Kannapolis Gets Badly Trounced. In a rather lop-sided game Concord High girls badly trounced the Kannapolis girls Friday afternoon by a score of 45-10. The feature of the game was the shooting of Edna Varner, forward for Concord, and the close guarding of the Concord backs.

From the very first of the contest, it was evident that Kannapolis was no match for the Concord players, who began passing round their opponents and into the hands of Edna Varner who quickly turned the trick and made points for her team.

The Concord guards had much the better of their opponents, and they time and again broke up passes and broke up shots which seemed destined for the basket. The work of Miss Varner was nothing short of sensational. She made a total of 40 of her team's points and did some good floor work as well.

For Kannapolis, Miss McKinley showed up better than any of the other players.

The score was as follows:

Concord	45	F.	McKinley (5)
Kannapolis	10	Davis (2)
Colbert (5)		F.	McKinley (5)

Bori and McCormack Thrill Unseen Millions, Paving Way For New Era In Radio Music

John McCormack and Lucrezia Bori sang to their greatest audience on New Year's night. Millions heard their golden voices over the radio, inaugurating the first step in an extensive plan to give radio music an opportunity of hearing the musical notables of the world.

The voices of McCormack and Bori came as a 1924 New Year greeting to a vast multitude as the result of the desire of E. R. Johnson, president of the Victor Talking Machine Company, to improve the standard of radio programs and to stimulate a taste for better music via the ether. Their voices were transmitted simultaneously from eight broadcasting stations in the United States.

Mr. Johnson arranged the plan with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company whereby America's and Europe's best artists, represented in the Victor ranks, were to appear in person before the microphone of the radio studio, beginning with McCormack and Bori. As a result of this experiment the major musical artists will be heard this year—that is, if Mr. Johnson finds that the experiment is successful, if the air audience wants something more than a jazz diet.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

THE MEANS TRIAL

Chicago Man Says Defendant Promised Big Profits on Money to Buy Pardons.

New York, Jan. 16.—A general business in pardons, with liquor permits as a side line, was engaged in by Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent, and by the man known as his "secretary," Elmer W. Jarnecke, the federal jury hearing evidence against Means and Thomas B. Felder, his former attorney, on charges of conspiring to bribe government officials, was told today.

The witness, Samuel Schmidt, a Chicago jeweler, said Chicago money financed the operations of the ring, which operated in Washington. Some of his money—how much he wouldn't say—went into the enterprise through Jarnecke, he said.

Felder and Means, indicted with Jarnecke, pleaded guilty at the start of the trial and is expected to be a witness for the government.

Huge Profits Promised.

Schmidt said he had advanced "many thousands" to Jarnecke in the summer of 1922, on Jarnecke's assertion that great profits were to be made in obtaining pardons for the release of liquor from bonded warehouses, and for obtaining pardons for "other influences" for persons charged with federal offense. Schmidt, under cross examination, said he "understood" the business was to be entirely legal, and that he was to get 50 per cent. of all profits in return for his supply of expensive cash. He called on Jarnecke in New York in October, Schmidt said, to ask for $2,500, as he had an obligation to meet. He said he met Means and Jarnecke at the McAlpin Hotel, where Jarnecke told him he soon would pay him, as he daily expected a check for $10,000 from Chicago, from the defendant officers and salesmen of the Cragger System, a stock selling concern, as part of a promised $65,000 to be paid for use as bribe money to induce Harry M. Daugherty, then attorney general, and other high government officials, to "call off" prosecution. The check came two days later, Schmidt said, and he was paid $2,000. Jarnecke, he said, promised more money when the Cragger defendants "came through" with the rest of the amount agreed upon. Schmidt testified he subsequently received another $2,000 from Jarnecke.

Another government witness, Fred S. Asner, one of the Cragger case defendants, followed Schmidt on the stand and testified that he had contributed $1,700 of the first $10,000 he said was paid to Jarnecke. He did this, he said, on representation of Joseph O. Coster, Chicago alderman and lawyer, that he had been to Washington to see Means, and that Means had promised not only to have the actions against them stopped, but to write a letter from the department of justice and completely exonerate them.

