JOHNSON READY FOR BIG GAME

Has Waited 18 Years to Get Chance in Big Series.—Groh Will Not Be in the Lineup of Giants.

In an inspiring address before the Woman's Club of the city, Mrs. Palmer Jerman, of Raleigh, asserted that the Federation was a worldwide force of three million women striving for the same ends and asked the local women to visualize themselves as a part of this force and draw inspiration therefrom. With this in mind and working with the other millions of women, no estimate could be placed on the good that could be accomplished, she said.

And Thus Anatomically Repudiates the Republican Party.

New York, Oct. 4.—After his visit yesterday to New Jersey where he made six speeches in one of the most strenuous days of his campaign, John W. Davis, Democratic nominee today went to Providence, R. I., where he will speak tonight. His address at Princeton, once the home of Woodrow Wilson, was the outstanding one of the day. In his eulogy of the late Democratic President, Mr. Davis described him as one "who held up before the vision of mankind the sight of a new world, a new order, and a new habit among the nations so that all the civilized races saw it and believing, followed him, except his own."

Washington, Oct. 4 (By the Associated Press).—Baseball in the throes of one of the most critical pages in its history, faced a climax, probably such as it has never known this afternoon when the New York Giants closing their ranks after the swift stroke of scandal, carried the National League's battle flag into the opening world's series game with the Washington Senators, American League champions.

The meeting of the club was held at the Merchants and Manufacturers club room with over a hundred women in attendance. Mrs. K. L. Craven called the meeting to order. Before Mrs. Jerman spoke, Mrs. C. B. Wagoner gave two vocal selections, the first being "Beloved" by Neidinger, and the second, "A Memory" by Park. Both were very beautifully rendered. Mrs. Leslie Correll accompanied Mrs. Wagoner at the piano and Kay Patterson also gave a flute accompaniment to the first selection.

While recalling his wish for American membership in the world court and further disarmament, the President warned in reference to the country's international relations that we do not propose to entrust to any other power or combination of powers any authority to make up our own mind for us.

Referring particularly to his own differences with leaders of his party, Senator Brookhart said that although he had been nominated by 280,000 Republicans, "I am not a Republican, and I do not believe in the machine and its methods."

His Administration would Take Part in Armament Conference if Held in 1925.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 3.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, made seven speeches in New Jersey today, chose the chapel of Princeton University, once presided over by Woodrow Wilson, as the place to express his "ambition to call the American people back to a realization of their great part in the world, to the great opportunities with which they are confronted, to the great duties that stand before them today."

The diamond and outer gardens were in perfect condition. The Washington team put on a long batting practice and there was a lusty howl when Goose Goslin drove one over the score board. Walter Johnson received a tremendous ovation.

In defense of the State organization, Mrs. Jerman asserted that it was doing in a state-wide way what the local club was doing in Concord. The eight departments of the North Carolina Federation were, she said, (1) Education, (2) health, (3) public welfare, (4) loan funds, (5) civic department, (6) home economics, (7) program and (8) publicity.

The question of public welfare was taken up at length. In this it was pointed out that the federation had already gotten the Mothers Aid and the institution at Samarand and that at the next Legislature, a prison colony was to be asked for especially for women. Mrs. Jerman then urged the women of the club to vote and stated that in voting that the matter of party should not be foremost in the mind but that the best candidate, the man who would put through the movements desired should be the man voted for.
