IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

BOARD OF ALDERMAN MEETS

Routine Business Discussed—Other Matters Taken Up.

The board of aldermen held their regular meeting Thursday night and transacted a small amount of routine business before adjourning.

The first matter brought before the board was the claim of Emma Patton, who was alleged to have been injured when she fell through a bridge on Georgia Avenue. The time of the injury was around January 15th, 1924. To attempt a settlement of the matter, Mayor J. B. Womble, C. A. Ivey, and City Attorney J. Lee Crowell were appointed to confer with Frank Annfield, attorney for Emma Patton.

The board agreed to build a driveway for H. A. Sherrill to enter his property on St. George Street but refused to give any damages to Mr. Sherrill.

The matter of laying a sewer through Fetzer Alley was referred to the street committee and power to act was granted this committee.

Other matters were taken up and dispensed with as follows: An amount of land necessary to making a street was ordered condemned, the property condemned belonging to George Lippe. The city engineer and the city attorney were ordered to get the right-of-way and the property for a septic tank for a sewer line on the northeast side of the city and were ordered to get an estimate on the cost. The final act was an order to the treasurer to pay to C. A. Isenhour damages for injury to property on Houston Street.

Another Suggestion About Sanatorium.

Standy News-Herald

Standy and Cabarrus counties join hands in building a sanatorium for treatment of tuberculosis patients from the two counties met with the hearty approval of quite a number of Standy folks. However, at least three have already said that the water at Misenheimer White Sulphur Springs does not agree with tuberculosis patients. One of these suggested that Abbot's county join Standy and Cabarrus and that the sanatorium be built on the top of Morrow's Mountain, one of the highest of the Uwharrie range. The idea is not a bad one for the hospital would be then located the middle of the territory and up there the patients could enjoy fine scenery and air unimpeded by smoke or dust, but clear, cool and invigorating.

New Passenger and Freight Station at Mooresville.

The new passenger and freight station of the Southern Railway, built on the site of the old one right in the heart of the city, will be occupied by Agent Hartness and his corps of assistants next week, it being the purpose of the organization to transfer the office equipment next Monday.

The new station is of modern design, with a flat top where the young folks could easily celebrate the occasion with a roof garden dance. Its appointments are all that could be desired in arrangements with waiting rooms and toilets for the white and black races, a large commodious office room for the attaches, where tickets are sold, telegrams are to be received, the freight bills handled. The freight and baggage rooms are separated from the front office and waiting rooms, which face Center Avenue. The station is all right and presents a very attractive appearance. It is a wonderful improvement over what stood there for a quarter of a century. It's our station now and whether we wanted it or not is another proposition. Its there.

Gold Hill Man Dies of Injuries.

Salisbury Post, 1st.

Moses Holshouser, well known white man of the Gold Hill section, who was injured in a dynamite explosion at the Southern mine at that place several days ago, died yesterday afternoon at the Salisbury Hospital. He is survived by the widow and several children.

It is said the accident that caused the unfortunate man his life occurred when he was attempting to drill a hole in which to place dynamite. This was being made beside what is known as a midist hole, one in which a charge of dynamite had previously been placed and failed to fire.

In boring close to the old charge it exploded and inflicted injuries in Mr. Holshouser that resulted in his death yesterday afternoon.

The retail clerks' union in New Orleans is agitating for a general closing of all downtown stores in the evening.

"A MESSAGE FROM HELL"

Subject of Rev. R. C. Clontz's Sermon On Thursday Night.

A large and attentive congregation heard Mr. Clontz at the Second Presbyterian Church on Thursday night. The sermon was very solemn and impressive, dealing as it did, with the fact of a future life. Mr. Clontz took as his text Luke 16:24: "And he [Dives] lifting up his eyes unto heaven and said, 'Father, Abraham, have mercy upon me and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and touch my tongue for I perish with thirst.'"

The idea of a future life is as old as human life itself. Moses and David did not believe that death ended all. Solomon who had great wealth, power, fame and wisdom, together with every known luxury and worldly pleasure summed them all up in the words, "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity." If we do not find the teaching of a future life in the Old Testament we have it in the New—in the teachings of Jesus. Even the Indian, the Chinaman and other heathen people believe in a future life. They put the possessions of the deceased in or beside his grave. The ancient Egyptians embalmed bodies and put money and jewels in the tombs. But it is only through the teaching of Jesus that we have a glimpse of the real nature of that future life. A heaven of eternal joy and a hell of everlasting punishment for the unrepentant sinner. Jesus in His parable of the rich man and Lazarus, pulls back the curtain and gives us a brief glimpse of the condition of the saved and the unsaved, after death. Between the two there is a great gulf fixed, and no man can cross that gulf—to go up to heaven or descend into hell.

But here we have a message—the only message from the beyond, and it is a message from hell—from a soul in torment. The main teaching of this parable is the fact of a future life. This future life is divided into two compartments—heaven and hell. We all readily agree to a heaven of joy, peace and freedom from sickness, sorrow and sin, but this parable plainly teaches that there is also a hell, a place where the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched. A place where remorse of conscience eats the soul like a worm, and the fire of unsatisfied longing never dies.

Hell was not prepared for man, but for the devil and his angels. Heaven is a prepared place for a prepared people. There is no probation after death. There is no such thing as purgatory—where one may suffer for awhile in hell and then be received into glory. Here and now is the place and time to prepare for the future life. Notice that this message from hell never reached the one for whom it was intended. Do you believe in hell? If you do not believe this teaching of Christ you would not believe though "one rose from the dead" in a test to the fact of eternal punishment and retribution.

Why did Dives go to hell and Lazarus to heaven? Was it because one was rich and the other poor? Some say so. But that has nothing to do with it. If there are more poor people in heaven than there are more of them in hell, Dives went to hell because he failed to repent of his sins. Lazarus went to heaven because he was a repentant and forgiven sinner. Which place are you headed for tonight? Will it be heaven or hell for you?

Everybody is invited to these meetings. A large junior choir sings at all the services and is well worth hearing. Special music every night by the regular church and junior choirs.

Death of Miss Sallie Freeman.

Sallie Smith was born January 14th, 1896, in Chatham County. She lived here until after the death of her father, George Smith. The family then moved to Haw River in Alamance county.

She was married January 15th, 1888 to George Freeman. To this union were born three children, one having died in infancy.

The husband, two children, Mrs. Flora Walsh, of Tangerine, Fla., and Miss Georgia Freeman, who was with her mother at the time of her death, a brother, N. H. Smith, of Asheville, and a sister, Mrs. Lena Rhodes, of Columbia, S. C., are the relatives living.

The death was not unexpected as the deceased had suffered from paralysis for about eight years.

Mrs. Freeman joined Riverside Methodist Church in Asheville in 1890. She was a faithful worker in the Methodist church until she was made helpless by paralysis. She enjoyed the fellowship of Christian people and leaves a host of friends and relatives who will miss her.

Funeral services were held at Kerr Street Methodist Church at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. K. Allison. Interment was made in Oakwood cemetery.

A FRIEND.

Special Services at Cold Springs Church.

Special services will be held Sunday at the Cold Springs Methodist Church at three o'clock. A large attendance is hoped for and for this reason all members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding is said to plan the writing of an elaborate biography of her husband.
