NO. 213.

TO CLOSELY GUARD JUDGE CAVERLY AS HE READS DECISION

Special Precautions to See That No Disorders Occur When Leopold and Loeb Are Sentenced.

SPECIAL OFFICERS FOR COURT ROOMS No Spectators Will Be Admitted When Judge Passes Sentence.—Decision Has Already Been Made.

(By the Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 8.—Special precautions were being taken today to insure orderly sentencing to death or life imprisonment tomorrow of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb for the kidnapping and murdering of little Robert.

Fifty policemen and scores of plain clothesmen will be on duty outside and in the corridors of the criminal court building to keep crowds away. The court room will be closed to spectators, only relatives to the defendants and the dead boy, and attorneys, bailiffs and newspaper men will be present.

Because of the many threats received by Judge John R. Caverly, special precautions for safeguarding him will be taken.

Judge Caverly has issued a statement in which he requested that public notice be given that his opinion will be given first to newspapermen in written form, and that newspapers will appear on the streets with the sentence long before any of those outside could hear it from the court room.

Far away from the drama of the court room will be the father and mother of one of the defendants—Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Loeb. On their summer estate near Charlevoix, Michigan, the father and mother will sit awaiting the tinkle of a telephone bell which will tell them whether or not their son shall forfeit his life.

Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Norman Leopold, a brother of Nathan, Jr., will be the defendants. They will be attended by the defense attorneys.

DEMOCRATIC KEYNOTE MAY GO TO GREENSBORO Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, to Speak at Winston-Salem or Greensboro.

Greensboro, Sept. 8.—Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, may speak here next Saturday, provided a place cannot be obtained for him in Winston-Salem.

Andrew Joyner, Jr., chairman of the Guilford county democratic executive committee, is to be informed Tuesday morning by John G. Dawson, chairman of state executive committee, whether the Harrison address will be made here or in Winston-Salem. It is intimated that it might be impossible to get a suitable auditorium in Winston-Salem.

If he speaks here, the Grand theater, with a normal seating capacity of 1,500, will be used, and increased by addition of more seats.

Senator Harrison will be available for only one address in North Carolina, as he will be en route to Cleveland, Ohio, where he speaks next Monday night.

Congregation Declines to Back Revival Move. Thomasville, Sept. 8.—A revival meeting which has been announced here for September 21 will not be supported by the Main Street Methodist church, according to a resolution passed at a called meeting of the board of stewards.

Reasons assigned for the action of the Main Street church are to the effect that the church is busy at the work of closing up the finances for the year and will be unable to take on any other financial obligation.

The meeting is to be conducted by Rev. Ray Browning, of Hendersonville.

Gov. Trinkle Injured. (By the Associated Press.) Richmond, Va., Sept. 8.—Governor E. Lee Trinkle, of Virginia, was taken to a hospital here today suffering from a broken left arm sustained last night when he was thrown from a chair on board the Virginia Fish and Game Department boat, Commodore Maury, while en route to the mouth of St. Mary's River for a conference with Governor Ritchie of Maryland, over the crab and oyster industries of the two states.

On the exact spot from which the Pilgrim Fathers took their departure from Immingham Creek in England, for Holland, in 1609, there has been set up and appropriately dedicated a memorial commemorating that event.

Efforts Made to Interest Capitalists in Mount Ararat Scheme. Eriwan, Armenia, Sept. 9.—Efforts are being made by a group of Armenians, headed by Leon Pashalian, secretary of the Armenian national committee at Geneva, to interest American capitalists or amusement promoters in plan to exploit Mount Ararat, upon which Noah's Ark is supposed to have grounded when the flood waters began to recede.

The project contemplates making Mount Ararat a tourist resort. The plan is to erect a funicular railway up the slopes of Ararat, the mighty snow-clad summit of which at an altitude of 17,053 feet marks the dividing line between Armenia, Turkey and Persia.

Although Ararat, strictly speaking, no longer is within Armenian territory, having been awarded to Turkey, Armenians are anxious to make it an active center of interest for American tourists and other visitors. They say they are prepared to give American promoters every assistance in converting the icy dome, which is an extinct volcano, into a pleasure resort. Their idea is to make it a sort of Pike's Peak and to charge a small fee for making an ascent to the summit, from which an excellent view can be had of the entire Caucasian region.