Coster told Asner, he testified, that Man had said: "I'll handle this like I did the Reisenweber case in New York." Reisenweber's night life restaurant was closed under the padlock provision of the Volstead law and later re-opened. Henry A. Sideman, a Cragger salesman, corroborated much of the previous testimony, after which the trial was adjourned until Monday.

Death of Well Known Negro. James Ellis, who died Friday morning at 3:25 o'clock, was one of the best known negroes in Concord, his family having been recognized for many years as one of the most substantial of the colored families in the county.

Ellis was about eighty years of age and for many years was a farmer on a plantation of the late Capt. J. M. Odell. Later he worked for the Locke Cottons Mill for a number of years.

Ellis leaves four children, Warren, Sam and Milton Ellis, and Mary Christian, twenty grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren. He was a deacon in his church for more than fifty years and was recognized as a leader in the colored community of Concord.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the church on Tourment Street.

Rev. N. R. Richardson.

Sturdy News-Herald. Few ministers who ever have resided in Albemarle can claim a larger number of genuine friends here than Rev. N. R. Richardson, of Mt. Pleasant. Rev. Mr. Richardson was pastor of First Street Methodist Church here just before retiring from active work. He was also pastor of Central Church a number of years ago. He is a licensed attorney and possesses an abundance of good horse sense. He loves just about everybody and nearly every one who knows him loves him. He was an Albemarle visitor on Thursday.

Salisbury Post. Senator Walter Woodson, who has been advocating a court house bell and clock combination is cited to the following which comes to us by the way of the Concord Tribune:

"There is a vast deal of rejoicing in and about the city. The town clock is again running correctly."

If we remember rightly the clock and bell of the Cabarrus court house are in the one and the same tower, and by some sort of sympathetic relationship when one goes bad the other falls short of its daily dozen. And in this connection we wonder if this slip of regularity on the part of the clock has had anything to do with the fact that we are never getting the Tribune on time any longer.

(The Tribune is mailed and dispatched from Concord on the same train every day without fail. The failure to arrive in Salisbury on time is the fault of the mails—Editor.)

Frieda Hempel to Be Here on the Evening of the 30th.

Due to misinformation given The Tribune Friday, the date announced for the concert of Frieda Hempel was wrong. Instead of Saturday, the 31st, as announced, the date should have been Friday, the 30th. Persons who wish to attend should take note of the correct date and make their plans accordingly.

At The Theatres.

Ray Stewart in "Outlaw's Disguise," supported by Pete Morrison and Fritzie Ridgeway, and a comedy, "Never Again," are the features at the Star today. Hoot Gibson in "The Kidnapper," also a comedy, "Up North," are the features being offered at the Pastime today.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle.

KIWANIS MEETING

Rev. Thomas F. Higgins Spoke at Meeting—Personnel of Committees Named. Kiwanians at their regular meeting on Friday at 12:30 o'clock at the Y. M. A. A., enjoyed some vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Woodhouse, and an interesting and helpful talk by Rev. Thos. F. Higgins, pastor of the Forest Hill Methodist Church.

At the business session of the club, President Brevard Harris announced the personnel of the standing committees for the year 1925. Hinton McLeod called the attention of the club to the fact that Concord again this year has a public school boy who has qualified to go to Raleigh to enter the finals in the state-wide spelling contest, and presented a motion that the Kiwanis Club defray the expenses of the boy. The motion was carried unanimously.

The singing of Miss Woodhouse was heartily enjoyed by her hearers, and she was forced to respond to an encore. Her accompaniment was played by Miss Dorothy Wolf.

Rev. Mr. Higgins, who recently took up his work as pastor of the Forest Hill Methodist Church of this city, was introduced by Kiwanian McLeod, and delivered an instructive talk on "Where Do You Live?" He stressed the thought that we should live such a life that we would not be ashamed to show anyone the plane of living and the plane of thought in which we live.

The attendance prize, given by Hinton McLeod, was drawn by Campbell Cline. Luther Hartwell, Jr., will be in charge of the program at the meeting on next Friday.

