

GEN. MITCHELL SAYS SECRETARY WEEKS IS WRONG IN CHARGES

Officer Flady Denies That He Disobeyed the President in Publishing Certain Magazine Articles.

PRESIDENT TOLD ABOUT ARTICLES

Gen. Mitchell Says He Also Obtained Permission From Chief of Air Service to Publish the Articles.

(By the Associated Press) Washington, March 2.—Brig. Gen. Mitchell, the assistant army air chief, today flatly contradicted Secretary Weeks' statement that he had disobeyed Presidential orders in publishing certain magazine articles without War Department approval.

In a letter to the House aircraft committee the General declared he "had in no way disobeyed or transgressed any known order or instruction that I am familiar with."

"It would seem," his letter added "that if I had violated orders my attention would have been drawn to them long before the present time, and action taken accordingly."

General Mitchell's letter was read to the committee by Gen. Lamperd just before Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, took the stand to give his opinion as to the relative value of aircraft.

An editor of the Saturday Evening Post, the General said, asked him last November to write a series of articles on power, and later accompanied him to the White House to lay the proposal before President Coolidge.

"The President reiterated his great interest in aeronautics which has always been shown," the letter continued, "and said he considered a series of articles on this subject to be beneficial, and that I should obtain the permission of my superior officer the chief of the air service."

"I immediately reported to the chief of the air service what had occurred, and requested permission to write the articles. He gave permission then for me to write them. No mention was made at all about submitting copies."

WILLIE DOXEY NOW ON TRIAL FOR LIFE IN ELIZABETH CITY

Charged With the Murder of William H. Doxe, Who Died in Hospital on February First.

DECEASED WARNED TO LEAVE HOME

Had Been Reared in Home of the Defendant—Wife's Name Is Brought Into the Case Also.

(By the Associated Press) Elizabeth City, March 2.—Willie A. Doxe, charged with the murder of his nephew Wm. H. Doxe, who died in a local hospital February 1, was to go on trial today in Currituck superior court.

Doxe shot his nephew on January 31, after returning from a hunt and finding Mrs. Doxe away from home. Before the trial it is intimated Doxe and his nephew had engaged in a series of quarrels which ended in the former warning the latter not to visit his home again.

The defendant now is 66 years of age, 22 years ago he married Miss Daisy Hampton, 16, and known as the "belle of Currituck." Soon after his marriage Doxe took his nephew, then a boy of 12, into his home. He was fond of hunting, and was away from home many nights.

As Wm. Doxe became older, however, he became involved in quarrels with his uncle, and finally was warned never to enter the house again, it was stated.

Before dying, young Doxe left a statement in which he said that while he was on his way to Poplar Branch from the direction of Bertha, his uncle met him on the road. The elder man shouting that he was going to kill him, young Doxe said, adding that he wrested the revolver from his hand. The older man promised not to shoot, young Doxe continued, and the revolver was returned to him.

Then, the nephew asserted, Willie Doxe backed away ten feet and shot him. His uncle's wife was a "good woman, perfect so far as I know. We have prayed together many times."

The child was with an uncle who was repairing his automobile parked by the side of the highway and is thought to have stepped from behind that machine directly into the path of the negro's machine.

Funeral services for the child were held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Steel Creek Presbyterian Church. Interment was in the church cemetery.

To Differentiate Between Co-ops and Farmers' Organizations. Raleigh, March 1.—A bill to prevent organizations of farmers from being confused with co-operative associations has been introduced in the legislature by Representative Connor and has been referred to the committee on judiciary No. 2. The bill is entitled "An act to amend chapter 93, subchapter 4, of the Consolidated Statutes, relating to eliminating the word co-operative and substituting therefore the word mutual, and enlarging the powers of said act."

The purpose of this bill, it is said, is to allow farmers and others to form mutual organizations for making contracts with power companies, storage companies, etc., and to purchase goods in quantities, without having such organizations become confused with co-operative associations.

The bill also proposes to amend section fifty-two hundred and forty-seven, by adding thereto the following subsection: "§2. Associations, societies, companies or exchanges, organized hereunder to engage in the telephone or electric light business upon a mutual basis, shall adopt a by-law limiting the patrons and subscribers to members of the association."

Borglum Declares Again He Will "Rot in Jail" For His Ideals

(By the Associated Press) New York, March 2.—"Ready to rot in jail" in defense of his ideals, Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, is preparing for the "fight of his life" in connection with the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial, which he says should be completed because it is the greatest project of thought ever conceived.

