

French Fashions.
 Jean Patou, the French dressmaker, who has taken a number of American girls back to Paris with him as models because he considers the American girl the most beautiful and elegant girl in the world, said to a reporter who was seeing him away:
 "Fashions will always come from France, as typewriters will always come from America. I don't dispute the excellence of American typewriters, but a man in my presence the other day disputed the excellence of French fashions. "French fashions," he said, "and he gave me a defiant look. A truce to French fashions! They are shocking and immodest caricatures."

 "But I laughed and said:
 "Don't call them shocking and immodest caricatures, mon vieux. Just call them 'take-offs'."

George W. Means Sends Protest to Senator Simmons Who Has Investigation Made.

G. W. Means, of this city, one of the best known poultry raisers in the United States, has sent a letter of protest to Senator Simmons relative to the embargo on poultry from certain parts of the country. Mr. Means raises very fine fighting chickens, many of which are shipped to foreign countries, and Mr. Means found that the embargo interfered with the shipment of his chickens. He sent the letter to Senator Simmons, and according to H. E. C. Bryant, in The Charlotte Observer, an instructive reply from Secretary Gore, of the department of Agriculture, has been received, explaining the situation.

The letter from Mr. Gore to Senator Simmons says:

"By your reference I am in receipt of a letter to you, from Mr. George W. Means, Concord, in regard to an embargo which I note Mr. Means states that this department has induced many of the states to put on the shipment of fowls into their borders.

"The regulations of this department, issued in connection with the outbreak of European fowl pest, which are contained in B. A. E. Order 260, places no restrictions upon the interstate shipment of healthy and in-exposed poultry, and contain no permit or certificate requirement. In no instance have we suggested to a state that more drastic regulations should be issued by state authorities. In view of these facts, Mr. Means' statement that this department has induced many of the States to put embargoes on poultry shipments must be based on misinformation that he has received from some source.

"It is true, however, that a number of States have placed embargoes on poultry shipments. We have no jurisdiction over such embargoes, and consequently can only suggest that Mr. Means communicate with the state officials of the states to which he contemplates making shipments, with a view to ascertaining the conditions under which they will admit his consignments.

"From information that has reached us during the last three or four days it seems that some of the states have modified their regulations and that others contemplate doing so. Possibly Mr. Means will find upon communicating with the state officials that his shipments, to some of the states at least, will now be admitted. Among the states that have modified their regulations is Alabama, which I note is one of the states mentioned in his letter as refusing to permit his birds to pass through the state en route to other states."

The class is notable because it has Miss Meta Adams, inheritance tax expert of the revenue commissioner's office; because Marion Butler, Jr., Thaddeus Dillard Bryson, Jr., Oscar Ferdinand Mason, Jr., Tom Neal, of Laurinburg, and William Wheelock all have sires of the first magnitude, not to mention half a dozen whose daddies became state characters.

Among the successful applicants was Luther Ernest Barnhardt, of Concord.

The increase of women smokers is one of the explanations offered for the tremendous rise in cigarette consumption in the United States from 15,000,000,000 in 1913 to 63,000,000,000 in 1923.

Gets Mama

Constance Ellen Blair has a regular "mamma" now. A few weeks ago she was just a little girl whom nobody seemed to want. Her father had left her after the death of her real mother. But Mrs. John T. Agar, wife of the millionaire packer, thought Constance "the most lovable child in the world," so the court awarded her in legal adoption to her new mother.

DREADFUL PAINS

Georgia Lady, Who Had Lost Too Much Weight, Was Advised to Take Cardui and is Now Well.

Columbus, Ga.—Mrs. George S. Hunter, of this city, writes:
 "After I married, thirteen months ago, I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides during... My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay some times two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house.
 "I got very thin—I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve.
 "My side hurt less and I began to improve in health... The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am so much better. I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all.
 "I wish every suffering woman knew about Cardui." NC-160
