IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

ETERNAL TRIANGLE BRINGS ABOUT NEAR TRAGEDY

Number Nine Township Negroes Have Altercation Over the Wife of One.
Reports received by The Tribune late Saturday afternoon from No. 9 Township told of another case of the eternal triangle, this one being between members of the colored race. The triangle consisted of John Miller, Will Forrest and Forrest's wife.

As a result of an altercation between Miller and Forrest who had words relative to Miller's alleged attentions paid to Forrest's wife, Forrest was badly cut about the head, face and neck, the instrument used being that favorite weapon of the colored race, to-wit, a razor.

Miller was accused, it is said, of intimacy with the wife of Forrest. There was considerable ill feeling between the two men. On Saturday morning about 8 o'clock, Forrest started to Mt. Pleasant and while waiting at the cross roads for the bus which was to take him to that place, was accosted by Miller who asked him to come to his (Miller's) house which was nearby.

Forrest answered Miller by saying that he had no business there and that if Miller wanted to see him to come there. Miller did and subsequently one word led to another until finally Miller drew a razor and began slashing indiscriminately. He cut Forrest badly on the head and neck, gashed his cheek and slashed his back. Immediately after the quarrel, Miller left for parts unknown and has not been heard from since.

Forrest, who was bleeding profusely, tried to get a doctor from Mt. Pleasant and being unable, had neighbors bring him to Concord where he received medical attention. Dr. Joe A. Hartzell, who sewed the necessary stitches, said that it was almost miraculous that Forrest was not killed. The gash on his head started at the top of his skull, laid the flesh open to the bone, then in descending merely touched the temple and cut deeply into the cheek. Had this razor cut the temple at all, according to Dr. Hartzell, it would have opened the temple vein which would have resulted in Forrest's bleeding to death before he could have gotten to a doctor.

Residents of No. 9 township state that Forrest is a very quiet, hardworking, peaceful negro. His reputation is very good. Miller on the other hand, has none too good a reputation.

BASEBALL LEAGUE IS TO BE ORGANIZED

J. W. Denny Issues Call For Would-Be Babe Ruths and Ty Cobs.
All would-be Babe Ruths and Ty Cobs take notice. A call has been issued by J. W. Denny, physical director of the Y, for persons inclined toward baseball take some exercise. A city baseball league is to be organized.

The city baseball league has occasioned much interest. The baseball league is expected to occasion more. The reason is that more people can play baseball than basketball. This is something new in Concord. The mills have heretofore had teams but have never been organized into leagues.

The league members have not been decided on. All that is requested is that the individuals who would like to play hand in their names to Denny and wait for the announcement which will be made the last of the week or the first of next. What is wanted now is to see how many people there are who would like to play baseball.

The mills will be organized into separate groups and are asked to get in touch with Denny and let him know who will play with them.

Martin Blackwelder Dead.

Martin Blackwelder, one of the oldest citizens of the Landis community, died at his home near Landis, February 19. He was born September 1, 1831, making his age 93 years, 5 months and 18 days.

On December 20, 1855, he was married to Margaret C. Walter. To this union were born nine children, seven of whom still survive, four sons: D. Frank, John H., James M., and William E., and three daughters: Madeline, Daniel B. Egd, Tom Johnson and William H. Walter, all of whom were present at the funeral services, except Mrs. D. B. Ehd, who was physically unable to be present. His wife and two children preceded him to the grave. Thus he leaves to mourn his death seven children, thirty-five grand children, forty-four great grand children, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

In early life he united with the Lutheran Church in Concord, Cabarrus County, N. C. Later in life he transferred his membership to Lutheran Chapel, China Grove, of which he remained a faithful and consistent member until his death, and in which church the funeral services were held the day following his death, conducted by Rev. C. A. Brown, assisted by Revs. M. L. Ridenhour and B. S. Brown, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. Interment was made in Green Lawn cemetery.

He served his country faithfully as a soldier in the Civil War, having entered the army early as a volunteer member of Company B, 20th Regiment, and served through the entire war, receiving a wound in the famous battle of Gettysburg, Pa.

"Uncle Martin" Blackwelder, as he was familiarly known, belonged to that sturdy class of citizenship who came home from the war of the '60's handicapped on every side, but with much courage and an undaunted spirit, played his part in the upbuilding of the New South.

We Thank You.
William G. Naylor, traveling representative of the N. E. A. Service, was in Concord recently, and in a recent issue of the NEA Service Paper he has the following:

A snappy, bright little paper is the Concord, N. C. Tribune, which I visited recently.

Going into the office there with J. B. Sherrill and his efficient advertising man, A. Campbell Cline, is like putting on an old shoe—easy and comfortable. They work easily and smoothly and the townsfolk are with them.

The Tribune is crowded with advertising and now is planning to put on NEA Service ready-print comics in colors for Saturday editions.

The Tribune's Thrift Week special was a daisy and made them some money.

Cabarrus Superior Court in Session This Week.
Cabarrus County Superior Court convened this morning for a week's term. Judge T. J. Shaw, of Greensboro, is presiding.

Only civil cases will be tried during the week and a full docket has been prepared by the local bar association and clerk of court.

During the morning the jury for the week was selected and Judge Shaw spoke briefly to its members. A grand jury is not in session as only civil cases are to be tried.
