We, the children of St. James, say welcome, All our doors to you stand open All our heart for you beat warmly, All are glad that you are coming For a time to dwell among us. May your hears all burn with gladness As you hear the call for service In the vineyard of the Master. Wear the emblem of our Union Blue and gold, black, white and crimson Emblem of the Leager of Luther Carolina's children are was From her mountains to her seashore Let us make our church more glorious. So ugain we greet you gladly Offer you the hand of friendship, Welcome you to church and fireside. Mr. J. H. Rhyne made the response

And we know that "You'll Like Concord."

Mr. J. H. Rhyne made the response and in a few well chosen remarks he pointed out that the League had grown from a small and scattered institution to one of state-wide importance and influence. He also said that to make this convention one of great usefulness, three things should be observed: presence, punctuality and prayer.

The Rev. Charles Steck, of Waynesboro, then made the address of the evening on the subject: "God Calls Young Workers." Mr. Steck in opening showed where there was proof in both secular and sacred flistory where the young people had done the great things. He pointed out that it was the duty of the parents to train, the young that the children might have the strength and courage to withstand temptation.

Mr. Steck then took up the duty of the chusel and proved hear the Savaker.

Mr. Steek then took up the duty of the church and showed how the Sunday School, the Luther League, and the catechetical classes all went into the upbuilding of the youth and gave the youth an opportunity to give service to the church. The Luther League, he said, should give itself up to looking after the spiritual welfare of young people.

He then took up a number of examples of young people who had made a name for themselves and told the age at which they accomplished these exploits. Among the men were Alexander, Julius Caesar, Mark Anthony, John, the Baptist, Paul, Napoleon and Luther. Luther was thirty-four when he nailed the ninety-five theses on the door at Wittenburg. Woman's part, Mr. Steek averred, was to come in the future. She had not had the chance in the past,

Meeting in St. James.

The fourth annual convention of the Luther League of the United Evangelied Lutheran Synod of North Carolina opened its meeting last night at St. James.

The fourth annual convention of the Luther League of the United Evangelied Lutheran Synod of North Carolina opened its meeting last night at St. James Church here with a most inspiring program, the feature of which was the address by the Rev. Charles Steck, on the subject, "God Calls Young Workers."

The vanguard of the convention had a meeting when the executive committee held a luncheon at the Y at one o'clock Monday afternoon and followed with a committee meeting at two o'clock. However, the night session was the first one in which the whole assemblage participated. After a prelude on the organ, the vested choir filed slowly in and the congregation joined in a hymm. The Rev. L. A. Thomas conducted a short devotional service which was followed by Miss Dorothy Wolff, but on account of illness, her greeting was read by Miss Muriel Wolff, which was as follows:

AVIATOR DARING ONE
Flares Sent up by Missing Men Finally Attracted Rescuers After Several Days' Delay.
On Board the U. S. S., Richmond, Aug.
25 (By the Associated Press).—The discovery, late last night of the missing
Italian scaplane piloted by Lieut, Locatelli and the rescue of its efour occupants after tossing about for more than 80 hours on the waters of the north Atlantic came in a dramatic fashion.

The Richmond was putting out to sea for the night after an all-day search, when flares were seen. The lights reappeared at intervals. It was after midnight when the Richmond's searchlight picked up the plane.

Finding of the scaplane in these waters after drifting beyond the probable zone searched by the naval vessels for three days is regarded as bordering the miraculous. The filers had been sending approckets every two hours nightly.

Mr. Steck next brought out the importance of the individual effort. There were two classes of men, he said, malefactors and benefactors. Love and hate are never in groups, they are always in individuals. The world was redeemed by one man, Christ.

The closing part of Mr. Steck's speech was an appeal to the individual to have a ready hand, a willing heart; and heaven, he said, would ask for nothing more. The meeting closed after an anthem by the choir and the singing of the Luther League rally hymn.

The program for today is as follows:

EFFORT TO SECURE LIFE OF MURDERERS

Defense Has Concluded Its Arguments in Franks Hear ing and Atttorneys for the State Are Being Heard.

STATS ARGUMENTS WILL BE LENGTHY

Attorney Crows Thinks Six Hours Will Be | Required in Final Argument—Death Sentence Desired by State.

Chicago. Aug. 26 (By the Associated Press).—The legal buttle to save Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb from the gallows ended today, and the state once more took up the offensive before Every the secure a death sentence for the slayers of Robert Franks.

Benjamin Bachrach, long time friend of the Loeb family, completed the defense argument with another attack upon the mode of examinations by which the states alienists concluded that the two brilliant college boys were of normal mentality.

He also attacked the legal citations of-ferred in the first arguments of the state intended to sustain the state's demand for the death penalty. Of more than a score of decisions from Illinois courts cited by the state, Mr. Bachrach declar-ed that "there is not a single case in wains."

that the present case was entirely with-out precedent in American legal history, out precedent in American legal history, and that the decision in this cuse would mark the course for the future. The special peculiarities, he insisted, were the age of the defendants and the nature of their mentality. His argument which lasted more than an hour, and was offered as the last word of the defense, dwelt upon the retarded emotional development of both boys.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, indicated that the final argument for the state probably would require six or more hours.

Crowe Makes Finel Argument.

Chicago, Aug. 26. Jeananding again the death penalty state's Attorney Robert E. Crowe in the final argument for the State today launched a vigorous attack upon the mercy plea of counsel for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb. He contended vigorously that neither the state's attorney nor the court had the right to be lenient above the letter and spirit of the law.

General Moseley Issues Orders to Troops to Fire On Any Unauthorized Meeting Held On Reservation.

Believed They Were Held by Ku Klux Klan.—Machine Guns Will Be Used to Stop Meetings in Future.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 26.—Harbord Hill, at Camp Custer, will be covered with machine guns hereafter, and fire will be opened should another unauthorized meeting such as was held last night, presumably by the Ku Klux Klan, be held there, an order issued today by Major John Franklin, chief of staff at the direction of Gen, George Moseley, said.

The order, which is to be ready to every organization within the camp, and has been issued to the press "so that all innocent parties may be fully advised," says:

has been issued to the press "so that all' innocent parties may be fully advised," says:

"For several evenings detachments apparently of the Ku Klux Klan, have entered the couthern part of Camp Custer reservation, and held meetings on Hars bord hill, with the evident intention of bringing their order to the attention of members of this camp.

"Last night the guard sent to capture any such intruders on the reservation, arrived too late, but it did gather in a number of members of this camp who had been attracted evidently by idle curiosity. The members of this camp are warned to keep away from any and all such meeting. It is an offense for a soldier to appear in his uniform at such a gathering. The true patriotic soldier serves honorably in an organization wherein each member is recognized in the law by name.

"To carry out the intent of this order, instructions have been given to cover Harbored Hill with machine gun fire, and should another meeting be held this fire will be opened."
