What Kelvinator Is and Does—

Eliminates forevermore the inconvenience and inefficiency of ice-cooled refrigeration.

It maintains a dry, unvarying atmospheric condition within your refrigerator at all times—

It maintains a certain predetermined temperature and requires no attention whatsoever, after its installation.

It produces a temperature considerably lower than that produced by ice.

It freezes crystal clear cubes of ice for the table or the sick room. It is a model of cleanliness and sanitation.

It saves labor, food, annoyance, and money.

It costs less than ice to operate—and even in its first cost is not a burden to the most moderate household budget.

It is a fitting companion to every other valuable household utility such as the washing machine, vacuum cleaner, electric iron, etc.

It is operating successfully in more than 40,000 homes, and is on public display in more than 60 cities in thirty-nine different states.

SOME OF THE MANY BENEFITS OF THE Y.

Having lived in Concord before and since the Y. M. C. A. was made possible, I judge that I am in a position to know some of the many benefits derived therefrom.

Before the Y. M. C. A. was built there was no place for the young people of our town to hold a get-together meeting. Well do I remember seeing the boys hugging the telephone posts near the Pearl and Gibson Drug Stores. A close inspection now will convince anyone that these posts are worn very smooth from past uses. Why? Because there was no place to meet except in the hedges and byways.

There is no organization in Concord, save the church, that has a more wholesome influence on the young people of our town than the Y. M. C. A. It has given the boys and girls of every age and class regardless of social or financial standing, a place in which to meet that they might enjoy themselves and lay aside the arduous and trying tasks of the day. The Y. M. C. A. has a four-fold purpose. It develops a boy or girl, spiritually, physically, mentally and socially. If the Concord Y had never done anything else for the spiritual welfare of the boys and girls of our town and surrounding vicinity than the Bible Story Contest—a contest in which hundreds of boys and girls, fathers and mothers and friends were interested—it would have been worth while.

It is declared by the best educators of our country that physical training is essential to mental training. A boy or a girl cannot do his or her best in school without plenty of wholesome physical exercise. The Y is just the place to get it, as there are varieties of games for the "lots and teens" that set to work all the muscles of the body.

The social feature of the Y. M. C. A. has been great. The boys and girls meet more often, and learn to know one another better by being in games and contests, etc. Occasionally there is a banquet for the young people. At such meetings appreciation, enjoyment, and good fellowship always abound.

There is no father or mother in Concord but that feels perfectly satisfied and contented when he or she knows that his or her son or daughter is at the Y under guidance and leadership of the present efficient and energetic Secretary Blanks.

J. W. B. LONG, Principal No. 2 School.

A PERMANENT INSTITUTION.

The Y. M. C. A. has every evidence of having become a permanent institution in our life in this country. This certainly seems no less true in our own town and community. Our "Y" has so entered into the activities of the lives of our people that it has found a warm welcome. One cannot visit this institution without being impressed with the fact that it is reaching out into every part of our community and touching the lives of people everywhere. It is more than merely a gathering place. We might have plenty of that kind, but it is a gathering place with a purpose and with a wholesome influence. The large crowds of people who pass through this building every day testify to its popularity more positively than any thing else that might be produced.

Then too the "Y" has a program that will have a telling influence upon the life of the town. It has become the meeting place of all the people of this community. No one can realize this better than one who tries to deal with people of every class. There has been shown the possibility of mixing all classes of people. And this "mixing" is having a wholesome effect on other activities of the town.

Visiting the Y. M. C. A. often one is impressed with the serious character that prevails there. Just a casual glance one might be tempted to think that there is nothing in the program but light amusement. While there might be some things that every one would not put in the program if he were mapping it out, yet we must realize that this is an institution for the serious minded as well as for those who have strong inclinations in the other direction.

There should be no question as to whether the present canvass will be successful. $15,000 ought to be an easy amount to secure from a community that has patronized the Y. M. C. A. as we have. We are glad to add our appreciation with the many others for the wholesome effect this institution is exerting in our town.

REV. L. A. THOMAS, Pastor St. James Lutheran Church.

THE RELIGIOUS SIDE.

I am glad of the opportunity of praising the work of our local Y. M. C. A. and to ask for its loyal support. Under the present management the quantity and quality of the work put out calls for our heartiest appreciation. Go to the Y and you find a veritable re-creative activity. Play is a natural, healthy, distinct of growing youth, and rightly directed is an essential factor in making men and women out of boys and girls. It is a character builder—good for body, mind and spirit. "All work and so play makes Jack a dull boy"—and man too. "But play must be supervised. The "Y" is the only institution in our town carrying on supervised play to any extent.