CONCORD LEGION POST CONSIDERS MANY MOTTERS

Service Men Met Last Night and Started Activities for the New Year.

Negotiations looking to the establishment of new club rooms, plans for a membership drive, a substantial contribution to the family of a sick service man, and the organization of an On To Paris Club featured the regular meeting of the Fred Y. McConnell Post of the American Legion at the post's club rooms on West Depot Street Friday night.

Commander E. E. Barrier presided and the meeting was marked with interest and enthusiasm. The house committee reported that plans were underway for new club rooms and that the post had had several offers to lease the present quarters of parties, who are interested in securing rooms to take care of the city's transient while the new hotel is being erected.

One Legionnaire reported the family of a sick ex-service man in destitute circumstance and the service men present promptly made up a substantial collection and, by motion, referred the matter of the patient's compensation claim to the post's service officer.

Legionnaire Clyde Propst called the meeting's attention to the fact that the Legion's national convention would be held in Paris in 1928 and that On To Paris Clubs were being organized. Several Concord Legionnaires immediately joined in a club here, the plan being to pay $2 a week and by the time the convention rolls around have sufficient funds to once more furiously along the French boulevards lined with mademoiselles, cogan' everything.

Announcement was made by Adjutant Walters that "Powder River" has been booked to appear here at an early date under the auspices of the Legion. The adjutant also announced that good progress was being made with the flag sales to business houses.

Coach Fanning's High School Boys Defeated.

Coach Fanning's High School boys were defeated for the first time of the season when they went down before the Belmont Abbey team Friday night at Belmont by a score of 17-22. The game throughout was fast and comparatively free from fouling.

The locals were minus two of their forwards, Hal Jarratt and Livingston Easley. This absence was evident in the slower passing and the lack of ability to make goals. Harris played a very good game for Concord as did Cline substituting for Jarratt.

For Belmont Abbey, Milde and McShain were the outstanding stars.

The individual score was as follows:

Concord	17	Belmont Abbey	22
Lineberger (2)	RF	Milde (10)
Cline (7)	LF	McShain (8)
Leitz (4)	C	Kelly (4)
Harris (8)	RG	Mullins (4)
Hoover (2)	LG	Elliot (7)
Substitutions:		For Belmont—Kelly M. (2) for McShain
		For Concord—Doris (2) for Kelly.

St. Louis Joins Cities Which "Say It With Architecture"

New Masonic Edifice Expresses City's Higher Aims

By EARL PANCOAST

ANOTHER evidence of America's determination to "say it with architecture" and one of the most impressive, is in the erection of the new Scottish Rite Cathedral for the Valley of Missouri at St. Louis.

In design, plan and choice of materials the cathedral is in harmony with huge edifices planned in New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh and elsewhere to express the spirit of American cities and institutions.

Main-moth Interior

An auditorium that will seat three thousand persons, a kitchen and dining room that recall the spacious days of medieval Europe in their capacity for feeding thirty-five hundred persons at once, gigantic offices, corridors and initiation chambers are physically astounding. They are declared by the Masons to be merely incidental to the real purpose of the building, which is to "point to the growing interest in the higher life."

The cathedral, faced with Bedouin stone, looms 107 feet high and 335 feet wide on Lindell Boulevard. It is five stories high, but there is no way of telling this from the exterior. The stories are each unusually high. Above the third story, whose windows are recessed in a sculptured frieze 110 feet along the front, ten Ionic columns rise for thirty-six feet. The surrounding lines of the building, as can be seen in the illustration, are classic Greek.

Tapestry Glass Vestibules

Sublimity speaks from the inside of the building as from the outside. Mounting the spreading granite steps, the visitor enters vestibule doors of tapestry glass, to emerge upon a corridor 166 feet long and 33 feet wide. To the left and right are offices of the functionaries of the order, whose names appear blazoned onto the luxurious surface

Cost $2,000,000

The auditorium strikes the keynote of the entire interior. Massive, dignified and sublimity are preserved throughout.

The cost of the building will be $2,000,000, by the time its last detail is finished.
