Washington, May 21.—The Senate foreign relations committee devoted two lours today to a general discussion of world court proposals, but adjourned until til tomorrow without having reached a decision on any important point.

The first day's reports added 38 new supporters to the work of the Y with a total of $797, reported by the three divisions of men, and 27 students and teachers reported by the High School boys with a total of $148 as new contributions. This analysis showed a total of $10,535 from 234 people as against $12,100 from all the people represented among these subscribers in last year's subscription list. This proportion is very gratifying to the Y leaders and seems to assure the complete success of the campaign.
