WEDDING CHANGES FIGURE IN THE SUIT

Judge Says Girl Losing Ear Is Entitled to Damages for Handicap on Marriage. Philadelphia Record. Judge Thompson in the United States District Court yesterday ruled that if a young woman's chances for marrying are lessened or interfered with through a disfigurement of her features by the loss of an ear in an accident she is entitled to damages for the handicap to matrimony in addition to compensation for the physical injury against the person responsible for the accident. "A young woman at 30," the judge told the jury which was trying a suit by Miss Elsie Spencer, of No. 1301 Spruce Street, against the Quaker City Cab Company, "has a right to anticipate matrimony, and if you find the defendant was responsible for the accident, and you find also that the disfigurement to Miss Spencer's facial features has any bearing or influence on her prospects of matrimony, you should add compensation for this loss, to the compensation you feel she is entitled to for the physical injuries."

REVENUE BILL TO REACH HOUSE SATURDAY MORNING

Raleigh News and Observer. The joint finance committees plan to report the revenue bill to the House Saturday morning. Final hearings will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons for those who desire to be heard regarding the proposed bill. The bill will go to the house with a four per cent. tax on corporate income, an increase of 33-1-3 per cent. and the schedule of individual income taxes will run from 1-1-4 to 5 per cent. The decision to raise corporate income taxes one-third has resulted in scaling down the individual tax income from one-half to around one-third. The bill will go to the house without sales taxes or privilege taxes for merchants, but it is expected that the question of a sales tax will be fought out on the floor of the house. There is a separate bill levying sales tax, which has been introduced by Prof. R. L. Madison. Once curing was essentially a man's game, but now women's clubs are to be found in Scotland, in Canada, in Switzerland and elsewhere.