Ararat is entirely barren, producing neither water, minerals nor timber nor any form of life. It is useless except as a scenic spectacle. Nevertheless, it is held in sacred veneration by the peasants, who daily pray to it.

Regain Lost Ground. Shanghai, Sept. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—The Chekiang forces defending Shanghai against the Kiangsu troops have regained all of the ground they had lost in the Lihao sector, northeast of this city, it was announced here late today.

SLAYER OF JOHNSON MURDERER IDENTIFIED Officers Continue Investigation Into the Death of Man Who Was Found Dead in Boarding House.

(By the Associated Press.) Charlotte, Sept. 9.—The inquiry into the death of W. W. Johnson, of Mr. Holly, who was found dead in the front room at the home of Robert L. Reed here last Saturday, was to be continued here today before Canoner Frank Hovis. The coroner yesterday afternoon was unable to complete the taking of evidence.

Johnson's body, laid out as if for burial, was found lying on a sofa. Reed was arrested as he lay asleep in another room of the house, and Lee R. Fulp, of Statesville, who had spent Friday night at the Reed home, was arrested in Statesville. Fulp and Reed are being held in the county jail pending the outcome of the hearing.

Fulp was expected to testify here today.

The police have advanced no theory as to how Johnson was slain beyond the fact that he was shot through the head.

Man of 25 Weds Girl of 11 at Yanceyville. Reidsville, Sept. 8.—John Phelps, 25, held by the Halifax, Va., authorities for the Chesterfield county police was returned to that county by A. T. Taylor, sheriff of Chesterfield, to answer charges which he said would be preferred against him. With him went Louise Mayes, married last Friday at Yanceyville. A discrepancy as to the girl's age has arisen, the father claiming she is 11 years old while the girl claims she is 15. According to the officer who called at South Boston for the two, they have been away from their homes for several weeks.

AIRMEN FORCED TO LAND WHEN ALMOST AT END OF FLIGHT

Bad Weather Forced the Airmen to Ground at Aberdeen, Md., Seventy Miles From the Capital.

PRESIDENT READY TO GREET THEM Members of Cabinet Also at Landing Field—Flight Resumed at 1:30 O'clock This Afternoon.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Sept. 9.—A forced landing at Aberdeen, Md., 70 miles north of Washington, interrupted the New York-Washington leap of the army world fliers today. Fog compelled the fliers who with their escort had battled against head winds all the way from New York to come to the ground for refueling.

President Coolidge and his cabinet, with Mrs. Coolidge and the cabinet ladies, were at Bolling Field early to greet the airmen on their arrival. As word came that they were delayed, the President decided to stick it out, abandoning luncheon engagements. He had already waited for hours at the field, in spite of rain and mist.

Officers at the field had expected the fliers to lunch with them, but promptly invited the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Their invitation was as promptly accepted, and while the fliers were lunched at Aberdeen, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge went to the officers' mess at the field, as guests of the air service personnel.

Cabinet members and their wives also became the officers' luncheon guests. While preparations for the meal went forward, word came from Aberdeen that the fog was lifting and the fliers would soon be on their way again.

The rain had gone by at 1 p. m. and the sun was shining over the city. At the field the crowd of spectators jammed every point from which the landing plane could be seen.

On Way Again. Baltimore, Sept. 9.—The world fliers left Aberdeen, Md., at 1:30 o'clock, army headquarters here announced.

Mitchell Field, Md., Sept. 9.—The United States army ground the world fliers lopped off from Mitchell Field for Washington at 9:35 o'clock daylight saving time.

After he had received the weather reports, Major General Patrick, commander of the army air service, conferred with Lieut. Lowell Smith, leader of the world fliers. Lieut. Smith said the fliers were anxious to be off. Major General Patrick then gave his approval to the plans to hop off without delay.

The airmen expected to reach Washington in three or four hours unless the head winds shifted, or other unfavorable weather conditions developed.

Pass Over Philadelphia. Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—The world fliers passed over northeast Philadelphia at 11:50 a. m.

Pass Over Delaware. Wilmington, Del., Sept. 9.—The world fliers passed over Wilmington at 12:32 p. m. daylight time.

(By the Associated Press.) Greensboro, Sept. 9.—Mrs. J. F. Allred is in a local hospital in a serious condition and her husband is held in the county jail awaiting the outcome of her condition, as a result of trouble the couple had yesterday west of the city, during which Mrs. Allred was struck on the head by a hatchet, said to have been hurled by her husband.

