

CHARLES B. WARREN
WILL NOT CONSIDER
RECESS APPOINTMENT

Has Been Twice Rejected by Senate as Attorney General Despite All Efforts by the President.

ANOTHER NAME IS TO BE SUBMITTED

Thomas W. Swan and John G. Sargeant Are Mentioned as Being Considered by President.

(By the Associated Press) Sargeant Nominated by President. Washington, March 17.—John G. Sargeant, of Vermont, was nominated today by Mr. Coolidge to be attorney general. The name of Mr. Sargeant was sent to the capital after Chas. B. Warren, twice rejected by the Senate, had declined to take a recess appointment to the Attorney Generalship, and after Senate leaders had assured the White House there was fair prospect of quick approval of the nominee. Coincident with the sending of Mr. Sargeant's name to the Senate the White House made public an exchange of correspondence between the President and Mr. Warren in which both made reference to the fight against the latter's confirmation, as "a political controversy." Mr. Coolidge's letter renewed his offer of a recess appointment and Mr. Warren declined on the ground that his acceptance would prolong the controversy to the possible annoyance of the administration.

Washington, March 17.—Some of those in the confidence of President Coolidge gained the distinct impression today that Chas. B. Warren has declined to consider a recess appointment as Attorney General and another selection for the place would be sent to the Senate today. White House officials and Mr. Warren himself, however, declined to make any statement. There were indications that should Mr. Warren decline the appointment, a full statement of his position and that of the President's would be made public today at the White House.

Senate leaders heard also that among those who were under serious consideration for the place in lieu of Mr. Warren was John G. Sargeant, of Ludlow, Vt., and Thos. W. Swan, dean of the Yale Law School.

Does Not Want Recess Appointment. Washington, March 17.—Chas. B. Warren today advised President Coolidge that he did not desire a recess appointment at Attorney General.

The President, however, had reached no decision when the Senate met at noon as to what further action he would take. The President will talk with Senators Curtis, of Kansas and Robinson, of Arkansas, the republican and democratic leaders in the senate, as to the situation.

In the first few minutes of the session, the senate adopted a resolution to notify the President it had no further business to transact and named Senators Curtis and Robinson a committee to convey the notification to the White House.

HIGH POINT WILL SEARCH
AUTOMOBILES AT DANCES

Arrest of Several Couples Last Friday Night Induces Police Chief to Act. High Point, March 18.—Disorder during the intermission of a dance given here Friday night when four arrests were made caused L. W. Blackwelder, chief of police, to issue a statement today, declaring that officers would be instructed to search automobiles as they arrive if dances are given here in the future.

"The police department is the target for criticism because men and women get drunk when they attend these dances," said Chief Blackwelder. "I have decided to put a stop to it. If our girls and young men can not attend the dances and act like ladies and gentlemen then they had better remain at home."

R. D. Penny, who sponsored the dance here Friday night, pointed out today that the arrests were made on the streets and not on the dance floor. Penny said he tried to keep order on the floor, but was not responsible for what the men and women did when they left the ballroom during the intermission.

L. C. C. to Take Such Action In Conformity With Resolution Adopted by Congress In Last Session.

PRESIDENT TALKED ABOUT QUESTION

Charged That Rates on Raw Materials Have Been Too High in Comparison With Rates on Finished Goods.

(By the Associated Press) Washington, March 17.—In conformity with a resolution adopted at the last session of Congress, the Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an investigation of the existing freight structure of all the railroads in the country. The action is designed to bring out particularly the bearing of railroad rates upon the agriculture industry. In proceedings in recent years it has been claimed that railroad rates on raw material have been too high in comparison with the rate on finished goods. President Coolidge in a message to Congress a year ago last December dwelt upon connection of the rate structure with the property of farmers generally. The notice today said the commission would consider this phase of the subject, and seek to find and remove discriminations which they declare exist between geographical areas and industries.

THE COTTON MARKET
Opening Was Steady at Advance of 12 Points to Decline of 5 Points—May Off to 25.18.