Kind of work that every pastor would like to do for his own young people, but cannot for want of equipment and supervision. The "Y" should therefore, command the support of Christian people. The policy of our admirable General Secretary is that the "Y" should primarily serve the church, to reach out and lead its efforts in every way possible for the good of the boys and girls of our town.

REV. W. C. WAUCHOPE, Pastor Second Presbyterian Church.

THE FOURFOLD PROGRAM.

The idea of the four square man seemed to be in the mind of the founders of the Y. M. C. A. And this idea must have been Divinely appointed as the world is calling for just this kind of men today.

Concord boasts of having an institution in its Y. M. C. A. which is meeting this world-demand. Each side of the four-square man—the physical, social, mental and religious—is being developed now in our boys and girls as never before in the history of the "Y". We cannot place a money value on this kind of an institution. With the passing years it calls for a greater support in the prayers and gifts of an appreciative people.

M. R. GIBSON, Pastor, A. R. Presbyterian Church.

THE SOUND POLICY OF THE Y.

Under present day conditions I believe there is a place and a work for the Y. M. C. A. in our town and community, provided this institution is properly supervised and conducted. We need a community center where the Christian citizenship of the community can come together and promote those interests which make for the betterment of the community. I conceive that the Y. M. C. A. is in no sense to take the place of the Church; but that it may properly be an aid to the church when it furnishes a wholesome atmosphere for our boys and girls, when it serves to stir and stimulate their higher and nobler impulses, and when it directs their attention to the church as a Divine institution and to the fact that it is their duty to be identified with the Church.

This leads me to say that from observation and upon investigation this seems to be the policy of the Y. M. C. A. at present. I believe the policy is sound and that under this policy the Y. M. C. A. is a safe place for our boys and girls. I believe, also, that many of the less fortunate boys and girls of our town and community are being reached in a way that will result in much good and that will be very beneficial to such boys and girls.

M. L. KESTER, Pastor-Calvary and St. Andrews E. L. Churches.

INDUSTRIAL WORK OF THE Y.

I wish to express my thanks for the effort being put forth by Mr. H. W. Blanks, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., to increase the spiritual and physical welfare among the young people of the Brown and Norcott and Hartsell Mill schools. We are deeply indebted to him for his work in this part of the town. We realize the need of training among the young people, and as they grow older they naturally become a great asset to the Church.

Among some of the movements already started are the four clubs, two at the Hartsell school—one for the boys and one for the girls; and also two at the Brown and Norcott school.

Mr. Blanks is doing a fine work among the boys and girls of Concord. It is a great pleasure to me to have the opportunity to work with a man who delights to help make the community better by helping to shape the lives and character of the young boys and girls of this community.

We sincerely pray for his success in this work.

REV. R. G. SHORT, Pastor West Concord Baptist Church.

WHY I BELIEVE IN THE Y. M. C. A.

Why do I believe in the Y. M. C. A.? Because I believe in youth! Because I believe in the growth of our splendid young life, physically, mentally, spiritually. There is too much of a tendency these days to concentrate development in one direction, and, as a consequence, we have physical giants who are mental weaklings and moral wrecks; we have mental geniuses who are broken in body and dwarfed in soul; we have religious fanatics who have neither bodily strength nor mental acumen. What Concord needs is a development of all the faculties God has given to the young people of our city. Such a program of development the Y. M. C. A. is helping to promote.

Under the leadership of Secretary Blanks, the Concord "Y" is standing squarely behind a program of three-fold development along the lines mentioned above. It is offering to the youth of our city an opportunity for physical training that is unequalled in any city with equal facilities and equipment. It is putting new blood into the mental life of the city through its manifold activities among the industrial boys and girls. It is outspokenly religious in its stand for moral righteousness, in its appeal for better co-operation with and among the churches, in its work for the Sunday Schools.

The "Y" deserves our heartiest co-operation and support. It is limited only in that funds are insufficient to provide the equipment and the personnel needed for the progressive program mapped out by the Secretary and the Board of Directors. Surely Concord will supply the needed funds during the coming campaign! We cannot afford to do less. One of the greatest influences in any city for uplift and for the right development of the young life of the city is the Y. M. C. A. Let's support it!

LAWRENCE LITTLE, Pastor Methodist Protestant Church.

The Bundle Was a Dying Man. Sunbury, Pa., May 15.—After lying under a tree at Paxinos for two days, a stranger, ill of pneumonia, was picked up by Detective Duncavage and taken to the Shamokin State Hospital, where she died today. Mrs. Mayne Bartow saw a strange "bundle" and called the police. The "bundle" was the dying man, who whispered his name as James Anderson and his residence as Cleveland.
