a choir which will be composed of the city's best singers. Prof. Price Doyle, teacher of music in the city schools, will direct the singing at the service.

The court house bell and church bells of the city will be tolled at 3:30 tomorrow and as the bells are first tolled business men are asked to close their places of business.

The public is invited to attend the service at the court house, the service being arranged so that every one will have opportunity to pay homage to that man who led this country during the trying days of the war.

Officers of the American Legion Auxiliary are anxious for each member of the organization to attend the service at the court house. Members of the organization are asked to meet at the court house at 3:15 and go to the court house promptly.

Industrial Survey of Cabarrus County Made

Survey Was Made by North Carolina State Child Welfare Commission During Month of January. INDUSTRIAL PLANTS VISITED BY EXPERT

Report Shows Favorable Condition in This County.—County Welfare Officer Praised in Report.

The North Carolina State Child Welfare Commission during the past month completed an industrial survey of Cabarrus County. The survey was under the immediate supervision of E. F. Carter, Executive Secretary of the North Carolina State Child Welfare Commission.

Mr. Carter was greatly pleased with the work of Cabarrus County as he was intimately connected with the industrial life of this county for a number of years. Not only was he a factor in industrial life of this county but he was also a leader in the social upbuilding of the county. Mr. Carter was president of one of the first industrial Y. M. C. A.'s and was a leader of other community organizations.

The Commission is greatly pleased with the spirit and attitude of the manufacturers of Cabarrus County. Every courtesy and help was extended to the members of the Commission. With such a spirit manifested in this county, the children employed will receive the necessary vocational guidance and adjustment which will fit them to be citizens of the highest type.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. J. H. Brown, Superintendent of Public Welfare of Cabarrus county. Through his untiring efforts, child labor in this county is being well supervised. Five hundred and nine certificates were issued during 1922-23. Sixteen of these certificates were issued last summer for vacation employment for boys. Three hundred and ninety were issued to fourteen year old children and one hundred to fifteen year old children.

These statistics show that although a great number of children go to work immediately when they pass the compulsory school age, they return again. Not quite one third as many fifteen year old children are certified as fourteen year old children. Approximately fifty per cent. of the children return to school after stopping and working for a season or so.

Statistics show that 234 children certified were born in Cabarrus County. Two hundred twenty-nine were born out of county in the state and 43 were born out of the state. There were no foreign born children working in Cabarrus County. Thus, the problem is a local and state one. On that should be regulated from a local and state point of view rather than from a national point of view.

COLD WAVE IN WEST KILLS THREE WHILE MANY OTHERS SUFFER

Weather Ran Gauntlet From Mild Temperatures to Drifted Snows in Michigan Cities Covered With Sleet.

ILLINOIS IS ALSO VISITED BY STORM In That State Storm Centered About Chicago.—Telephone and Telegraph Wires Are Down in Parts of West

(By the Associated Press.) Detroit, Feb. 5.—Weather that ran the gauntlet from mild temperatures in sections of lower Michigan to drifted snows farther north and sleeted streets, wires and rails, brought a toll of at least three dead, damage roughly estimated at upward of a million dollars, and demoralized traffic and communication in many places.

Telephone and telegraph companies report the havoc to their wires centered in an area of about 40 miles around Chicago, but the arms of the storm extend in every direction from that center. The worst blizzard in years, according to reports, damaged telegraph and telephone lines in the vicinity of Milwaukee to the extent of $1,000,000.

Several trains in Wisconsin are reported stalled in snow drifts. Banks of snow in some parts of Wisconsin are said to be 10 feet deep. Another radius of the storm extended south and southwest from Chicago through Illinois, Missouri and as far south as Texas. A tornado, accompanied by rain and hail, caused damage placed at $100,000 at Husbands, Ind. The storm reached gas force in Missouri.

Chicago was cut off from the east. Service was being maintained from Chicago to the east by way of Denver, where news was relayed back to St. Louis and thus to New York.

CLARENCE LATHAM FIRST WITNESS AGAINST COOPERS Hearing of Evidence Began After Reading of Indictment Against Two Brothers. Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 5 (By the Associated Press.)—Clarence Latham, of Raleigh, chief state bank examiner, was the first witness introduced today in the trial of Lieutenant Governor W. B. Cooper and his brother, Thomas E. Cooper, on charges of conspiracy in the United States District Court.

The actual hearing of evidence began after the reading of the indictment which charges the two brothers with various alleged criminal acts in connection with the failure about a year ago of the Commercial National Bank of Wilmington, of which the Coopers were the chief officers. Reading of the indictment required more than forty minutes. Government witnesses to the number of 42 were introduced and sworn. The defense offering witnesses at this time.

THE COTTON MARKET Yesterday's Sharp Advances Followed by Considerable Realizing at Opening. (By the Associated Press.) New York, Feb. 5.—Yesterday's sharp advances were followed by considerable realizing at the opening of the cotton market today. The cables were lower than due and after opening barely steady at declines of 6 to 27 points, active old crop months sold 22 to 29 points net lower, with May declining to 34.55. There was trade buying around this figure, supposedly to fix prices, and the market steadied up 10 or 12 points from the lowest during the early trading.
