

McAdoo Will Give Davis His Very Cordial Support, He Says

Issues a Statement Today From New York in Which He Says He Will Take Part in the Campaign.

SAYS DAVIS IS IN FULL ACCORD WITH THE PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM AS OUTLINED IN THE PLATFORM.—Answers Criticisms Against Mr. Davis.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, July 12.—W. G. McAdoo in a statement issued today, said he would give John W. Davis his cordial support and take part in the campaign.

"I am satisfied that Mr. Davis is in full accord with the progressive program outlined in the Democratic platform," said Mr. McAdoo. "I am confident that as President he would faithfully execute the party's mandate."

Referring to criticism from some quarters against Mr. Davis because of his connections with certain interests as a lawyer, Mr. McAdoo said: "Mr. Davis' high character, integrity and services should satisfy every apprehension of this sort."

"If I did not believe this," continued Mr. McAdoo, "I could not render aid because I have always believed that the interests of the people should never be subordinated to a merely slavish partisanship. The influence and power of these progressive forces must not be dissipated by division between various political movements; they must rather be consolidated and used like an irresistible battering ram of that party which offers the best instrumentality for service to the people."

MR. DAVIS GIVES ATTENTION TO HIS CORRESPONDENCE Has Made No Decision Yet on Any of the Major Arrangements of His Campaign.

Locust Valley, N. Y., July 12.—The resolution of John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President, to take two days rest this week-end was modified today to the extent of admitting a couple of hours' attention to correspondence. It was the first opportunity Mr. Davis had since his nomination to look systematically at the heap of telegrams and letters that had accumulated.

When he next corresponded today at his country home in this wooded Long Island village, the nominee said he had come to no decision on any of the major arrangements for his campaign such as the choice of a national chairman and manager, the place and date of the notification, and the location of the campaign headquarters.

"You gentlemen must remember," he said with a smile, "that I am not much more than two days old."

Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, remained in New York, and Mr. Davis said he would discuss with him party organization plans when he went to the city on Monday.

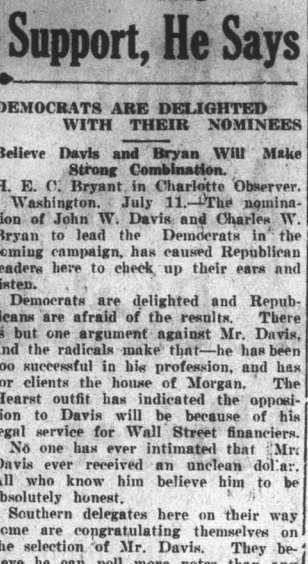

W. D. Guthrie, a former President of the American Bar Association, and a neighbor of Mr. Davis, the first caller today. He and Justice E. T. Sanford of the U. S. Supreme Court, who conferred with the nominee over the telephone, discussed the international convention of the Bar Association in London this month, which Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Sanford will attend, and for which Mr. Davis had booked passage before his nomination, planning to sail today.

Frank L. Polk, at whose home Mr. Davis has been staying in New York, joined the nominee here at midday and the two had a round of golf at a nearby club after luncheon.

Mr. Davis arose later than usual, and after enjoying a sound night's rest after nearly 12 hours spent in conference with Democratic leaders in New York yesterday.

Airplanes Sow Grass Seed. (By the Associated Press.) Miami, Fla., July 12.—One of the latest commercial uses of the airplane, which may possibly be perfected to revolutionize certain phases of agriculture, is that of sowing seed by plane, successfully demonstrated in the suburban territory of Miami recently, where 640 acres of land were sown to carpet grass within a period of 20 minutes. For the area sown during the experiment, it was said, it would require two men hand-seeders 30 days.

FIRST PICTURE OF COOLIDGE FUNERAL

AT THE END OF THE TRAIL.—First and exclusive picture of the funeral of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the President of the United States as the flower-banked casket was carried by U. S. Marines into the Edwards Congregational Church at Northampton, Mass., where the boy was known by everyone. Thousands lined the streets as the procession moved to and from the church. Cabinet officers and men and women high in the affairs of the nation attended the ceremony. The Tribune is enabled to print pictures of the Northampton funeral first because of airplane service engaged by it and NEA Service.

REGARD DAVIS AS ABLE CANDIDATE The South is not troubled with insurgent Republicans and Democrats; that is a western problem. The danger in the South, it was pointed out today, has been that bankers, manufacturers and merchants were inclined to vote the Republican ticket, as they did in 1896 and 1900, when William J. Bryan was running.