The hatchet, according to county officials, was thrown from a distance about ten feet, striking the woman behind the right ear and penetrating the skull.

Still After Fippo. (By the Associated Press.) Washington, Sept. 9.—Canon W. S. Chase, of New York, called at the White House today, and after talking with Secretary Slocum, went to the Department of Justice to carry on his fight for the deportation of Luis Angel Fippo, Argentine boxer. THE COTTON MARKET Big Break Yesterday Followed by Opening Advance of 15 to 20 Points.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, Sept. 9.—The cotton market's big break yesterday was followed by an opening advance of 15 to 20 points today as a result of trade buying and selling prompted by relatively steady cables and reports of firmness in the stock market.

The rally to 23.75 for October and 23.31 for December met heavy offerings from the South, local traders and commission houses, however, and the market soon broke, October selling off to 23.50 and December to 23.01 at the end of the first hour, or about 7 to 8 points net lower, and into new low grounds for the movement. Opening prices were: October 23.75; December 23.30; January 23.15; March 23.37; Hay 23.63.

Salisbury Plans Meeting. Salisbury, Sept. 8.—The laymen's evangelistic club is closing up plans to have a six-weeks' evangelistic campaign in this city from November 2 to December 16. At a meeting of the club, Horace F. Erwin, musical director of the Dr. Milford H. Lyon evangelist party, spoke to the local members and outlined the system of work of his party. Dr. Lyon has worked principally in the New England states, where he has a reputation similar to that of Dr. Billy Sunday.

One Million From Gas Tax. South Carolina's new three cent gas tax amounted to $1,004,730.10 during the first half of 1924. The revenues derived from this tax are divided three ways: one-third to the State highway commission, one-third to the county in which collected and one-third to the State government as a portion of its operating expense. In 1925, the whole of the gas tax will be used by the highway department.

President Sends Congratulations. (By the Associated Press.) Washington, Sept. 9.—President Coolidge sent a message of congratulation to George L. Emery, of Portland, Me., the chairman of the republican state committee, on the results of yesterday's election. "Accept my congratulations on the significant and decisive victory for the republican ticket in the state of Maine," the message said.

The Republican Motor Car Expedition to Use "Oil Burners"

(Special to The Tribune.) Washington, Sept. 9.—The motor car expedition of Coolidge-Dawes speakers to the Pacific coast calls to memory earlier expeditions into the open spaces for the "winning of the West" for Republican candidates, notably the speaking tour of Charles E. Hughes in California in 1916, as well as the tour of the famous women's "Golden Special" beyond the Mississippi in the same year. It will be recalled that the tour of the "Golden" or "millionaire special" came to grief before it had penetrated far beyond the Mississippi, and what these and other efforts expended beyond the Father of Waters won the electoral vote of four western states for the Hughes-Fairbanks ticket, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota and Oregon. The "Golden Special" was a de luxe train, upon which all reservations were held by wives of Republican millionaires, heiresses and members of the "Four Hundred" class.

According to former Representative Frederick C. Hicks, stage manager for the caravan-comedy, leaving Plymouth, the birthplace of President Coolidge in Vermont, September 9th, it "will reach its goal, the Pacific coast, October 18th," but if the caravan maintains no greater rate of speed than the President flashed in covering Fall and Sinclair, or that he showed in ousting Denby and Daugherty, it is extremely doubtful that California will be reached in October of this year or next, particularly if it visits all those points of interest—in the light of recent events—that it will have to visit if it adheres to the historical truth of the present administration's record, notably the "Little Green House on K Street" in Washington; Washington Court House in Ohio; Meadows of Dan, in Virginia; Teapot Dome, in Wyoming; Three Rivers, in New Mexico, and Elk Hills, in California.

Northampton, Mass., the present home of President Coolidge, is down for a stop. Northampton is also the site of a veterans' hospital, so of course Colonel Charles R. Forbes will be on hand there to extend a hearty welcome to the pilgrims, while Harry Daugherty is expected to attach himself to the parade at "the Little Green House on K Street" and continue as far as Washington Court House. Bascom Sleep will be expected to head the reception committee at Meadows of Dan and in Wyoming, where the teapot will be sizzling, there will be a social hour. In true western style, Albert B. Fall will not doubt arrange a "redox" at Three Rivers, while E. L. Doherty will do whatever social honors the occasion requires, as well as fill the motor tanks with a fresh supply of oil and gas from his well known storage tanks.

