The Hawaiian Singers. The ukulele is today the national instrument of the Hawaiian people, and is made from the koa wood which grows on the island. There is an inexplicable something about Hawaiian music which never fails to charm and once heard is never forgotten.

In 1778 Captain Cook discovered these islands and for a century they were known as the Sandwich Islands, the title bestowed upon them. Hawaii placed her star in Old Glory when the resolution for annexation was passed by Congress and signed by President McKinley in 1898.

Long before the white man found these islands the old Hawaiian melodies were sung for the dancing of the hula, and for religious ceremonies, and have been handed down from one generation to another, so that what you hear at this Hawaiian concert the Redpath Chautauqua gives is what the natives sang when that enchanted spot of sunshine and flowers where God's harmonies of color and sound encompassed the Hawaiian in an earthly paradise in the Pacific, where the limitless sea assured him safety.

Is it any wonder that songs born of blue waters, sunshine, flowers, birds and contentment have lived? I think the greater wonder is, that for a far-away land we catch the spirit of happiness of a people that in those days were called savages. The melodies are rife with imagination of verdure and flowers as the music floats dreamily out from the touch of the Hawaiian player.

The Olympic games of ancient Greece consisted at first of only a foot race of 200 yards. Gradually the number of events was increased until the program included three foot races, wrestling, boxing, the pancration, which was a sort of boxing and wrestling combined, usually running, jumping throwing the discus, throwing the javelin and wrestling, and finally, as the program became more elaborate, various kinds of horses and chariot races.

Among the foreign students at the Western College for Women, Oxford, O., is Miss Grace Shu, a niece of Nung Shi Ling, who was premier of China during the first republic.

HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST DRAWS CAPACITY CROWD

Declamation-Recitation Contest Heard by Audience That Packed School Auditorium.

The first feature of the high school commencement for 1924 was held Friday evening at the new high school auditorium when the declamation-recitation contest was staged. The contestants spoke to a capacity crowd, the handsome auditorium being filled to capacity by the interested audience.

Miss Virginia Bette won the recitation medal, which is given each year by Junior Order No. 25, and the declamation medal was won by Roy S. Saunders. This medal is given annually by Charles B. Wagener.

Miss Bette recited "What the Fiddle Told," and that she was the favorite was shown by the spontaneous applause that greeted the judges' announcement. Mr. Saunders chose Charles M. Schwab's "Idea of Success as his number and the announcement of his victory also was received with generous applause.

The judges were Mrs. John A. Porter, Rev. M. R. Gibson and Buford Blackwelder. Mrs. Porter made the announcement for the judges.

Mrs. Porter in making public the judges' decision declared that Miss Bette's recitation was a close second to Miss Bette.

Other contestants were Miss Rose Turner, Miss Myrtle Fink, Miss Mary Barbee White, Hubert Morris, Thomas L. Moore and James Cleaver.

Many persons who have been attending the declamation-recitation contests for years were heard to remark that this contest was one of the finest they had ever been privileged to hear.

Several numbers were rendered during the evening by the high school orchestra under the direction of Prof. Price Doyle. The music proved one of the most pleasing features of the contest.

The next feature of the high school commencement will be the annual play, which will be presented May 30th. On Sunday morning June 1st, the baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. L. A. Thomas, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, and on Monday evening, June 2nd, the literary address will be delivered by Judge M. L. Smith, of Camden, S. C.

The medals won Friday evening by Miss Bette and Mr. Saunders will be presented on the evening of June 2nd, prior to Judge Smith's address.

The Chautauqua.

The Redpath Chautauqua which opens Tuesday night, May 20th, was brought to Concord by the Woman's Club backed by sixty guarantors. These men have approved of the Chautauqua by their willingness to help us, and we want to show our appreciation of their interest in the community spirit by being able to put the Chautauqua over, and I believe this can be accomplished if the people understand the way to buy a ticket.

First, tickets are transferable in the owner's immediate family. Second, that the $1,250.00 must be paid to the Chautauqua from the sale of season tickets. Third, that money taken at the door from the sale of tickets goes to the Redpath Chautauqua. If the people will read this article and buy season tickets for their families, they will help the Woman's Club to protect the gentle men who are guarantors.

We ask the co-operation of all loyal citizens to help us make this a success by proving to the men who are behind the guns that we meant what we said when we asked them only for their good names. MRS. W. H. GORMAN.

KIWANIS MEETING

Address by Harry F. Adams, District Governor, Feature of Weekly Meeting of the Club.

An address by Harry Adams, of Raleigh, Governor of the Carolina Kiwanis District, and the introduction of two new members of the Concord club, were features of the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Concord, held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening at seven o'clock.

George S. Klutz and Walter L. Furr were introduced as new members by Will Foll, district trustee.

Jim Smith, general chairman of the Kiwanis District Committee, reported that rehearsals were going along nicely, and that everything will be in readiness for the big show which will be given on Monday night at the new High School auditorium. On account of the fact that Chautauqua opens on Tuesday, it has been decided to present the minstrel number only one night, Monday. Boyd Grady, chairman of the ticket committee, gave tickets to all Kiwanians present, with the plea that each Kiwanian dispose of the tickets and insure the success of the undertaking.

Governor Adams was then introduced to the Kiwanians and delivered a most helpful and inspiring address on the principles of Kiwanis. He told his hearers of the rapid growth of the organization in his district, stating that the number of clubs in the two Carolinas has grown since January 1st from 50 to 71 at present, with a membership of more than 5,300. So far he has visited 51 clubs in his district, covering more than 6,000 miles.

The big International Convention to be held in Denver for four days beginning June 13th, should be attended by a number of members of the Concord club, continued the Governor, who outlined to his hearers the splendid itinerary that has been outlined for the Kiwanians from the Carolinas, who will travel on a special train known as the Kiwanis Special.

Then followed a splendid presentation of the principles and ideals of Kiwanis by the speaker. Service, he emphasized is the distinguishing trait of Kiwanis and he stressed the importance of service to the underprivileged child, a work which has been sponsored by the International organization, and in which individual clubs are actively engaged.

Kiwanis is a modern interpretation of the golden rule in business. Its purpose is to create and uphold the principles of right, and a code of ethics in every day business life.

The motto of Kiwanis—"We Build"—continued the speaker, is carried out in the building of better men and better citizens, and through this means the building of better towns and cities over our entire land.

A vote of appreciation was extended to Miss Mary MacLaughlin, song leader for the club, who was in charge of the music for the last time before leaving for her home in Pennsylvania to spend the holidays. Miss Dorothy Wolff fur

Arkansas Lady Says Mother Gave Her Cardui and She Had No More Trouble of This Kind.

Lamar, Ark.—Mrs. Edith Seeman, here, recently made the following statement describing her experience in the use of Cardui:

"I had pain in my back and sides; and sick headaches and my nose would bleed. I couldn't sit up at all. My mother gave me Cardui. I took about a half bottle and at this . . . I was able to get up and help with the work. Next time I took it again, and now, after taking two bottles, I do not have any trouble at all at this time. I gained, my skin cleared up, I am healthy and strong.

"My mother took Cardui for a week, run-down condition. It did her more good for weakness and nervousness than any medicine she has ever taken. She took six bottles in all. We recommend it and certainly know its worth."

The foregoing is one out of thousands of statements which have been received from users of Cardui, the woman's tonic. If you are a sufferer from womanly ailments, try Cardui. It may be just what you need. At your dealer's. NC-156