Those doubtful people are now for Davis. North Carolina merchants who were in New York on business while the convention was going on declared emphatically for Davis. A majority of North Carolina delegates preferred Davis to McAdoo; that was open secret.

In the first days of the convention, before the voting commenced, there was much Davis talk among the delegates, but the attack made on him by Mr. Bryan caused many to doubt if he could get the nomination. But when the ballots commenced to tell the tale the North Carolinians were glad to get behind him.

On the 102nd ballot, 23 of them voted for him. On the 103rd ballot, when the roll was called, Chairman O. Max Gardner announced 18 1/2 for Davis and 5 1/2 for Underwood. This was a very unusual procedure, for had Davis been climbing hard, he might have lost his grip on the convention by the slumping away of the North Carolina vote, but when it was plain as day that every other state was giving a little more to Davis, and that he was going to be nominated, the Tar Heel supporters of Underwood asked that their vote be changed, and that was done before the motion to nominate him by acclamation was made.

Democrats Are Delighted. Democrats are delighted with the nomination. Joseph Daniels is very emphatic in his praise of Mr. Davis. He thinks that he is able, honest and will prove a very popular candidate. Governor Morrison is well pleased. He was among those to pay his respects to Mr. Davis. Angus W. McLean, retiring national committee man, was a very staunch McAdoo supporter. He helped to organize his campaign and did all he could for him. But he thinks that the country will appreciate the true worth of Mr. Davis. He has known him for years and likes him and his democracy and will do all he can to roll up a big majority for him.

O. Max Gardner thinks that North Carolina will give Mr. Davis the largest vote it ever registered for a presidential candidate. He is strong for him. The enlisted of Col. William J. Bryan and his cotrie of party men will help to carry Mr. Davis over the top in November.

Party leaders are enthusiastic over the situation. They believe the North, East and middle West will take to Davis, and they know the South will return more Democrats to Congress than it did two and four years ago. That means Kentucky and Tennessee will do better. Mr. Davis will make local tickets stronger. Nebraska people are very pronounced in their enthusiasm of Charlie Bryan. They assert he is a hard-headed, well-to-do business man without any of the unpopular tendencies of William Jennings. He is a good man, but has been known to swear a little, and is not as violently opposed to John Barleycorn as his older brother.

Every Democrat and some Republicans will do as Governor Smith said he would do, pull off coats and vests and go to work. It was frequently stated at New York that about two-thirds of the delegates from the southern states were for Davis from his outset.

EVEN BUILT COFFIN IN WHICH HE IS INTERRED Michigan Man For Years Made Everything He Needed Except Food. Grand Rapids, Mich., July 12.—Frank "Home Made" Wray, who made good his boast that he could make everything he needed except food, died yesterday in his self-fitted workshop and will be buried Saturday in a coffin he made a year ago when his health began to fail.

Wray, who was 69, made his own hats, shoes, coats, trousers and vests and even his own false teeth. In the little workshop where he has spent an average of 12 hours daily for the past 25 years and where he was found dead yesterday, he made his own cigars. He was for many years a familiar figure on Grand Rapids streets, because of his picturesque homemade attire. He earned necessary funds by painting signs.

"Land of Israel" Favored as New Name For Palestine. (By the Associated Press.) Jerusalem, July 12.—"Land of Israel" is being favored as a name for the Holy Land instead of the official "Palestine." For the present it is in use only among Jews outside of the country. Palestine is the official name used universally, except in Hebrew translations of government documents. There the Hebrew letters forming the initials of the two Hebrew words "Eretz Israel" (Land of Israel) are being used parenthetically.

The Hebrew name written in Latin characters is beginning to appear with increasing frequency on postal matter destined for Palestine. Among the sights of Pekin in the autumn months are thousands of camels. They come from the interior of Asia and take back the caravan tea and other freight.

ROCKWELL LAUDS PARTY'S NOMINEE

Strongly Supporting Davis; Does Not Think McAdoo Will Bolt the Party. New York, July 11.—Declaring that "no candidate ever had a clearer title to a nomination than John W. Davis," David Ladd Rockwell, national campaign manager for William Gibbs McAdoo, tonight sent to Mr. Davis and to his running mate, Charles W. Bryan, congratulations and assurance of enthusiastic support in the forthcoming campaign.

Mr. Rockwell's letter to Mr. Davis said: "Please accept my warmest congratulations upon your nomination. Your record as a citizen, lawyer and public official is so splendid that our party is assured a leadership of the finest order, and when you are elected President one so admirably equipped is bound to make a record that all America may well be proud of."