It is understood that one of the feature attractions of the performance to be staged at each stop will be a moving picture presentation of the Dempsey-Carpenter prize fight, which film has heretofore been shown only in Washington.

President Coolidge and his cabinet, with Mrs. Coolidge and the cabinet ladies, were at Bolling Field early to greet the airmen on their arrival. As word came that they were delayed, the President decided to stick it out, abandoning luncheon engagements. He had already waited for hours at the field, in spite of rain and mist.

Officers at the field had expected the fliers to lunch with them, but promptly invited the President and Mrs. Coolidge. The rain had gone by at 1 p. m. and the sun was shining over the city. At the field the crowd of spectators jammed every point from which the landing plane could be seen.

On Way Again. Baltimore, Sept. 9.—The world fliers left Aberdeen, Md., at 1:30 o'clock, army headquarters here announced.

NEBRASKA CHEERS DAVIS FARM PLANS

Nominee Blames Tariff and Isolation Policy for His Agriculture Suffer. Special to New York World. Omaha, Neb., Sept. 6.—Welcome to Nebraska with a whoop which indicates that there is no lack of political interest in this part of the country, John W. Davis tonight, in a speech at the Omaha auditorium, laid down the agricultural policy on which he is to base his appeal to the farmers of the nation, but more particularly those of the now complaining Northwest.

The auditorium, which seats 7,000 was jammed to the rafters, with every available inch of standing room taken, when the Democratic Presidential candidate walked on the platform, accompanied by Governor Bryan.

He flayed the Fordney-McCumber tariff as one of the chief causes of the farmers' woes. It was a "fence" to trade and "an offense to every consumer in the United States." He ripped into the administration foreign policy of isolationism and reproach to the collective wisdom of mankind, which had permitted European millions to starve while American warehouses were teeming with food seeking markets at reasonable prices.

Resent Coolidge Claims. He resented the attempt of President Coolidge to capitalize the report of the Dawes commission as a political asset, when it had come only after the Republican administration for five years had left the question of reparations to "bedevil the political life of Europe."

He walloped the Coolidge program of regulating production and establishing an agricultural commission the one because it would force the withdrawal of agriculturalists to quit their farms and let their fields lie fallow, and the other as another attempt on the part of the administration to avoid party responsibility.

Sees Remedy in Europe. He wound up by laying down his own interpretation of the practical application of the agricultural plank in the Democratic platform, beginning with the demand that "We adopt an international policy of such co-operation by direct official instead of indirect and evasive unofficial means, as will re-establish the farmers' export market by restoring the industrial balance in Europe and the normal flow of international trade with the settlement of Europe's international problems."

After calling attention to the necessity for a capable administration of the Department of Justice and federal trade commissions, Mr. Davis fired the following shot direct at President Coolidge: "The responsibility for providing such an administration rests upon the shoulders of him who is chosen as President of the United States; it is his business to select fit men for office and, when mistakes in selection are made, to be prompt in their correction. He need not wait for Congressional committees or grand juries to point them out; nor can he nor the party that he leads escape responsibility on the plea of general good character or fair intent."

Nebraska gave the impression of wondering just what sort of man John W. Davis was when he arrived this morning. But, judging from the applause of the throngs which have crowded around him whenever he stepped out of his room, it isn't really her citizens who make up their minds that they like him. It is the home State of Charles W. Bryan, Mr. Davis' running mate, and the latter was among the first to greet him.

For the rest of the day one might have imagined that they were old-time chums. The New York diplomat and lawyer and the Nebraska editor and politician got along famously, and after his speech tonight the Presidential candidate and Vice Presidential candidate departed for Lincoln to pass Sunday together.

The signs of awakening interest as the candidate continues his western journey were first apparent last night when thousands waited at Dubuque, Iowa, until early midnight in order to catch sight of the nominee.

Addressing the crowd, Mr. Davis was emphatic as to safeguarding the right of religious freedom and his declaration was vigorously applauded. Declaring this right perhaps was "more sacred than anything else," he told his audience it was not to be disturbed "by any man, or set of men of any government whatsoever."

