TODAY'S EVENTS

Thursday, January 29, 1925. Observance of "Carnation Day" in memory of President William McKinley. Kansas today celebrates the beginning of her 65th year of Statehood with meetings and banquets throughout the state. Representative Charles M. Stedman, of North Carolina, the only Confederate veteran in Congress, today enters upon his 85th year. The President and Mrs. Coolidge this evening will give the second in the series of State dinners that will mark the social season at the White House. A notable wedding in New York today will be that of Miss Barbara — Guggenheim, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Guggenheim, to John Robert Lawson-Johnson of London.

Kansas having decided to have a state bird the decision as to whether it shall be the wren or the quail will be made by vote of the school children throughout the state today. A call has been issued to the executive heads of the largest public utility corporations in the country to meet in conference at San Francisco today for a discussion of "vital, engineering, commercial, public relations and rate problems facing the manufactured gas business." One of the significant signs of the new international times is the reception and dinner which the George Washington-Sulgrave Institution is giving in New York tonight in honor of Timothy A. Smiddy, Irish minister to the United States. Many of the most distinguished men in the United States have accepted invitations.

Where He Was at 5:30: Lawyer: "Tell the court exactly where you were on the twentieth day of said month at five-thirty in the afternoon." Defendant: "I was on the corner of Second and Main Streets asking a man a question." Lawyer: "Ah-ha! But how do you know it was exactly five thirty?" Defendant: "Ah-ha yourself! The question I was asking him was what time it was."

LEGUME CROPS

To Promote the Building of More Fertile Soils in Iredell County. Statesville, N. C., Jan. 28.—To promote the building of more fertile soils in Iredell county by growing and plowing under legume crops, R. W. Graeber, farm agent for the State College extension division at work in this county, has just closed a week's intensive campaign. During this campaign a total of seventeen meetings were held in the various sections of the county. Approximately 700 of the leading farmers of the county attended these meetings. Bad weather during the early part of the week prevented a larger attendance. At the close of each meeting those farmers interested in the planting of lespedeza were asked to hand in their names to the county agent and 101 agreed to plant an acre or more as a soil improving crop during the months of February and March. A number of other farmers have come into the office of the county agent in Statesville since the meetings were held and have agreed to plant some of their fields to this soil improving crop, says Mr. Graeber. Mr. Graeber further states that many hundreds of other farmers will plant red clover this year. However, the campaign was especially put on to promote the planting of lespedeza in that this crop grows well on poor soils, may be sown over the small grain at this season of the year and will make its best growth after the grain has been cut. This obviates the necessity of summer plowing at a time when farmers are very busy. Mr. Graeber also states that the interest created by this campaign will continue to grow and will direct much attention to the importance of planting soil improving crops. He says that indications now are for more than 200 farmers of Iredell county to grow lespedeza for the first time this year.

Association of Modern Language Teachers

Raleigh, Jan. 29.—A meeting of the members of the Association of Modern Language Teachers will be held here tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, in connection with the sessions of the North Carolina Educational Association, which convenes here today for a three-day session. The sessions of the Association of Modern Language Teachers will be held in the Edenton Street Church, beginning at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. W. H. Wanamaker, of Duke University, is president of this branch of the association. Miss E. V. Lucas, of Wilson, is vice president and Miss Jessie C. Laird, of the North Carolina College for Women, is secretary. According to the program for this meeting the Spanish, German and French sections of this group will meet in the class rooms of the Edenton church at 9:30. The rooms for the various sections will be designated at the church building. A general business session of the department will be held at 12:30 in the normal class room for the purpose of electing officers and transacting other business for the year. The program of the Spanish section will be in charge of Sturges E. Levitt, of the University of North Carolina. The program of the French section will be in charge of F. G. Cooper, of Duke University. The program of the German section will be in charge of Walter D. Foy, of the University of North Carolina.

Hotel Stock Good Investment.

Stanly News-Herald. The Rockingham Post-Dispatch tells of the sale of The Rockingham Hotel last week, the purchase price having been approximately ninety thousand. "This," says the Post-Dispatch, "would make the original shares of stock net $145 per share—and is a striking contrast to the worth of this stock about ten years ago when they could scarcely be given away." That paper then goes on to say that ten years ago some of the shares sold for $10 and the owners were glad to get that. Here's a sample of the growth of the hotel business during the past decade. Ten years ago few hotels in the smaller towns were paying. Today the hotel business is good in almost any town, large or small. The man who holds shares of stock in a hotel in a growing town, while he may not realize large annual dividends, has a good thing in the way of an investment. Every day as the town in which a hotel is located grows, the value of the stock in that hotel grows with it.

There is no hope in seeking happiness unless you are happy in the seeking.

Good times are bad times unless you do more than have a good time.

The only thing worse than being in a rut is being on no road at all. Popularity leaves very little time for steady thinking.

We all do things without thinking, and one is being bored with life.

Life's amusing. People save so many things to see even though there isn't any return trip.

The importance of things close to you are magnified, like a cinder in your eye.

Today is what we were all looking forward to yesterday.

It makes a man mad to be dunned for a bill, because he knows he may have to pay the thing.

Patience is considered a virtue when it often is merely a case of not knowing what to do.

Wins Berth as Regular

No big league ball player made more rapid strides in 1924 than John Heving of the Boston Red Sox, pictured above. When the 1924 season opened, Heving was practically unknown, merely the third string catcher of a club that wasn't going anywhere in particular. Before the season closed Heving was alternating back of the bat with the Boston regulars. He had practically supplanted the two veterans Steve O'Neill and Val Pletnich. Recently Manager Lee Fohl set at rest the status of Heving for the coming season by announcing that he would be the first string back stop of the Red Sox. "Heving has the makings of a great catcher," says Fohl. "He hasn't quite arrived as yet but I look for him to go big the coming season. He possesses every mechanical asset plus a wise old head."