He admitted last night on his return from Atlanta that he had destroyed his model and plans after his dismission by officials of Stone Mountain Memorial Association. For this he had been arrested at Greensboro, N. C., on a warrant charging vandalism and malicious mischief.

"I destroyed the temporary models for the greatest piece of sculpture in the world's history," he said. "Because I believe in the right of an artist in his own creation. I am ready to rot in jail rather than yield this principle. Let the small provincial mind of my enemies contemplate the work of stonecutters or shoemakers if they wish. I am ready for a fight."

"Why, they are trying to ericify me. Think of their impudence. They fired me a fortnight after I had served notice on them that I intended to ask an accounting of their stewardship of the Association's funds. They were spending about as much on office force as I was on the mountainside with my force."

Borglum said he would confer with wealthy friends who had said they would back him to the limit.

Will Give Borglum Hearing. Raleigh, March 2.—A hearing will be granted Gutzon Borglum before extradition papers are honored, if the case develops to that extent, Governor McLean has indicated.

Coolidge Is Fourth President To Be Elected From Massachusetts

(By the Associated Press) Washington, March 2.—The oath of office will be administered to Calvin Coolidge as President in his own right of his election by the people exactly 100 years to the day from the inauguration of the last preceding Adams. Massachusetts President, John Quincy Adams.

Although born in Vermont, Mr. Coolidge from the days of his youth, through his college years and political life until he came to Washington as Vice-President, has been a Massachusetts man.

He is the fourth New England President. The others, in addition to John Quincy Adams, were John Adams of Massachusetts, who served from 1797 to 1801, and Franklin Pierce, of New Hampshire, who served from 1853 to 1857. Pierce was a Democrat and both Adams' were of the Federalist faith.

All of the New England Presidents have come into power under unusual circumstances. John Adams was selected after he had been Vice-President under Washington and before political parties were formally organized in the country. Moreover, there were no nominations that year, the people merely voting their preference. He won over Thomas Jef-erson by only three electoral votes. He was the last of the Federalist Presidents, as the Republican-Democratic party of Jefferson was developing and in 1800 elected their leader over Adams. John Quincy Adams was put forward as a coalition candidate at a time when Andrew Jackson was developing as a national political leader. The political situation was such that the election was thrown into the House where Adams won on the first ballot.

General Hines Is Also Speaker, Outlining to Men Part They Are Expected by the Government to Play.

(By the Associated Press) Washington, March 2.—Rail transportation officials and business leaders met with War Department officers here today to work out plans for national defense by which wartime endeavors of business, transportation and the government may be co-ordinated into a workable unit.

The gathering was addressed by Secretary Weeks and Maj. Gen. John L. Hines, chief of staff, who outlined the defense plans tentatively mapped out by the department, and the part assigned to transportation and business agencies.

Secretary Weeks emphasized the vital need of transportation for the national defense, and explained that armed forces depended for its effectiveness upon movement "an indispensable element of war."

"If our armed forces should be compelled at some future date to defend the continental territory of the United States, the railways of the United States would assume prime importance," the Secretary said. "You know, as well as I, that it would not be possible for the railroads and the army, to co-operate effectively immediately upon the occurrence of an unfortunate emergency, unless they spend some time together preparing for such co-operation. That is why we have asked you here."

Gen. Hines described more in detail what services to national defense the army expected the transportation lines to render in an emergency and pointed out something of how they would be expected to function.

Said He Would Shoot Man Arresting Him. Durham, Feb. 28.—Rather than submit to arrest, Gutzon Borglum declared he would shoot the man who attempted to serve a warrant on him, the Durham Herald quotes the former Stone Mountain Memorial sculptor as saying in a statement tonight to a staff representative.

"That may sound like a bad statement for me to make, for that alone would be a crime, but I have always been a law-abiding citizen and always intend to be," the story quotes Mr. Borglum as saying. "I have violated no law in the destruction of models, for they were children of my brain, and before I would blacken my name through arrest, thereby placing a stigma upon my wife and children, I would never submit to the serving of a warrant."

Put Rural Force Under County Commissioners. Raleigh, Feb. 28.—A new bill to place the Mecklenburg county rural police force under the county commissioners will be introduced in the house Monday by Speaker Edgar W. Pharr and will receive the support of Senator Hamilton C. Jones in the senate.

Speaker Pharr's bill will transfer control of the force from the sheriff to the county commissioners. The commissioners now appoint the police. Representative Matthews, it was understood, will probably sign the bill.

Miss Alexander could not be reached here tonight for a statement as to her plans for abolishing the force in view of the reaction to the announcement of the bills introduced. She indicated last night that her original intention was to place complete responsibility for law enforcement in the hands of the sheriff.
