Washington, Nov. 28.—With the convening of Congress only a few days off, the air is filled with reports of numerous offers to develop Musele Shoals, which will be the first subject, up for legislation at the short term.

The withdrawal of the Ford bid let down the bars for revised and new offers. To fill the breach caused by Ford's withdrawal, Senator Underwood, democrat, of Alabama, today put final touches on a bill he has drafted, and which will have endorsement of the Southern delegation in the Senate. The exact contents of the bill will be withheld until it is introduced.

Before the bill will be withheld until it is introduced.

Before the bill was completed, Senator Underwood, said he regarded the property as mainly a source of national defense, and its main purpose should be to produce nitrogen for ammunition and fertilizer.

The administration is understood to have a plan in mind, which it is believed would provide for disposition of the property with a governmental recapture clause.

(By the Ansackated Freas.)
New York, Nov. 28.—The cotton market was unsettled and easier in today's early trading, owing to reports of a continued slack demand for cotton goods, in the primary markets, increased private estimates of the crop, and Southern hedging and liquidation.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of four points. Active months sold 26 to 30 points net lower by the end of the first hour, January declining to 23,60 and March to 23.98.

Two private crop reports were issued, one estimating the yield at 12,704,000 bales. The other placed it at 13,410,000, exclusive of linters.

Opening prices were: December 23,75; January 28,8: March 24,90, May 24,59.

Gift for Galli-Curci.

London, Nov. 28.—There are three people now living in London who sang with Mine. Galli-Curci at her first appearance on the operatic stage over sixteen years ago. Two of thise are waiters in a celebrated London restaurant, one a head waiter. They sang on the chorus of "Rigoletto" at the Constaniz Opera House Rome when Galli-Curci made her debut as "Gilda."

That night the future 'prima donna lost a pendant of rare Floreatine worksmanship, and this was never recovered, to her regret. Upon learning that the famous singer was to appear in London this Autumn the two waiters succeeded in finding, in Rome, a pendant resembling, the one lost, and this they have now a presented to Galli-Curci as a graceful tribute of their admiration.