(By the Associated Press) New York, March 17.—Liquidation was renewed in the cotton market in today's early trading. The opening was steady at an advance of 12 points to a decline of 5 points, near months being higher on relatively firm Liverpool cables. They soon weakened, however, and the general list sold off net losses of 11 to 16 points, May declining to 25.18 and October to 24.94, new low grounds for the movement.

There was southern as well as local and Wall Street selling promoted by reports of showers in East Texas and the unsettled tone of the stock market. Stop orders were uncovered on the break and after their execution the market rallied a few points, but was nervous and unsettled at the end of the first hour.

Cotton futures opened steady. March 25.21; May 25.38; July 25.60; Oct. 25.12; Dec. 25.06.

WILL NOT REOPEN THE IMMIGRATION QUESTION

New Japan Ambassador Not Directed to Reopen Question at Washington.

(By the Associated Press) Washington, March 17.—Reports that Tsunen Matsudaira, the new Japanese ambassador to Washington, had received instructions leaving Tokyo to reopen the immigration question upon his arrival here, were denied this morning by the envoy himself.

His instructions, the ambassador said, were purely of general character designed to promote friendship between the two governments.

He added that though the immigration question was considered in the United States as settled, hope was still entertained in Japan that it would be taken up again and another solution found.

Crawford, a highly esteemed citizen and honored Confederate veteran, being an official member of Norfolk camp here, is lying critically ill in the Baptist hospital, practically no hope being entertained for his recovery. Captain Crawford, who is a native of Rowan county, is 85 years old. For several years before his removal to this city he was engaged in the hardware business in Salisbury. He conducted a store of this kind here for several years. He served throughout the Confederate war and his record was an enviable one. J. G. CHERRY IS SAFE
IN UNREVEALED PLACE

Tarboro Man Wrote Friend, But Letter Keeps It Secret.

Rocky Mount, March 16.—J. G. Cherry, Tarboro insurance man, who has been missing since last Tuesday, is safe and sound "somewhere in America," according to information given out in Tarboro today by a friend who is reported to have received a letter from the missing Tarboro man. The whereabouts of Mr. Cherry and the contents of the letter were not divulged by the recipient, according to advices from Tarboro.

The letter from Mr. Cherry to his friend in Tarboro was the only development today in this section's pair of disappearances. No further light has been thrown on the disappearance of L. M. Ausley, Atlantic Coast Line ticket agent at Spring Hope, who has been missing since March 6.

IS RUMORED EVERETT
WILL QUIT JULY 1ST

Gossip Has It That the Secretary of State Handed in His Resignation Weeks Ago. Raleigh, March 16.—Renewal of gossip that Secretary of State W. N. Everett has resigned effective July 1, was heard throughout Raleigh today, though the secretary's absence from his office gave the story neither character nor denial.

The impression is abroad that on account of his health Mr. Everett resigned weeks ago but that he has purposely held on to show that he will not run when he is being fired upon. The secretary did have a hard year in 1924 with three major operations at one time. He had a wonderful comeback, but is far from the man that he was before leaving his farm in Richmond county.

The secretary of state, however, has been relieved of much grind in his office and to all his friends recently has shown such satisfaction that his work is lightened, that a heavy discount is placed on the story that he will retire in mid-summer.

SHAD DESERT THE SOUTH

Scarcely Causes Apprehension Among the Fishery Experts.

Columbia, S. C., March 17.—Scarcity of shad found along the South Atlantic coast, as compared with the numbers caught in former years, is causing apprehension in the minds of members of the boards of fisheries of various southeastern states, it was stated in the annual report of the South Carolina board to the legislature.

While in 1907 fishermen along the coast of this state caught 110,000 shad, this year the catch amounted to only 65,280 and 26,000 of these were caught several miles at sea.

Many methods of replenishing the species have been tried, among which are fish hatcheries, pan smelting and time limits upon the shad season.

PEARL POINTS
News of the Discovery of the Finest Pearl Ever Known.

London, March 17.—Bond Street where from time immemorial the London jewelry trade has had its center, has been set in a flutter by the news from the Society Islands concerning the discovery of what is declared to be the finest pearl ever known. According to the story it is a marvelous pearl of immense size, perfect luster and a dazzling peacock green in color.