"I want to take this occasion to assure you of my enthusiastic support and to wish you the success that I know will be yours."

Similar Sentiments. Mr. Rockwell's letter to Mr. Bryan expressed similar sentiments. In an interview while he was dictating these letters, Mr. Rockwell told newspaper men his official relations with Mr. McAdoo had "ceased the moment Mr. Davis was nominated." Mr. Rockwell made it plain, however, that his personal relations with Mr. McAdoo continued "peculiarly pleasant."

Mr. Rockwell said that, although he did not know what would be Mr. McAdoo's attitude in the coming campaign, it was impossible for him to think of Mr. McAdoo bolting the party, as it has been reported he contemplated.

DEMOCRATS UNITED SEE VICTORY AHEAD Optimism Runs High in Party Ranks as Campaign Plans Are Outlined. New York, July 12.—Eager to attack post-convention details, the Democratic National Committee found itself today unable to bring fagged voters to serious business and decided to put off the formalities of organizing for the campaign until overworked executives and party leaders caught up on sleep.

Tonight New York was a deserted village so far as the national convention was concerned. Hastily abandoned campaign buttons and multicolored barges were heaped in various hotel repositories as evidence of the historic struggle, which gave Madison Square Garden its great day. Weary, but smiling and exuding optimism of a November success, the phalanx of delegates, alternates and advisers started homeward to tell the folks of the "strong and able candidates" resultant of their protracted labors.

"About noon," said Mrs. Bertha Kollar, his landlady, "he was talking to me and told me he had been playing with the cards. When he told me he would be shot and killed at 3 o'clock by someone who had threatened him I laughed at him. But he insisted something was going to happen to him."

One man stood guard over the five while the other emptied the contents of showcases and safe into bags. Then made their way without haste to a car and were lost to sight before an outcry could be raised.

(By the Associated Press.) Clarksburg, W. Va., July 12.—Clarksburg today began preparations to entertain the hosts of Democracy when John W. Davis is officially notified of his nomination for the presidency. Although no definite plans for the notification ceremony have been made, Samuel R. Bentley, president of the Chamber of Commerce said in a called meeting of that organization for Monday that it had been sufficiently indicated that the event would be staged here, for the town to begin making plans. The Chamber expects to send a representative to Marion, Ohio, to obtain information as to how that city handled the Harding notification in 1920.

Gov. Bryan Spends Day in Washington. Washington, July 12.—Governor Bryan, of Nebraska, Democratic vice presidential candidate, spent today in Washington attending to semi-official business matters, and incidentally conferring with Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee about the national campaign. He intended to leave for his home via Chicago tonight, and declared that one of his first duties would be to notify the Nebraska State Democratic Committee that it would have to select a new candidate for Governor to run this fall.

"I can't be running for two offices at once," the Governor observed, "although just before the National Convention met in New York I had been given a re-nomination for Governor."

"Until the campaign is formally launched I am refusing to discuss national political issues for publication," he continued.

Soda newspaper interviews reported to give Mr. political platform. He spoke on campaign speeches and literature which marked the primary fight over the Governorship. They consequently give my views on political matters in my home state correctly, but they should be understood to have that limit. As to national affairs I have nothing yet to say.

TWO KILLED WHEN BOY STRIKES BOMB WITH AX Children at Play in Barn Find Forgotten Fireworks; Mother Sees Tragedy. New York, July 10.—Driven by the rain into the barn in the rear of his home this afternoon, George Speck, 9, of Rossville, N. Y., found a heavy silver-colored ball. He called his playmate, Walter Rockelsky, 9.

At 10 this evening they carried the find to a chopping block in front of the barn, George got an ax. He placed the ball on the block. George's mother saw the boys bending over the object, but paid no heed, thinking it was some sort of plumbing equipment.

As they bent over the ball, George hit it with the ax. There was an explosion that hurled the boys nearly 10 feet. Their toy was a fireworks bomb that had lain forgotten in the barn since the Fourth of July.

George's limbs and chest were torn. Yelling for help, his mother picked him up. A patrolman found her a few minutes later, soothing George's hair, unaware the child was dead. Walter, his arms and abdomen torn, was taken to Richmond Memorial Hospital. He died as he was placed on the operating table.

The blast was heard more than a mile away. William Speck, brother of one of the victims, is alleged by police to have said he bought the bomb, with other fireworks, from a New Jersey dealer a week before the Fourth of July and stored them in the barn, where it was found today. His condition was such that police were unable to learn the identity of the dealer.
