Beads Are Feature

BEADS are applied to this pink georgette frock in a manner that is different and quite charming. The wide band about the bottom of the skirt and the narrower one going up the front is made of closely woven fringes of iridescent silk. The fringes are composed of a fountain in these tiny cascades that catch the light and reflect it so delicately. The narrow scarf is worthy of interest because the smart scarf is lengthening and becoming less wide.

Where the Mystery Is

Statesville Daily. The death of the preacher's wife at Columbus, Ohio, has been a mystery. Her body was found in the furnace. Whether it was suicide or murder has puzzled the authorities, but latest reports indicate the latter. In fact there were two incidents that appeared at the outset that looked very suspicious. Two sons of the woman came into the house and discovered their mother's dead body in the furnace, as they admitted. They didn't give the alarm at the time, but left the house to play ball, leaving their mother's remains in the furnace; and they never seemed very much concerned on account of her death. When the preacher was informed that his wife's body was in the furnace, or he found it there, he didn't try to put out the fire and save whatever was left of his wife's body. The apparent indifference of husband and sons would seem to require some explanation.

If there is a solution of the mystery attaching to the death of the woman "science will claim the credit," says a report from Columbus. The Sherlock Holmes methods failed, it is asserted. "Chemistry established the fact of murder" and pathology is expected to reveal how it is done. Then psychiatrists are expected to find the mental complex with the murder tendency. Give science and all the rest all possible credit. But ordinary common sense suggested that sons that manifested no concern when they found their mother's body in the furnace, and a husband that didn't try to save the charred remains from the fire, have some sort of complex that needs looking into, by science or somebody.

HELP POSTOFFICE CLERKS

BY MAILING EARLY

All Should Get Mail in Some Time Between December 10 and 20.

Last year, through the generous co-operation of the press, the movies and other advertising mediums, Christmas mailers were induced to dispatch their Yuletide presents earlier in the month than ever before in the history of the institution of gift exchanging in the holiday season.

As a result, the spectacle of the last minute rush of former years, with its attendant heartbreaking labor on the part of weary and nerve worn store clerks and postal employees, was avoided.

This year Postmaster General New and First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett have determined to make an even better record and to banish for all time the suffering undergone in past years by those engaged in the sale or transportation of gifts. They hope to make "Shop Early" and "Mail Early" a habit with the American people.

Mailing early does not mean December 1 or before, but if everyone could get their holiday tokens in the mail between December 10 and 20, the post office could not ask more.

Particular attention this year will be paid to greeting cards. Despite the success last year it was noted that the last-minute mail consisted largely of cards. Possibly many of them were returned greetings to friends, heard from on a previous mail, but overlooked on the original Christmas list. Unlike parcels and letters containing money orders, cards, of course, can not be marked "Do not Open Until Christmas." Therefore, it is possible that the many mailers hold them until the last to insure delivery on Christmas Eve. This class of mailers this year, however, may find their cards undelivered until after Christmas Day.

Believing that the energies of postal employees should not be sapped to the last degree for any avoidable reason, and intent upon securing for them the same Christmas privileges enjoyed by others, Postmaster General New asks the hearty co-operation of the public. The last-minute, or zero hour has been moved up so that all postal employees may eat their Christmas dinners at home. Rural carriers will deliver no mail at all on Christmas day and clerks and carriers in the city offices will stop work promptly at noon.