The wonderful pearl was found near Manga Reva, in the Gambier group, and was taken to Tahiti by a Chinese buyer from the eastern islands, who has placed upon it a prize of 1,000,000 francs. If the pearl is as described, say the London experts in precious jewels, this prize is not at all fantastic.

Pearls, as every one knows, vary in color. Many people have an idea that black pearls have a greater value than others. This is not the case. The most valuable pearls are a pure white, and perfectly round in shape, suitable for stringing as a necklace. The next is a pure white, pear-shaped pearl, large enough to be used as a pendant or eardrop. Then comes the button-shaped pearl, which is round, with the exception of a small notch on one side. Black pearls, in these shapes are worth less than the corresponding shapes in white.

Pearls of a fresh or beautiful and irregular shape, or fastened together in clusters, possess no great commercial value, though in some cases enormous prices have been paid for them for sentimental reasons. For instance, a pearl fisher in Torres Straits found a perfect cross. This cluster, after passing through the hands of several dealers, was eventually sold to some wealthy Roman Catholic for presentation to the Pope, the sum paid being $50,000. The actual value of the pearls composing it, if separated and perfect, would not have been more than fifty dollars.

The most valuable of what for want of a better term may be called "freak pearls" are the pink ones, but these are very seldom met with. So rare are they, indeed, that they have no fixed commercial value; though the pearl fishers say that, when they are found, the perfect, would not have been more than fifty dollars.

One of the most remarkable groups of natural pearls in the world was exhibited in the Australian Pavilion at the Wembley exhibition last summer. This extraordinary exhibit, known as the Southern Cross, is a cluster of nine pearls forming an almost perfect Latin cross. The shaft is composed of seven pearls, measuring an inch and a half in length, while the arms of the cross are formed of one pearl on each side opposite the second pearl from the top downwards. Examination under a powerful microscope shows that the gems were reproduced by nature in their present arrangement, probably as a result of mutual compression during growth.

This cluster of pearls was discovered in 1874 by a pearl fisher at Roeburn, in Western Australia, but so amazed were the finder and the owner of the vessel that, believing it to be a heaven-wrought miracle, they buried the treasure and left it to be forgotten. It remained hidden until 1879, when an Australian explorer, Alexander Forrest, passed through Roeburn and, hearing accidentally of the pearl, disclosed its existence to the world. It is now the property of a London merchant, and is valued at $50,000.

Large quantities of what are called seed pearls are found. They are about the size of a small shot, of irregular shape, but of good color and luster. These are sold by the ounce or pound, at the rate of from ten to fifteen dollars an ounce. Much of this seed goes to Paris, London, New York and other large cities, where it is used for ornamenting women's gowns.

SCIENTISTS FIND 9,000-MILE TRIP TO WASHINGTON IN VAIN

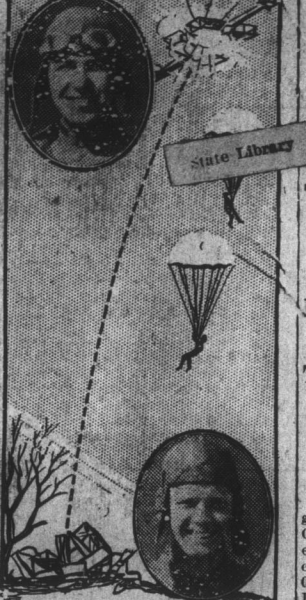

Sample of Hog Blood With Virus of Dread Disease Is Incriminated.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—The story of an East African scientist who journeyed 9,000 miles to give the Department of Agriculture a sample of hog blood containing the virus of a dread disease, only to have it tossed into an incinerator, was related today by department officials. A similar fate awaited a specimen of the virus of the foot and mouth disease, brought by a Swiss watchmaker who desired to experiment with it in the hope of discovering a cure.

The East African scientist was told that the place to study the disease was East Africa, not in this country where escape of the virus might cause great damage to the hog industry. The same explanation was given to the Swiss watchmaker who desired to experiment with it in the hope of discovering a cure.