Defends Power of Courts. "I know that in this country," he continued, "there has been put forward the proposition that power shall be taken away from the courts of the United States, and that the Congress or the state legislatures shall have the right to pass a law no matter what that law may be, no matter what right it invades, no matter if it should deny to you the exercise of your religious worship, that the courts shall be utterly powerless to say that law shall not operate, and if Congress or the Legislature choose to pass it, or to pass it again after the court had denounced it, that you would be utterly without remedy."

"I deny that doctrine. I deny that there is any such thing as despotic power in these United States, in President, or Governors, or court or Congress, or Legislatures. There must be in this country a power to which the American citizen can turn when the sacred rights given him are invaded."

Mr. Latta Denies Report That He Proposes Building. Asheville, Sept. 8.—Denial was made today by E. D. Latta, prominent Asheville capitalist, that he intends to build a skyscraper office building, new stores, garage and big theater on Haywood, Penland and Walnut Street property recently purchased by him. Widely circulated rumors to the effect that Mr. Latta is ready to begin immediate development of the property at an outlay of $1,000,000 are denied by him.

When seen today, Mr. Latta declared emphatically that he has no plans whatever for the development of the property as outlined in the report.

VERMONT BIENNIAL PRIMARY ELECTION Large Number of Votes Predicted in Primary.—Massachusetts Voters Are Also Choosing Candidates.

(By the Associated Press.) Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 9.—Voters were expected to attend in unusually large numbers the opening of the polls today for the biennial primary election. The candidacy of a native son, Calvin Coolidge, for the Presidency, has aroused citizens throughout the state to a high pitch of interest in politics. Political leaders last night declared that the primary vote this year will be far above the 67,000 total for the state in the election two years ago.

Primaries in Massachusetts. Boston, Sept. 9.—Massachusetts voters went to the polls today to choose republican and democratic candidates for state and national office in November. It was expected that a heavy republican vote would be polled. There were few contests in the Democratic primaries.

Colorado Holding Primaries. Denver, Colo., Sept. 9.—With the prospect of a record breaking primary vote, Colorado voters today went to the polls to nominate both republican and democratic state tickets, including candidates for two seats in the senate.

Big Contest in South Carolina. Columbia, S. C., Sept. 9.—The contest between Cole L. Blease, twice Governor of South Carolina, and Jas. F. Byrnes, representative in Congress from the second district, for the U. S. Senate, dominated public interest in South Carolina today, as democrats went to the polls to make nominations in the races not settled by the first primary held two weeks ago. The leader in today's voting will succeed Senator Dial, junior senator from South Carolina, who was eliminated in the first primary.

In the first Congressional district, Representative W. T. Logan and Thos. S. McAllan, speaker of the South Carolina House of Representatives, are candidates for the nomination, while in the second district, B. F. Byrnes, of Saluda, and Solicitor R. L. Gunter, of Aiken, are candidates to succeed Representative Byrnes.

COOLIDGE'S DELAY COSTS HOUSEWIVES TIDY SUM Failure to Reduce Sugar Tariff Commented on by Chairman Shaver. Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—Chairman Shaver, of the Democratic national committee, declared in a statement today that "President Coolidge's delay in adopting the majority recommendation of the tariff commission that the duty on sugar be reduced one-half cent a pound is costing American consumers an average of $145,000 a day."

The proposed decrease, Mr. Shaver said, would be of special advantage to housewives "just now in the midst of the preserving season." The President's inaction, he added, "is a great boon to the sugar barons" who "may well rejoice at the President's delay and 'caution' for they made a long and expensive fight for the 'protection' they got in the Fordney-McCumber profiteers' tariff."

Mr. Shaver said "some individuals and interest that profit by the present tax on sugar are conspicuous in the control and management of the President's party."

"It is fair to assume," it was added, "that they have been as active to retain the excessive tariff on sugar as they were to have it enacted."

Vandals Are Placing Tacks on Highways. Greensboro, Sept. 7.—The Carolina Motor club, with headquarters here, claims that some persons are placing tacks, nails, glass and other things on the highways to puncture tires, and offers a reward of $100 for information leading to arrest and conviction of the guilty. Between Curry and Goldsboro, it is charged, a specially prepared contrivance has been placed on the road, six-penny nails placed in a piece of rolled iron or tin. On route 60, it is said, mischievous boys are rocking tourists and puncturing tires with nail-studded boards. Near Salisbury, on route 40, to Statesville, tacks are thrown in the road, it is complained.
