Martin County Starts Rehabilitation Work.

Rocky Mount, N. C., May 2—Martin county today turned to the task of rehabilitating its tornado-torn section.

More than 300 citizens, business and professional men, under the leadership of Mayor T. H. Cox, of Robersonville, closed their places of business, halted their avocations, and went into the fields to clear them of the storm debris in preparation for replanting destroyed crops. Men and women, whites and negroes, and even school children joined in the task.

Liebold expressed ignorance of any telegrams which Churman Norvis said he was informed had been exchanged be tween President Coolidge and cabinet members, and Henry Ford. He promised Chairman Norvis that if any such telegrams existed, he would urge Ford to send them to the committee.

Major General C. C. Williams, chief of the army ordanace, told the committee that he did not consider Muscle Shoals as a necessity for production of explosives during the war, or fertilized for farmers due to the increased production of private enterprises-since Muscle Shoals was built. The General submitted a lengthy technical comparison of the four bids before the committee and the

THE COTTON MARKET

Comparatively Quiet During the Early Trading—Advance Checked by Early Liverpool Cables.

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, May 2—The cotton market was comparatible quiet in today's early trading. The Baying movement responsible for resterday's advances appeared to be checked by realtively easy Liverpool cables, a more favorable weather map, and reports of small sales of cotton goods in the Fall River market for the week. The opening was one point lower on May, but generally seven to ten points higher on overnight buying orders, after which prices eased and the second of the special service division, who glanced meaningfully at each order, drew their revolvers and crept warily up the sairs.

All of a sudden the south wind blew the door open and 17 Chinese, glancing up, found themselves confronted by two blue dragons.

The detectives seized tiles and racks and hereded the entire party off to the special service and compelled them to return the seized tiles.