JUDGE KENNEDY RULES
EVERHART MUST TESTIFY

Son-in-Law of Albert B. Fall Must Tell Alleged Deposit of Bonds He Made.

(By the Associated Press) Cheyenne, Wyo., March 17.—Ruling that M. T. Everhart, banker and ranch owner, of Pueblo, Colo., and son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, must testify as to an alleged deposit he made of Liberty Bonds in behalf of the former secretary of the interior, Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy today permitted the government to proceed in the Teapot Dome suit in its attempt to show financial liaison between Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of the big Wyoming oil reserve.

Everhart yesterday refused to answer the question on the ground that to do so might cause him to incriminate himself.

Judge Kennedy's decision held that in effect the action of the witness indicated that he was refusing to give testimony in order to protect "a third party."

Henry A. Wise, counsel for Fall and Everhart, asked time to confer with the witness before proceeding and a recess was taken.

ANOTHER "MYSTERY" CASE
BEFORE THE BRITISH COURT

Mrs. Muriel Waterhouse Against Sir Daniel Wilson Barker Creates Interest.

(By the Associated Press) London, March 17.—Another "mystery" case involving persons of high rank came up before the British court today in the suit of Mrs. Muriel Waterhouse against Sir David Wilson Barker, Lady Wilson Barker and R. T. Sheldon to trial after counsel at the judge's request, had vainly tried to effect an out of court settlement of the affair, the mere mention of which Justice Sir Montague Sherman said was a scandal.

One of the features of the case which was merely docketed as one involving "Fraudulent" misrepresentation, was the declaration of Mrs. Waterhouse's counsel that Lady Wilson Barker was the principal defendant, and that Sir David who is a noted naval expert and geographer, was made a defendant, "because he is legally liable for her wrongdoing."

SUGAR-FED ATHLETES

Harvard Savant Urges Chocolate Bar Diet for Runners.

Boston, March 17.—In the course of a public lecture on "Diabetes," at the Harvard Medical School today, Dr. Elliott P. Chocolate bars for marathon runners and sugared tea for football players may result in new records, he said. Examination of athletes after exhausting struggles last year showed a lack of sugar in their systems, he said, adding that a little more sugar might have enabled them to win lasting glory.

DECLARES SHEPHERD
PAID HIM $100,000
FOR TYPHOID GERMS

This Charge Made to State's Attorney Crowe by C. C. Faiman, Head of School of Bacteriology.

FIRST HE DEMANDED
AT LEAST $250,000

Told Shepherd How to Use Germs and Also Other Steps to Assure the Death of Rich Youth.

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, March 17.—Typhoid fever germs which killed William Nelson McClock, "millionaire orphan," were given Wm. B. Shepherd, foster father and chief heir, upon his promise to pay $100,000 after settlement of the estate, C. C. Faiman, head of a school of bacteriology, told Robert M. Crowe, state's attorney today.

The amount was decided upon, Faiman said, after he first had demanded $250,000 and finally compromised on $100,000, after numerous conferences with Shepherd. Faiman said that he advised the method of administering the germs and advised Shepherd as to further steps to assure the death of the rich youth.

Approximately a dozen conferences were recounted in Faiman's statement about his association with Shepherd up to a time after McClock's death, when Faiman said Shepherd had said he was going away for a short rest, to return soon.

Faiman's statements did not incriminate Shepherd in the actual manner of administering the germs, but said the school had coached Shepherd along that line, informing him that bacilli best could be given in cold water.

Faiman's statement was announced by the state attorney, said Shepherd kept alive the germs in three test tubes he received originally for a period of 4 to 5 months, after which he discarded them.

The announced statement contains a question by Joseph Savage, assistant state attorney, as to whether Faiman realized the criminal aspect from his own standpoint, and his reply was that he did.

Incrimination of McClock with tubercular germs was discussed, but abandoned, Faiman said, because the disease would develop too slowly. Diphtheria was abandoned, Faiman said, because it would perhaps not work satisfactorily in an adult.
