Tells What He Thinks Members Should Do to Help the City—Many Other Suggestions Are Also Submitted.

Informal discussion of problems confronting the Chamber of Commerce in Concord featured the smoker held by members of the organization in the Y Tuesday night. More than fifty members of the chamber were present for the meeting.

Secretary H. W. Blanks of the chamber had done during the past several months to boost Concord and increase business in the city, and then offered several suggestions as to what the organization should undertake during the coming year.

Following Mr. Blanks' report President Spencer, of the chamber, called on several members for suggestions as to how the chamber can best aid the city and these suggestions were informally discussed by others present.

Mr. Blanks declared there were four things that should get special attention:

Mr. Blanks declared there were four things that should get special attention:

More tourists, more industries, more conventions and more publicity. In connection with publicity he declared he was receiving from three to five letters a day from persons who wanted data about Concord. "I haven't this data in attractive form now," he said, "but I will have it in such form in the near future for we are going to publish an attractive booklet of Concord, a publication that will he a credit." This booklet, he explained, will be sent to chambers of commerce in all parts of the country.

In regard to securing more industries Mr. Blanks declared that the city does not especially need more stores of the kind it already has, but that it does need the concerd chamber of commerce should fight to get some of these. "If we can get just one new industry during the year that employes from 300 to 500 persons all of our efforts will have been successfull," he said.

Mr. Blanks explained that many tourists are stopping here now but that at east $1.000 would be spent this year in improvements and enlargements for the tourists camps here. "These people aleast $1.000 would be spent this year in improvements and enlargements for the tourists camps here. "These people are womeney, just the thing the city needs." (By the Associated Press.)
Raleigh, Dec. 10.—T-day's session of the ninety-fourth annual meeting of tha State Baptist ecayention opened here this morning with worship led by Dr. Ehpraim Wisenhunt.

At the morning session the program for discussion included the Biblical Recorder, the state Baptist publication, state missions and theological schools. The discussion on the state missions, according to convention officials, is expected to bring forth some new features in the advancement of denominational work in the state, and perhaps an extensive program for further promoting this work.

The afternoon session has three important subjects to come before it. The leading one is the Baptist orphanage at Thomasville which has been alloted an appropriation of $200,000 which is to be raised exclusive of the $1,000,000 that is North Carolina's gutta in the drive for $15,000,000 among Raptists of the South. The other two are the women's missionary union and hospitals.

Being Cross Examined by Defense in Forbes-Thompson Trial.

Chicago, Dec. 10 (By the Associated Press).—Elias H. Mortimer, chief government witness, in the trial of Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau, and J. W. Thompson, contractor, charged with conspiracy to defense counsel today concerning his indictment in New York in May, 1923, for violation of the Volstead act.

Mortimer said that he had furnished $5,000 bond on the indictment and later had been released by order of Mabel G. Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of probibition cases.

"Was the bond released before you gave your testimony before the Senate committee?" the witness was asked.

"I don't remember exactly when it was released," he said. He also could not remember whether it was released before he had testified before the grand jury which indicted Forbes and Thompson.
