"This Button Was Sewn On By—"

One of our customers—Mr. Wilkinson, a salesman—phoned last week and said, "when I gave my order to your office girl I told her about a button that was missing—a small rent in the trousers, a hole in one of the pockets—in fact, so many little details that I hardly expected them to be done."
 "It certainly surprised me to notice that not only had all these little things been done—but done well. I've traveled all over the states and never had my suits cleaned so well. One's own mother could not do all these little repairs any better."
 Part of BOB'S service in cleaning men's clothing is to make all minor repairs needed. Every suit is first examined, small rents are repaired, linings tacked, broken seams mended, etc.
 This added service involves no added price.

When your suit is returned from BOB'S enclosed in a dustproof bag and hanger, you can be confident that all the skill and care we can command has been used.

THE PENNY COLUMN GETS 'EM EVERY TIME
 It Pays to Put an Ad. in The Tribune

VIEW OF THE OTHER SIDE

Statesville Daily.
 The Mooresville correspondent of this paper, mentioning an address by the national lecturer of the Ku Klux Klan in the south fabled city, says:
 "It is reported that a few people who were not overly energetic about their daily labors, in fact just natural, he-spired work, were presented with a short notice which said to them, 'Now you go to work—K. K. K.' And they went to work right now! To another: 'YOU GET HIGHER!' and he moved around and didn't even ask why."
 That, it is presumed, are some of the alleged benefits of the local Klan in Mooresville. Most of us know folks who, we think, are idle and worthless, immoral, probably; a sort of blot on the landscape, in our opinion. And if somebody, or some organization, has the power to coerce such characters into mending their ways, we naturally think it is a good thing and are ready to applaud. The coercion may not be strictly within the law, and those who employ their power may not be strictly within their rights and privileges in undertaking to force betterment on others, but if they succeed in making somebody do what we think they should do, the fine points of the transaction are not considered. An idler is made to work who should be at work, and a reprobate is possibly reformed. The end justifies the means, we think. That is, so long as it is applied to the right fellow.
 But let's consider how it may work out. We may be industrious and moral as morality is generally interpreted. In fact, in our own judgment, we are usually fairly free from faults that call for correction from any source. But not all of us are entirely acceptable to our fellows. At the very time we are feeling pretty well satisfied with ourselves as critics may be seeing some grievous fault in us—something that should be corrected for our own good or the good of the community. Then along comes a notice to us to "get right." Right there is another viewpoint. We are indignant. The very idea of some mysterious source undertaking to correct one who is blameless. We may be really unconscious of wrong-doing, but the self-appointed regulators of human conduct may have an entirely different opinion. There is resentment because of the insult; and there is concern lest out of the darkness from whence the mysterious warning has come there may follow an attempt at injury. We will feel sure that it is an attempt of some one to satisfy a personal grudge, and it may be that. But that doesn't help. Once the practice of censorship of conduct by self-appointed regulators who operate under cover is admitted, there can be no restriction of the bounds to which it may go. It is the veriest nonsense to say that Klan membership is confined only to such perfect beings that they never make a mistake; or that it is impossible for their judgment to be clouded by prejudice or personal dislikes. The Klan is made up of the sort of folks we see every day, no more perfect in judgment than the rest of us; no better than the average.
 It may be said that the Klan doesn't send such notices as that mentioned by the correspondent and doesn't attempt regulation except in the regular way through the law. We hope it is that way, but it isn't always that way where the order operates. The secrecy, the mystery that inspires dread of danger from an unknown source, were formerly the chief assets of the Klan. It may be said also that if such notices are sent, or such threats made, it is by irresponsible people who use the livery of a worthy organization for selfish and ignominious ends. And if that be true it is only positive evidence of the very menace the Klan suggests, even if there be no purpose to suggest or encourage anything improper.
 The enforcement of laws duly enacted, through lawful and recognized agencies, is the only recognized method of regulating human conduct, of protecting society from evil doers. It is the duty of all good citizens to give aid and encouragement in law enforcement; and the most effective method of compelling obedience to regulations provided for the government of society is to stand out in the open with the example of right conduct, thus helping to create a righteous public opinion that is more powerful than law, followed by the administration of penalties, in the regular way, to all who will not heed.

Popularity of Cafe Leads to Raid.
 Philadelphia Record.
 "Where there's a crowd there must be good beer." Seeing the bar jammed to capacity yesterday, Detective Weiser, whose first name is not "Bud," entered the much-sought Venetian Cafe at Twelfth and Filbert streets, and equipped with an alchemeter, made a test of the beer on tap.
 "Figures don't lie," Weiser said triumphantly, as he showed the bartender the meter's reading, 2.4 per cent. After having the bar test verified at City Hall, the detective obtained a warrant, returned and arrested Arthur Heizer, of Ninth and Somerset streets, the bartender.

Does Your Back Ache?
 Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Concord Folks.
 Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders; do you wear tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's are recommended by Concord folks.
 Mrs. C. L. Misenheimer, 168 E. Depot St., Concord, says: "My kidneys were awfully weak and acted irregularly. My back ached so badly I could hardly straighten up. Dizzy, nervous headaches made my condition worse. Doan's Pills from Gibson's Drug Store strengthened my back and relieved the aches and pains. The headaches didn't trouble me and my kidneys acted regularly."
 Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—Doan's Pills—the same that M. A. Misenheimer had. Roeder-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

What Are We Going to Do About It?
 Presbyterian Standard.
 Recently a professor, formerly of Chicago, but now a teacher in the North Carolina College for Women, came to Charlotte to give an extension course on sociology before a class of public school teachers.
 He is reported to have said that Genesis is only a bit of Jewish mythology, handed down by word of mouth from one generation to another. He said that this was proven by the fact that all other primitive people had similar myths and legends.
 He ridiculed the account of God's writing the Ten Commandments on two tables of stone, as unbelievable.
 "The miracles were simply representations of great truths. The feeding of the five thousand was only an illustration of the fact that Jesus taught enough truth to satisfy that many people. When questioned as to the 12 basketsful remaining, he thought that meant that there were more wonderful truths given than the people could understand. It seems though that he did not try to answer the question why Jesus took these truths from the little boy's basket. As a fitting climax to this performance he said that he did not know the whole Bible."
 When one reads these remarkable views, he wonders how the people of this God-fearing state will receive them, whether they are willing to sit at the feet of this disciple of Modernism in its rankest form, who judges our faith by that of Chicago. We also wonder if these people whose fathers planted in early days the school and churches of our state, are willing to allow the employ of such men to instill their subtle poison into the minds of our young women, and thus touch the coming mothers of the future.
 The State College for Women has done a great work for women in the past, and now we hope that the leaders will guard these young women at the most impressionable period of their life. The authorities are asking for a larger appropriation from the Legislature. That such teachings are tolerated will scarcely appeal to those who hold the purse-strings.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
 Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur
 Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.
 Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER
 BY HARRY B. HUNT
 NKA Service Writer
WASHINGTON—The capital is ready to begin to spruce up for its big quadrennial show—the presidential inauguration, March 4.
 Sprucing up for Coolidge now ever is a rather difficult job. The president, preferring simplicity and unostentation himself, would like the affair over without a lot of "hub-dub and ceremony."
 But custom and precedent can not be wholly overridden even by so "common sense" a president as Coolidge.
 Custom decrees that the victorious party shall throw one grand and glorious celebration on the occasion of its standard bearer's inaugural.
 So, although Coolidge has succeeded in toning down considerably the lavish festivities, he has not been able to eliminate them wholly.
 He forbade an official inaugural ball, requested that visiting governors bring only small staffs with them, and ordered that no military units be brought to Washington to participate in the parade except such as were quartered near enough to make the march on foot. He wouldn't even authorize the expenditure of carfare necessary to bring the West Point and Annapolis cadets to Washington. And an inauguration without the presence of these "cadets" a few years ago would have been considered no inauguration at all.
HOWEVER, despite the presidential parsimony which has hamstringed the plans for a big blowout, Washington and the party faithful are hoping to make it a passably good show anyway. For those who just coast along after an inauguration, a "charity ball" is being organized, to take the place of an official inaugural ball.
 This will be held at the city's biggest new hotel—which in honor of the president's New England origin has been christened the Mayflower—and will be "limited" to 4500 guests. Tickets will be only $10.
 Whether this price was established in deference to Coolidge economy or in anticipation of Coolidge prosperity is not stated.
 In further recognition of the president's dissent from ostentatious Revolutionary dress, the official colors to be used in decorating the city are blue and buff.
 Having been the colors of the uniforms worn by the Continental army, the choice seems appropriate.
 "Blue and buff," however, is something of a tongue-twister, and, as a cynical Democrat once many eulogized as "Doc and Bull," But then the Democrats don't see much cheer ahead for March 4, anyway!
